1916 Building Total Near $4,000,000 Mark

YEAR BREAKS ALL RECORDS

Fort Wayne Has Already Expended $3,033.556 on Construction.

OVER MILLION MORE THAN IN YEAR 1915

It is a record which, officials say, can not be equaled by any other city of 100,000 population in the United States. Records show that other cities of the middle west of near Fort Wayne's size are spending only half that much for construction work during 1916.

Building records for the first eleven months show that $3,033,556 have already been expended this year for structural improvements. This is over a million dollars more than was spent for building in Fort Wayne last year.

Report of the office building being constructed on East Wayne street by the Mutholland Realty company and a new structure at the Electric works are to be added to the records during December. These additions, along with several smaller building projects which are sure to be placed on the docket, make sure the assertion that building reports for 1916 will total almost $4,000,000 it is given out in the board of works office.

Always Runs Ahead.

"Records show that Fort Wayne has always run just a little ahead of other cities of her size in building work," Andrew App, clerk of the building department of the works board, said Friday. "The phenomenal showing this year is only a display of the city's natural growth. Fort Wayne is a commercial center and constant building is necessary to accommodate the new business concerns."

During the month of November there have been $207,425 expended for erection of new buildings, the report says. This is considered a great showing for the month when building work generally wanes because of frigid weather. May was the month of most building according to the record for the first eleven months. During May $698,225 were spent for construction work.

There was $162,525 expended for building during November of 1915. During the eleventh month last year there were fifty building permits recorded compared with sixty permits taken out in November this year.

Thursday morning $2,000 of the $20,000 to be raised by the Emmaus Lutheran church to pay the church debt was lacking and a subscription was taken from the congregation and $1,500 raised. Last night the members of the committee of one hundred who were working for the money made up the additional $500 by raising their own subscriptions.

The money pledged can be paid to the bank all together or in small payments until it is paid, two years being allowed for the payment. At the end of this time the debt will be paid off.

CALLED MERE BLOOD WASTE

UNABLE TO STAY TEUTONIC ONRUSH

Today's War News Given in Summary

The Teutonic grip on Rumania remains unshaken and at last reports was tightening with three converging forces continuing unchecked their advance toward Bucharest.

Despite tenacious resistance the Rumanians, which appear to have increased as Bucharest, was neared by the armies of Field Marshal von Mackensen and General von Falkenhayn, the invaders are now almost within gunshot of the capital. They are nearest their objective on the southwest, where Tzomna, 16 miles distant, has been reached. From the west they have driven to within forty miles, reaching Glaviatziouts. On the northwest they have broken the Rumanian lines, permitting of a new influx of Austro-German troops by way of Torzburg pass and Campulung.

"The Russians meanwhile have been attacking heavily all along the frontier of Moldavia, the Rumanian province, which projects northward between Transylvania and Bessarabia, in an evident attempt to create a diversion in Rumania's favor. Today Petrograd reported a pronounced success in the offensive, declaring the whole range of heights along the frontier south of Kirlibaba has been taken by the Russians.

Further inroads upon Rumanian personnel and equipment are announced by Berlin, the capture of more than 2,800 prisoners, 21 cannon and other material.

Berlin emphasized the extent of the Russo-Rumanian offensive of the Carpathians along the Moldavian frontier, pointing out that it is being violently pressed over a front of more than 180 miles. It is declared, however, that the attacks were very fruitless and extremely costly and the recapture of some German ground previously lost, is claimed. Likewise the defeat of an entente attack on the Bulgarian left wing, in Dobrudja, in which two British armored cars were destroyed, is recorded.

Berlin, Dec. 1.—The Russians and Rumanians made violent attacks yesterday over a front of nearly 200 miles, the war office announces. Their efforts are characterized as a waste of blood and ammunition, and it is said that they gained no important advantages.

The advance on Bucharest continues, notwithstanding the resistance of the Rumanians. Field Marshal von Mackensen's force is approaching the Argeshu river in the direction of Bucharest. Yesterday the Rumanians suffered heavy losses. The Teutonic forces took 2,500 prisoners and twenty-one cannon.

Attacks Break Down.

An offensive movement in Dobrudja was begun yesterday by the Russian and Rumanian forces who made massed attacks on the Bulgarian left wing, the war office announces. The attack broke down under the Bulgarian fire. The statement follows:

"Front of Arch Duke Joseph:—The Russians and on the south wing the Rumanians, continue in the Carpathians their offensive attempts between Jablonlea pass and the heights east of the basin of Kedzi Vasarhely, a distance of 300 kilometres (186 miles) on an air line. The enemy made violent attacks, yesterday as before his waste of blood and ammunition gained him virtually no advantage at any place on the extended front. Our troops made numerous counter attacks and captured from the enemy ground which he had taken on the preceding day. The Marburg rifles distinguished themselves especially on the Smotrec, attacking and bringing in more than forty prisoners and two machine guns from a hostile position.

Rich Booty Taken.

"Columns advancing by way of Campulung and Piteshti, along the river valleys in Wallachia took rich booty in prisoners, cannon and carts and especially in baggage. The enemy offered resistance in numerous river sectors to our forces that are advancing from the Alt. Here also they were repulsed. An offensive movement by a Rumanian di-

FIRST PICTURE OF BILLIE BURKE AND HER BABY DAUGHTER.

HIGH CHICKEN FEEDS ALSO ADVANCE EGGS

For This Reason Housewives Have Practically Quit Keeping Fowls.

Boycotts may come and boycotts may go, but the cost of chicken feed goes up forever. At least this is the consensus of opinion of many raisers of chickens in Allen county.

"Our sympathy is with the housewife who has to pay the high prices for eggs," said a local dealer Friday. "Those who are trying to buy feed to keep the chickens laying are beginning to feel the pinch in the steadily rising price of 'scratch feed' and other egg marketing requirements. A visit to the poultry houses of the city recently disclosed that they are jammed with chickens brought in by raisers of poultry who have found the high price of chicken feed too great to get around with profit, even wth eggs selling at forty-five cents a dozen."

Poultry men who have visited the various sections of the country where poultry generally is raised in quantities, report that the flocks are much smaller than is usually the case; backyard flocks are getting scarcer and the producer of eggs is having the time of his young life in trying to feed the hens the food necessary to manufacture eggs and still come out with a meager profit.

RULES FOR MUSIC.

Bishop H. J. Alerding Has Issued Order for Diocese.

According to a letter that has been sent to the various parishes throughout the diocese of Fort Wayne, Bishop H. J. Alerding defines the rules governing church music.

The order, in short, is that purely choral work is enjoined; solos and duets, except within a choral composition, and then forming but a lesser part, are prohibited. At nuptial and funeral masses nothing shall be sung but what the liturgy calls for. At low masses the organ shall not be played, except when there is singing, and the latter must either be congregational or choral. Singing in the vernacular is forbidden at all high masses.

SOARING PRICES TO BE CONGRESS TOPIC

Members Reaching Capital Outline Remedies They May Propose.

Washington, Dec. 1.—Evidence continued to pile up here today that congress is going to spend considerable of its time in the coming short session looking for a high cost of living panacea.

Here are some of the remedies which early arrivals at the capital have suggested and which they say they will push in resolutions to be introduced:

An embargo on all foodstuffs.

A law compelling those who store foodstuffs for speculative purposes to dispose of 10 per cent of their holdings every thirty days, at prevailing prices.

Investigation of the entire question of high prices either by the federal trade commission or a special joint congressional committee which will recommend legislation suggested by its findings.

Charges Cold Storage Trust.

The existence of an interstate combination of cold storage houses to keep up food prices was charged in New York yesterday by Joseph Hartigan, commissioner of weights and measures, who as secretary of Mayor Mitchel's committee on food supply is investigating the cost of living with a view to effecting relief for consumers.

"There is a so-called storage trust," Mr. Hartigan said. "Its membership comprises seventy-five cold storage warehouses in New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut. It is believed that, to evade the laws of the various states, it is made easy for the owners of goods in one cold storage warehouse to hold goods in one state until just before the time expires for the goods to be released, and then to move them to a warehouse in another state and keep them there as long as the law allows in that other state.

"Although the law in each state permits storage for only a limited time ten months, I believe, in the case of eggs—it is possible, through the alleged trust, to keep goods in storage three times that period—The laws relating to cold storage houses are a joke from a national standpoint. If the federal government were to make one comprehensive law for all the cold storage houses in the country the evil would be abated.

NEW FACES AT STATE HOUSE

FIRST CHANGES AFTER ELECTION

Bittler Among Those Who Has Not Announced His Future Plans.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 1.—Two of the newly elected state republicans took office today. They are Otto Klauss, succeeding Dale Crittenberger as auditor, and Ed Jackson, who defeated Homer L. Cook, incumbent, for secretary of state. Secretary Cook wound up the affairs of his office ready for Mr. Jackson Wednesday morning, yesterday being a legal holiday, and paid into the treasury of the state the sum of $19,834.50 in settlement for the months of October and November. The present forces of the two offices will be retained for a time by the new officials in order to acquaint the new staffs with the work. Both Auditor Klauss and Secretary Jackson have been at the state house for several days, becoming familiar with their duties.

Auditor Klauss has announced the following appointments for his office: John E. Reed, deputy; James H. Tomlin, building and loan clerk; Russell Jewett, securities clerk, and Carl Wilde, Evansville, traveling examiner in the insurance department.

Plans Already Made.

Democratic state officials, in accordance with the decree of fate at the recent election, are being turned out of office in the midst of winter, with the price of cabbage quoted at $75 a ton and with an unprecedented shortage of coal, but most of them already have made plans to return to the duties of private life, which occupied their time and attention before they got their names on the state pay roll.

With their terms expiring little more than three weeks after the election went against them, Secretary of State Homer L. Cook and Auditor of State Dale J. Crittenberger have had little time in which to "look around," but fortunately both have business interests with permanent incomes, so that they need not worry any more than the average citizen about the altitude reached by the prices on everything a fellow needs and wants.

With his state job gone, Mr. Cook will devote all of his time to his Teachers Co-operative Employment bureau, which he has conducted successfully and profitably for several years. He may decide to engage also in the brockerage business.

Mr. Crittenberger will return to the active editorship of his newspaper, the Anderson Bulletin, of which he has been publisher for several years. Before he became auditor he worked on "the desk" from early morning till late at night, without regard to the Adamson wage law, and he looks forward with pleasure to the responsibility he will again have in getting the sheet out on time.

Writes Editorials aDily.

While Mr. Crittenberger enjoyed being auditor of state for two years, and he was quite willing to have remained for another two years, there never has been a time when he ever had a thought of giving up the newspaper game permanently. Even while he had been auditor Mr. Crittenberger found time to grind out some editorial paragraphs almost every day and of course he has had some worries about the high cost of print paper.

New Year's day will see a republican in the place of Attorney General Evan B. Stotsenberg, Philip Zoercher, reporter of the supreme and appellate courts, and State Statistician Thomas W. Brolley.

Mr. Stotsenberg, it is understood, will return to New Albany to resume his lucrative law practice. He has been the attorney general about a year, having been appointed by the governor to fill the unexpired term of the late Richard M. Milburn. He has maintained his home in New Albany, going there for his week ends, while he has been the attorney general.

Phillip Zoercher, who was an attorney at Tell City before he became reporter of the supreme and appellate courts, expects to take up the practice of law in Indianapolis, it is said. He has not made definite announcement, however, of his plans. Will A. Adams, who succeeds Zoercher, already has rented a house and will move here shortly from Wabash. Mr. Brolley, whose home is at North Vernon, has not announced his intentions.

Bittler Silent as to Plans.

George A. Bittler, who retires February 10, as treasurer of state, is another who has not announced his plans. It is not known whether he intend to engage in business in Indianapolis or return to his home town of Fort Wayne. Uz McMurtrie, successor to Mr. Bittler, was here yesterday making preparations to move to Indianapolis. Mrs. McMurtrie was with him to help settle the house or aartment problem.

BRYAN INVITED TO LUNCH WITH WILSON

Washington, D. C., Dec. 1.—President Wilson today invited William J. Bryan to take luncheon with him December 6, at the white house. Mr. Bryan is to attend a dinner here that evening to be given in his honor by democratic members of the senate and house. The president has been invited, but has not yet accepted. Mr. Bryan came here today and attended a luncheon given in his honor by Secretary Daniels. The usual Friday cabinet meeting was cancelled to permit members of the cabinet and Secretary Tumulty to attend.

Invitations have been sent out by the president for a dinner, December 7, at the white house in honor of Vance C. McCormick, chairman of the democratic national committee. To this dinner members of the democratic committee and of the associate campaign committee of progressives have been invited. The dinner will be in the nature of a celebration of the democratic victory at the election.

KING'S DAUGHTERS OPEN A DAY NURSERY

Have Secured Five Rooms in Old Cressler Home from Plymouth Church.

The Opportunity circle of King's Daughters has secured five rooms in the old Cressler home on West Berry street from the Plymouth Congregational church and within a week will open a day nursery. This same circle conducted the day nursery in the Rescue Mission for many months, but due to inadequate room the ladies had to suspend its operation.

Since that time they have been looking for new quarters to conduct the nursery. The new location will be an ideal one and the rooms, which are large, are being made attractive. The rooms are being renovated and redecorated.

It is the plan of the officers of this circle to open the nursery on Monday, December 12. Work has been divided and committees have been selected to accomplish a certain portion of the preparations.

Mrs. Schneider has been chosen by the circle as the matron for the new day nursery. This nursery will be conducted under the same plans as the one previous to this one. A small charge of 10 cents will be asked for the care of a child for one day.

The new quarters will give sufficient room to accommodate at least twenty children. Many new playthings have been secured by the ladies and everything will be done to make the rooms bright, cheery and attractive for the children. Miss Margaret Vesey is president of this circle of King's Daughters.

WILBUR HILLER SAYS HE DID THE SHOOTING

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Van Wert, Ohio, Dec. 1. Wilbur Hiller, 20, one of three men under arrest for shooting at a passing automobile near here yesterday afternoon, made a full confession this morning. He says that he fired three shots, his anger being aroused when the machine struck a Scotch terrier dog belonging to him. The men were on their way home after spending the day hunting.

The car, which belonged to Elliot Morris, was occupied by Frank Uhl in the front seat and Misses Margaret Morris, 19, school teacher, daughter of David C. Morris, ex-representative from this county; Miss Gwenryla Morris, also a school teacher, and a cousin of Miss Margaret Morris, and Miss Lillian Jones, daughter of J. B. Jones. All live at Venedocia. They had been here to witness the football game and were on their way home. About six miles southwest of here the machine struck a dog and from the darkness three shots were fired. Miss Gwendyla Morris was shot above the right eye and Miss Margaret Morris received five shots in the cheek and neck. Miss Jones escaped unhurt. Fifteen shot holes were made in the hat of the driver, but he also was uninjured.

Immediately after reaching home the sheriff was notified and soon afterward Wilbur Hiller, 20; Sam Hiller, 18, and John Paullis, 24, were placed under arrest. They are now in the county jail, charged wth shooting with intent to kill. Their hearing has been set for Tuesday in a 'squire's court. The condition of the Morris girls was reported as serious today.

BERLIN ASKS U. S. FOR DATA

Seeks Status of Horse Ship on Which Six Americans Lost Lives.

BERNSTORFF SEES LANSING ABOUT IT

Germany Ready to Offer Amends if Ship Was Entitled to Immunity.

Washington, Dec. 1.—The German submarine commander who sank the British horse ship Marina with the loss of six Americans, has reported to his government that he took the vessel for a transport.

Germany has asked the United States for information of the status of the ship and is ready to offer amends if the Marina was entitled to immunity.

The case was discussed today at a conference between Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, and Secretary Lansing.

Germany in a communication replying to the inquiry of the United States has asked for any information in possession of this government that will lead to a settlement.

Ready to Admit Error.

It is understood that if the United States can inform Germany that the Marina was not in the British transport service and was entitled to the immunities of a peaceful merchant ship, the Berlin government is ready to acknowledge an error and make offers of settlement satisfactory to the United States.

President Wilson has been looking after the case personally and will pass upon any understanding reached between the ambassador and the secretary of state.

Did Not Close Door.

In its last note to Germany on the submarine question the United States threatened to break off diplomatic relations unless the campaign of destruction, without warning, was abandoned.

Another note declared that offers of reparation and expressions of regret would not be sufficient, but did not actually close the door to an admission of error and indemnity for damage in any specific case where the American government might choose to deal with it in that way.

The conference between the ambassador and the secretary of state, which was brief, developed that neither seemed to be in possession of such complete information as would be essential to a determination of the case. The conference was asked for by Count Bernstorff.

GROCERS SEEK WAY TO COMBAT HIGH PRICES

New York, Dec. 1.—The campaign against the high cost of living entered another stage today when the presidents of nearly a score of retail grocery associations and representatives of several delicatessen associations met with Joseph Hartigan, commissioner of weights and measures and secretary of Mayor Mitchell's food committee, to consider remedial measures. Mr. Hartigan was prepared to place before the representatives statistics relative to foodstuffs and methods of the so-called storage trust.

The wholesale price of eggs has dropped from 3 to 4 cents a dozen on all grades since the institution of the boycott. Commissioner Hartigan declared that a national cold storage law was needed to protect consumers against abuses in the marketing of perishable foods. Reports from various cities today are to the effect that thousands of turkeys were left on the hands of the dealers Thanksgiving as the result of the refusal of housewives to pay high prices. The surplus stock will be held in cold storage for the Christmas trade and it is predicted that in consequence the price of Christmas turkeys will be greatly reduced. As the result of the high cost of living the Federation of Jewish Farmers of America, in convention here, will extend its principle of co-operative buying. Representatives of the 1,500 members of the federation reported that the expenses have increased rapidly in the last four months.

FOOTBALL INJURIES FATAL.

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 1.—Boggs Campbell, 20, a bank clerk, died in a hospital here today from injuries sustained in a football game. He was thrown while making an end run.

LEG MAY BE SAVED FOR WOUNDED HUNTER

Surgeons Believe It Will Not Be Necessary to Amputate Limb.

Archie A. Hill, 34, 713 Locust street, is so much improved, after the Thanksgiving day accident, in which he was shot in the right leg, that it may not be necessary to amputate the limb, as was at first planned by physicians. Hill was shot at the top of the leg and several of the scattering bird shot entered his abdomen. All shots, which entered the body, have been removed, physicians say. Hill is gaining strength.

Hill was very weak from loss of blood, when he was located by the police patrol, nearly half an hour after he was accidentally shot by Frank Yager, a barber, 517 Lavina street, a fellow hunter, while the pair were tramping the thick underbrush of a swamp on the McCulloch farm, four miles from town, Thursday morning.

Hill was rushed to the St. Joseph hospital. His condition was pronounced by physicians to be extremely critical, as muscles of the leg were riddled and infection likely to set in. But Hill rested well Thursday night, and is improved to the state that amputation is expected to be spared.

$80,000,000 ON ITS WAY ACROSS COUNTRY

San Francisco, Dec. 1.—Gold, together with Russian and United States securities to the value of $80,000,000, which arrived here on the Japanese liner Shinyo Maru, consigned direct from Petrograd to J. P. Morgan & Co., New York, proceeded east yesterday by express. Of this $32,000,000 was in gold.

Three prominent Russians of the Russian bureau of finance also arrived on the Shinyo Maru and proceeded east on the train carrying the treasure.

It is said that Russia has spent over $360,000,000 in the United States during the last twenty-five months for war munitions and war supplies.

BLOOD TRANSFUSION TO SAVE ARCHBOLD

Tarrytown, N. Y., Dec. 1.—John D. Archbold, president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, who is seriously ill at his home here, following an operation a week ago for appendicitis, passed a comfortable night, it was stated today by a member of the family. It was said that he had a slight rally last night about 11 o'clock and had seemed better since then. The improvement was attributed to the good effects of a blood transfusion operation performed yesterday, blood being given for the purpose by Mr. Archbold's chauffeur, who was chosen after several others who volunteered were eliminated by blood tests.

The Store That Does Things

New Albany, Ind., Dec. 1.—After being out an hour and fifteen minutes the jury in the case of Edward Berry, charged with the murder of Mrs. Mary Frances Brookbank at Jeffersonville, returned a verdict finding the defendant guilty of murder in the first degree and fixing his penalty at imprisonment for life. Berry sprang to his feet and exclaimed: "The verdict is unjust. I never knew anything about the murder."

When Judge John M. Paris asked him if he had anything to say before sentence was passed Berry declared the Jacobses and the Jeffersonville police force were against him; that they differed with him in politics and religion. Mrs. Brookbank was a cousin of the Jacobses.

Berry will be taken to prison tomorrow. It is expected that he will not ask for a new trial.

Closing evidence in the case attacked the character of the defendant, a former employe of Mrs. Brookbank's husband before he died. Mrs. Brookbank, a wealthy widow, was beaten to death in the home where she lived alone and her body was found April 2, several days after the crime.

Berry literally talked himself into jail by pointing out to the police the shop in Louisville, Ky., at which a watch stolen from the Brookbank home had been pawned. He contended that he saw two men depart from the house, followed them to Louisville and saw them pawn the watch, but later lost trace of them. He gave his "tip" to the police in an effort to obtain the reward of $1,000 for the slayer.

BRITISH VICTORS IN GERMAN EAST AFRICA

London Claims War Gain in Region Far from Big Fronts.

London, Dec. 1.—Conspicuous success has been gained by the British in their campaign against the Germans in German East Africa, the war office announced today.

"On October 19, a strong German force, commanded by Major General Wahle, dislodged from Tabora (in the central part of the colony), came in contact with the British, south of Iringa," the statement says. "Simultaneously the enemy in the Mahenge area took the offensive against the British on the Ruhudje river, with the evident intention of assisting the western German force to penetrate the British cordon and form a junction with the main German force. The attempt to break through was repulsed near Aeuiringa and the British gained a conspicuous success on the Ruhudje river, driving the enemy over the river with the loss of 200 killed, 82 prisoners and booty.

"The main body of the western German force divided into two parts. One invested the British post at Luhembe and was driven off. The remaining force was isolated in the Iiembule mission station and forced to surrender, about 500 strong, on November 26. A howitzer, ammunition and three machine guns were included in the booty. The remnants of Major General Wahle's force having lost the bulk of their artillery and machine guns and suffering probably over 50 per cent of casualties, are making eastward for Mahenge."

Chicago, Dec. 1.—Agents of the United States treasury department have begun an investigation into the source of supply of Chicago dealers in aigrettes and goura feathers, it was learned today. It is charged that although the importation of these decorations for women's head wear has been prohibited for some time, the supply apparently has not diminished. Approximately $25,000 worth of these feathers have been brought into Chicago in the last few months, it is said, most of them from Cuba, by way of Tampa, Florida.

SAYS GERMANY ASKS ONLY FAIR TREATMENT

German Minister to Norway Outlines Position Regarding Neutrals.

Christiana, Dec. 1.—The Dagbladet today published an interview with Herr Michaelis, German minister to Norway, outlining Germany's point of view on the submarine controversy with Norway. The minister says in part:

"Germany cannot tolerate any special treatment of war and merchant submarines by neutrals. Norway is the sole neutral which, by special instructions, has conveyed the impression of adopting the view of the entente.

"Germany is permitted by international law to defend herself with all her powers against Norwegian ships carrying contraband, which prolongs the war, and the recent food crisis in Great Britain, France and Russia have shown that Germany is on the right path. Germany will not be deprived of the sharp weapon she possessed in the submarine. On the other hand, Germany will always respect Norway's really difficult position and the most we expect of really independent Norway is that she does not treat German warfare and German economic problems differently than those of the enemy."

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Acting Director of the Sunday School Course in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

(Copyright, 1916, Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR DECEMBER 3

JESUS CHRIST THE FIRST AND THE LAST.

LESSON TEXT—Rev. 1.

GOLDEN TEXT—Fear not; I am the first and the last, and the living one: and I was dead, and behold, I am alive for evermore.—Rev. 1:17, 18.

The lesson committee have departed, seemingly, a long way from anything like chronological order. Paul had nothing to do with the writing of the Revelation, yet this lesson illustrates the pre-eminence which Jesus Christ had in the mind and labors of the great apostle (Col. 1:18).

I. Introduction. (vv. 1-3.) We would suggest that all Bible students and teachers, if possible, read the introduction to the Book of Revelation in Scofield's Reference Bible. The book proper is "The Revelation of Jesus Christ." John, the beloved disciple, who wrote the Gospel and Epistles, was the one who saw the visions recorded therein. Many of the things are historical, others are prophetically set forth. The latter are "shortly to come to pass." (See also II Peter 3:8.) John tells not only what God said but what he himself saw. The late Doctor Brooks of St. Louis omitted this book from his study for many years until he saw the comments recorded in verse 3. The time of the writing of this book has variously been stated as from A. D. 60 to A. D. 96; the writer was certainly John the Beloved. The place of writing was the island of Patmos in the Aegean sea, not far from Ephesus. The real author, however, is Jesus Christ, the Son of God.

II. Salutation (vv. 4-8). "The servant of Jesus who records his message was John, and the message was to be to "the seven churches which are in Asia;" that is, the western portion of Asia Minor, of which Ephesus on the Aegean sea was the principal city. These churches are definitely named in verse 11. There is good reason to think that these churches represented the seven successive epochs of church history. If so, no age is exclusively Ephesian, or Philadelphian, or Laodicean. The grace, favor, loving kindness, is a free gift from Christ, who is here giving a threefold title, namely: First begotten from the dead, witness and prince.

III. Vision (vv. 9-18). What John saw on the isle of Patmos he was to write upon a parchment roll and send it to the seven churches, each of which needed a message. Under the figure of seven candlesticks are enumerated seven churches. Into the midst of these churches, actually present in them, is one like unto the Son of Man. (See also Matthew 18:20.) Like a human being, Jesus was, but now clothed with the garment of his eternal glory, girded about with the girdle worn by priests and kings, a symbol of his power and strength (Isaiah 11:5; Eph. 6:14). His head and his hands, his feet and his eyes are all referred to, each having its symbolical significance. In his right hand are the seven stars (v. 16), the angels of the churches, pastors or leaders, possibly guardian angels (v. 20). They are held in his right hand, signifying that they are protected, upheld and controlled by his wisdom and power. (See Jeremiah 22:24). From his mouth goes a sharp, two-edged sword; the spirit of the Word of God sharper than any two-edged sword (Hebrews 4:12). And his countenance was as the sun shining in its strength, the glory, such as was manifested in the transfiguration, such as Paul saw near Damascus, is here referred to.

IV. The Command. John had enjoyed a tender intimacy with the Lord during his earthly life and yet he was stricken down with the overpowering majesty and glory which had been revealed. Now he realized, as perhaps never before, the significance of the ever-living Christ, and he is hereby specifically commanded to record this vision as he had seen it and the messages which the Lord had for the churches. The word mystery (v. 20) has reference to something which has hitherto been hidden to men and which is now about to be revealed. The revelation was to these churches, and it is to us also.

Jesus is not a mere vision but he is a living reality, unveiled for the time from the unseen.

Jesus is a living fact which we are to communicate to men. The seven stars (v. 20) are messages in his own right hand.

The churches are the lamp stands, Christ himself is the light, the sun (v. 16).

The messages John is commanded to deliver have a four-fold application (1) to the churches actually addressed, but which have long since passed away; 2) to all churches in all times, admonishing them to discover their true spiritual state; (3) to individuals, "he that hath an ear," that they shall claim the promises made "to him that overcometh" and (4) they are prophetic of the different phases of spiritual history, following the days of John, the writer, (a) Beginning; (b) persecution; (c) worldliness; (d) priestly formalism; (e) reformation; (f) testimony to the word and the name.

The One He Overlooked.

In a current magazine article Colonel Roosevelt at some length diagnoses the result of the recent election and sets out in considerable detail the reasons as he sees them for the defeat of Mr. Hughes. In this as in pretty much of everything he says or does, the colonel is interesting, whether you chance to agree with him or not. In brief Mr. Roosevelt ascribes the victory of President Wilson not to the slightest merit of the man or his cause, but to the following four chief factors:

1. Prosperity and the "kept us out of war" issue. Inability of the republicans to make their issue clear.

2. Politicians have treated their promises with a cynical indifference that has made the voters skeptical.

3. The Adamson bill and the favor it developed for Wilson.

4. The blurring of the issues because for three years republican leaders either feared to criticize President Wilson or split in their criticism, one element attacking him as too radical, the other as too conservative.

When even so disagreeable task as a post mortem is undertaken, it might as well be made as thorough as possible, and it will occur to a good many thoughtful Americans that in his listing of the reasons for Mr. Hughes' defeat Colonel Roosevelt has overlooked one very important factor, and that factor was Colonel Roosevelt himself. He is apparently unable to see what was clearly apparent to many others during the recent campaign. A very considerable element of the American people were out of patience with Mr. Roosevelt, and his militant espousal of the cause of Mr. Hughes, together with his viciously intemperate criticism of all whose viewpoint was not his own, undoubtedly cost Mr. Hughes many thousands of votes.

With all the admiration commanded by Colonel Roosevelt's force, his natural ability, his long and in many ways distinguished public service and his undoubted desire to typify the finest in American spirit, it was impossible for many people to escape the conviction that the course he advocated for Mr. Hughes meant the carrying of a lighted torch into a powder mill. Nor was it to be doubted, in the close relationship between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Hughes, that the colonel's policies must have been indelibly impressed on any administration which he had contributed so largely to placing in power.

It is characteristic of Colonel Roosevelt to place blame somewhere else rather than assume any scintilla of it himself. It is characteristic that he puts responsibility wholly on weakness and divisions among republicans, and is unable to find justification for the public's preference in any degree of merit or accomplishment or purpose or ideal in President Wilson or his program, either accomplished or in prospect. Whether he realizes it or not, there is a very definite public conviction that none of the reasons he has set forth were more potent in encompassing the defeat of Mr. Hughes than was the sort of campaign the colonel conducted in his behalf. It amounted to a positive asset for President Wilson's cause, because of the voters it estranged from the republican standard-bearer.

The resourceful Mr. Hartigan, commissioner of weights and measures in New York city, who has been in the forefront of the verbal drive on high food prices, believes he has discovered a "trust" composed of cold storage warehouses in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut who are in the league to hold up food products until the prices reach an altitude that will enable them to haul down exceptionally handsome profits. It is to be regretted that Mr. Hartigan's range of vision will not carry as far as Chicago and some other big western cities. One is desperately curious to know what it would believe it had brought to light there.

There is doubtless no occasion for questioning the sincerity of the thanks offered up Thursday by Judge Ed Jackson, newly-elected secretary of state, and Otto L. Klauss, who secured a safe majority for auditor of state in Indiana at the election last month. Each of these assumed the duties of his new office and found his name handsomely engrossed on the Indiana state payroll Friday morning.

Indianapolis politicians are all fussed up in their preparations for the city campaign next year because of uncertainty regarding some provisions of the primary election law with reference to formation of political organizations for the fray. Still, why worry? The old-time crowd will doubtless find a way to put itself in control as usual.

The sentence of hanging pronounced against Lawyer Overton for the murder of Judge Lawler, after trial in the Alabama courts may or may not be carried out ultimately. It at least should be fruitful in suggesting some other method of disposing of political opponents than that introduced by the Alabama politician.

Boiled down, the utterances of each of the European belligerents amounts to positive assurance that each would be delighted to end the war provided the other fellow will admit he is licked.

With Thanksgiving now safely out of the way, there is nothing to prevent you from doing that Christmas shopping early.

Your Family Budget.

What is a budget?

Planning how you will spend your salary—balancing your accounts beforehand, not for the sake of counting your chickens before they are hatched, but in order to divide your wages so that your family will get the most comfort for the least money.

You know what your wages for the next month or the next year will be. You also know what are your necessities and luxuries. According to the budget system you divide your income to cover these needs, and never rob one to increase the other, nor spend more than your appropriation.

Few do this, but those who are thus forehanded generally prosper.

Nobody can tell exactly what another's budget ought to be.

One estimate allows 20 per cent. for rent, 12 per cent. for operating expenses such as light, heat, carfare and laundry; 18 per cent. for clothing; 15 per cent. for incidentals—amusements, education, church, lodge, doctor, dentist, savings and insurance, and 35 per cent. for food.

This may be a proper distribution of a salary, and again it may not. No law of expenditure can possibly be made.

At present high prices, families living on $1,000 a year probably are spending 45 per cent. for food. Families living on $2,500 need spend no more than $450 a year for food; thus as the income increases the percentage required for food becomes smaller.

People who try to practice economy are usually content with a clearing house system of accounting. They balance their books at the end of the month and are satisfied if they have not spent more than they have earned, if there are no unpaid and unpayable bills.

But this method gets them nowhere. It conceals bad management without remedying it.

The budget system is better, for it substitutes sense for chance in spending.

GOBBLE, GOBBLE!

The Suicide Record.

(Chicago Herald.)

Suicide has now become so stable a phenomenon that the number of persons who will die by self-murder during the next year may be predicted with a fair degree of accuracy.

In fact, the suicide rate is so regular that Frederick L. Hoffman, the noted insurance statistician, devotes a considerable analysis to the causes and to the means of prevention. It is a business problem with Mr. Hoffman, who sets forth his conclusions in The Spectator.

One of the surprising results of his investigation is that going westward seems to stimulate the suicidal tendency. The Pacific coast cities have the high record. Next in order come the Rocky Mountain cities, the central west cities, the eastern cities and the south, with the lowest rate of all. The explanation of this distribution of suicide is not apparent. To a certain extent business failures and self-destruction go together, but Mr. Hoffman does not regard this as a sufficient explanation.

Men, however, are very much more apt to commit suicide than are women, and of the four seasons, spring appears to induce the largest number voluntarily to leave life. But no ages are immune. From tender childhood to decrepit old age the impulse expresses itself here and there.

One of the important causes of suicide is the unwillingness of modern men and women to endure hopeless suffering. Cancer in its incurable stages and other such agonizing diseases explain many cases. Heredity appears to account for others. The researches of Charles B. Davenport of the eugenics laboratory indicate this. "Arteriosclerotic depression" is often the basis of a suicidal tendency which runs in families.

Partial remedies are to be found in making self-destruction more difficult. By protecting high buildings, by limiting the sale of firearms, by regulating strictly the marketing of poisons, many people can be deterred from this ultimate surrender to melancholy.

SOUTH BEND WOMAN IS SURPRISED AT RESULT

"I'm Highly Elated Over Relief Tanlac Brought Me," Mrs. Cordray Asserts.

South Bend, Ind., Dec. 1.—"I'm highly elated over the relief this medicine Tanlac brought me. It surely is a wonderful medicine."

This was the tribute paid the Premier Preparation on November 2 by Mrs. E. H. Cordray, a well known South Bend woman of 1509 South Michigan street.

"I was troubled with a catarrhal affection of the throat and my kidneys were out of shape," she continued. "In fact, my system generally was in a run down condition. The constant dripping of mucous into my throat annoyed me greatly and caused my breath to be offensive. My kidneys were weak and irregular and I was very nervous. I didn't eat very much and felt tired and worn out all the time.

"Tanlac was highly recommended and I decided to try the new medicine. After I had finished the first bottle of Tanlac I began to feel better. The dripping of mucus into my throat ceased and I began to eat more heartily. I've finished the second bottle now and feel fine. My kidneys are in good order and the tired, worn out feeling has been banished. Tanlac is certainly a wonderful medicine and I recommend it."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and the like.

Tanlac is now being specially introduced and explained in Fort Wayne at the four Meyer drug stores—Wayne and Calhoun, Calhoun and Columbia, 1420 Calhoun and Broadway and Taylor streets.—Advertisement.

BUSINESS CONTINUES ON ITS UPWARD CLIMB

The business story of the past month is in the main a repetition of that of most other months in 1916," says the monthly letter on general business conditions just issued by the Old National bank. "In other words high record marks in many lines of trade, established several times during the year only to be surpassed the succeeding month, have once more been set up. That business has attained the enormous totals recorded below in spite of the fact that some factors are at present seriously hampering its advance, speaks eloquently of the size and extent of commercial and industrial operations.

"There are both favorable and unfavorable aspects of the present situation," the letter continues. "The longer abnormal conditions last, the more abruptly will the turn toward a smaller volume of business appear, when it does come, and the more quickly will all lines have to adjust themselves to the change. That trade has maintained its unprecedented totals for so long a time, however, provides additional opportunity for the business man to prepare for the future, if he has not already done so.

"Peace talk is rife and, while nothing definite may develop for some months, all business should be shaped to stand the reflex which will naturally follow the close of the European war."

The San Diego (Cal.), Union of November 26, contains a long account of a novel pageant by school children of that city, which brought out the largest crowd of spectators seen so far in this, the second year of San Diego's great exposition. The interest of the pageant in this city centers in the fact that Miss Hulda Hanker, with her partner, Miss Cornelia Strobhar, trained the children in their dancing and singing parts. The children wore Mother [illegible] and the account states that the reason Mother Goose was induced to return to America after an absence of about three hundred years, was that the old lady just couldn't bear to see the exposition close without paying it a visit, and of course, she had to bring along the people of her kingdom.

Hoffmeier—Altekruse.

A pretty wedding of simple appointment was that of Miss Esther Altekruse, daughter of Mrs. Amelia Altekruse, of 706 Runnion avenue, and Mr Ernest Hoffmeier, a son of the late William Hoffmeier, of Lake township, which took place at St. John's Reformed church on Thanksgiving night at 8 o'clock, the Rev. John H. Bosch officiating at the ceremony. Miss John Rohlman presided at the organ and played the wedding music from "Lohengrin" as the bride and groom, preceded by the ushers, Messrs. A. Leslie Jacobs and Elmer Baade, entered the church and took their place for the marriage service. Just before the ceremony Miss Pauline Werkman sang "O, Promise Me," and Mrs. Rohlman played softly during the service. After the benediction the wedding party left the church to the strains of the Mendelssohn wedding march. The bride wore a becoming, but not elaborate gown of white crepe de chine and a veil of tulle held to her hair with a wreath of orange blossoms, worn by her mother at her wedding. The bride made her own gown and it was a beautiful piece of work, the trimming being principally of the material corded with white satin. The bridal bouquet was a colonial shower of roses and swansonia. The church was decorated with large palms. From the church the bride and groom drove directly to their own home on a farm in Lake township, which the groom has newly furnished. The bride is a young woman of exceptionally sweet and beautiful character and Christian principles. She is devoted to the work of St. John's Reformed church in every way. Mr. Hoffmeier enjoys, with his bride, the confidence and high esteem of their many friends and associates.

McKellar—Ellenwood.

A simple, but lovely wedding on Thanksgiving day was Miss Mabel Ellenwood's, which took place at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Ellenwood, in South Clinton street, at 6 o'clock in the evening. Miss Ellenwood and Mr. Hector McKellar, of Jackson, Mich., were married by Rev. D. H. Guild, pastor of the First M. E. church. Only immediate relatives were present. Miss Muriel Baxter played the wedding music. The bride had no attendants and she wore her traveling suit of blue cloth with blouse of white georgette crepe. When she left on her wedding trip the bride wore a hat of taupe velvet and her gloves and shoes matched its color. The wedding dinner was also the Thanksgiving dinner, too, and the table displayed the good things of the season. Pink snapdragon and chrysanthemum blossoms decorated the table and the dining room. Mr. McKellar's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McKellar, of Kendallville, and Mrs. Elizabeth Davis, of Kokomo, were visiting guests at the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. McKellar are to make their home in Jackson, Mich., where Mr. McKellar is a news dealer. They will keep house and are to be at home after the first of January at 109 Woodbridge street. The bride is a cultured and charming young woman whose many friends regret to have her leave the city. The groom formerly lived in Kendallville, where he had no end of friends. He has made a success of his business in his new home.

The bride, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Beerman, was attended by her sister, Miss Mildred, and the groom's sister, Miss Rosella Fenker, and the groom had his brother, Andrew Fenker, as best man. The bride wore a beautiful gown of white taffeta combined with net and lace while her long tulle veil was fashioned into a frill for her hair and fell to the bottom of her dress. The bride carried a white prayerbook with bookmark of ribbon and clusters of swansonia blossoms. The bridesmaids wore gowns of delicate coloring, one pink and the other yellow, and their hats and bouquets corresponded. Miss Fenker wore the yellow and Miss Beerman the pink. Following the marriage service the bridal party were entertained at the bride's home at breakfast. Relatives and a few friends were present. The bride's table was trimmed with smilax and pink and white roses and the wedding cake, while flowers and smilax decorated the rooms. After a wedding trip to Michigan points Mr. and Mrs. Fenker will return and go to housekeeping at 1647 Richardson street. Hormann, were married at the Cathedral on Thursday morning at 7 o'clock by Rev. John R. Quinlan. Miss Lettie Huttinger, a sister of the bride, was her attendant, and Mr. Charles Fry was groomsman. Just Suppose—

Suppose that you were at a musicale in a private home or in a public concert room.

Suppose that a great singer whom you had been invited to hear, or had paid an admittance fee to hear, got up before you and sang in such a way that his voice sounded like a talking machine.

What would you think, and what would you do?

You would think that the singer was trying to play a joke on you and you would be offended, and if you had paid money at the door, you would demand its return.

You do not expect a singer's real voice to sound like his talking machine records, and of course you don't expect his talking machine records to sound like his voice.

When you hear a great artist in concert work or upon the stage, that artist's voice sounds exactly as it would sound when re-created by the New Edison. In other words, there is absolutely no difference between an artist's real voice and Edison's re-creation of his voice.

A picture of ARTHUR MIDDLETON, great bass of the Metropolitan Opera Company, as he has appeared in public, singing in direct comparison with Edison's Re-Creation of his voice to prove that one is indistinguishable from the other.

Proved 300 Times

The fact that Edison's new invention, the New Edison, re-creates the human voice with such literal fidelity that the living voice cannot be distinguished from the re-creation of it has been demonstrated in public more than 300 times.

Great artists, such as Marie Rappold, Anna Case, Alice Verlet, Christine Miller, Arthur Middleton and Thomas Chalmers, standing beside the New Edison, have sung alternately with it, and it is a fact, which can be proved by accounts of these astounding tests in more than two hundred of America's leading newspapers, that it was impossible for the audience to distinguish the artists' living voices from Edison's re-creation of them on his latest and greatest invention, the New Edison.

The New Edison will bring into your home the literal re-creation of the voices—and instrumental performances—of the world's great artists.

When you hear Zenatello's magnicent tenor, or the wonderful voices of Matzenauer and Destinn, as re-created by the New Edison, you are hearing those voices exactly as they sound upon the opera stage.

If you have the New Edison in your home, you don't have to imagine how a great artist's voice really sounds. You know how it sounds when you have heard it re-created by the New Edison.

Come to our store and hear

The New Edison

Before you decide what is to be the principal gift this year to your family, come to our store and hear the New Edison. Come at any hour. You will be welcome, and you will not be urged to buy.

OLD FOLKS NEED "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER, BOWELS

Get a 10-cent box now.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.—Advertisement.

Mother Love About Law, Judge Asserts

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 30.—"Mother love is above law,' says Judge J. M. Johnson, who has returned little Waneta Penny to her mother, Mrs. Jewell Clark, of Richmond, Mo.

Two couples fought for the child. Robert and Mrs. Murray, an aged couple of Holden, Mo., claimed the little girl because she had been legally adopted by them from the Children's Home society.

Clark began a court battle to win the child for his bride although he is not the child's father. His wife told him the child was born to her before her marriage, that the father of the baby disappeared and she placed the little girl with the Children's society.

DRINK WATER TO AVOID SICKNESS SAYS AUTHORITY

Sanitary science has of late made rapid strides with results that are of untold blessing to humanity. The latest application of its untiring research is the recommendation that it is as necessary to attend to internal sanitation of the drainage system of the human body as it is to the drains of the house.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the phosphated hot water is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatic stiffness; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.—Advertisement.

SIMPLY COULDN'T FORGET THE LOOP

Mary Alice Smith Unable to Withstand Lure of the Big City.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Mary Alice Smith is back!

Out on a quiet, dreary farm in Amboy, Ill., where she thought she could find love, a real home and a fortune, Mary has heard the tempting call of the big city and answered.

A little over a year ago Mary drew her $12 a week as stenographer in a Chicago real estate office and sighed.

There would be hardly enough for a "movie" show after she paid for room rent, meals and laundry.

Oh, for a real, quiet home where she could have someone to love and laugh with. Anywhere, to get away from the crushing, pushing city of unsympathetic crowds.

James Pankhurst, Amboy farmer, advertised for a "daughter" who would inherit $10,000 if she would remain with him and his wife during their life and remain unmarried.

Mary was chosen from among 2,000 applicants.

Could she forget Chicago's loop for $10,000?

She said she could. And just two months ago she said she was satisfied with farm life—she would never again return to the heartless, friendless city.

But now she is back in Chicago.

"Chickens and pigs and cows are nice in their way," she says, "but they are not so nice as the city.

"Oh, the city is so big and friendly and home-like. And it grows so dull and frozen and bleak in the open.

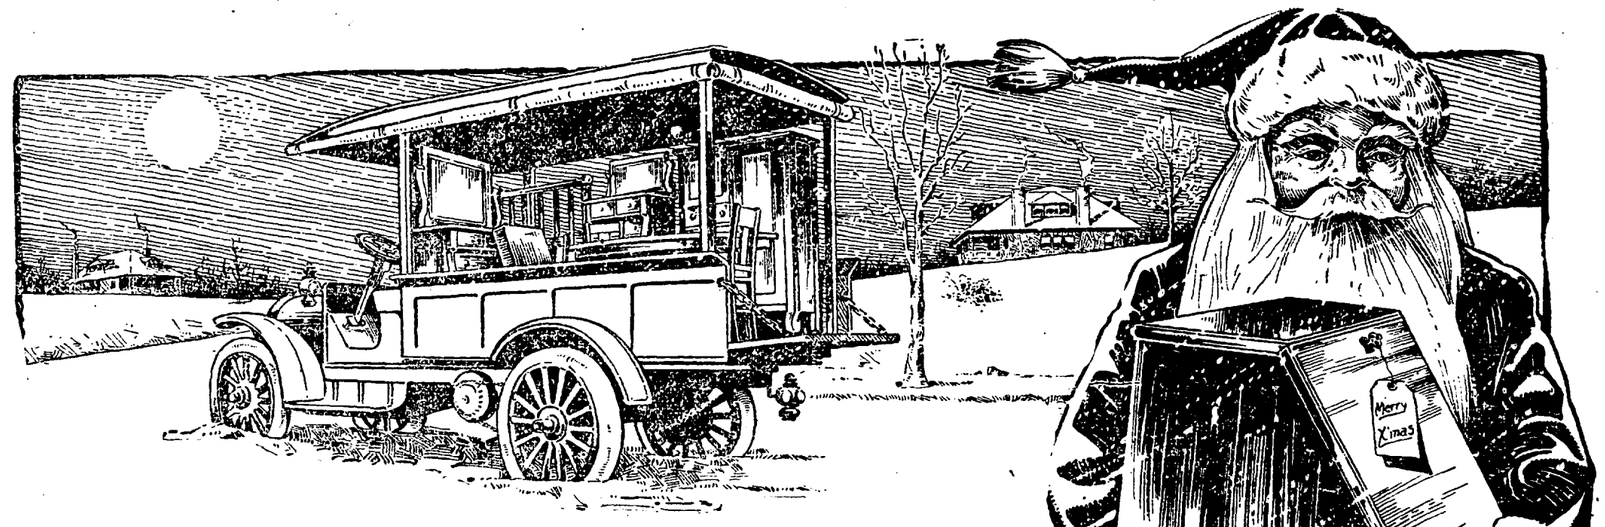
"I never had a caller down on the farm. It was part of the agreement that I was not to marry. I am not crazy for the company of young men, but I DO like to meet them."

Mary has tried the quiet, romantic, $10,000 life on the farm with the hustling, bustling, $12 life in the city and picked the latter.

Massive Statue is Work of a Woman

This bronze statue, representing electricity, weighs sixteen tons and is the work of Miss Evelyn Beatrice Longman, a recognized leader in sculpture. It is twenty-four feet high and will be placed 436 feet above the street level atop the new twenty-seven-story Telephone building in New York.

A diaphragm and horn resembling a phonograph's have been invented to make telegraph relay instruments audible and save the use of additional sounder.

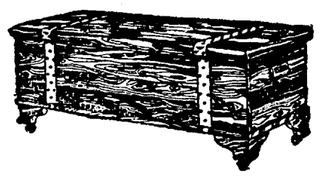


Give Her Furniture!

Next to the children, the biggest thing in a woman's life is her home, and anything that makes the home brighter, more attractive, more liveable and loveable, has a sentimental value that cannot be figured in dollars and cents. So why not be governed accordingly, and this year present your loved ones with some pretty, artistic and useful piece—something that all can enjoy! And why not buy it where you can arrange to pay for it without making the entire out-lay all in one sum—where you can divide the total up into small sums which you will be able to pay without missing it as you can at Hadley's.

This Casserol Only 98c

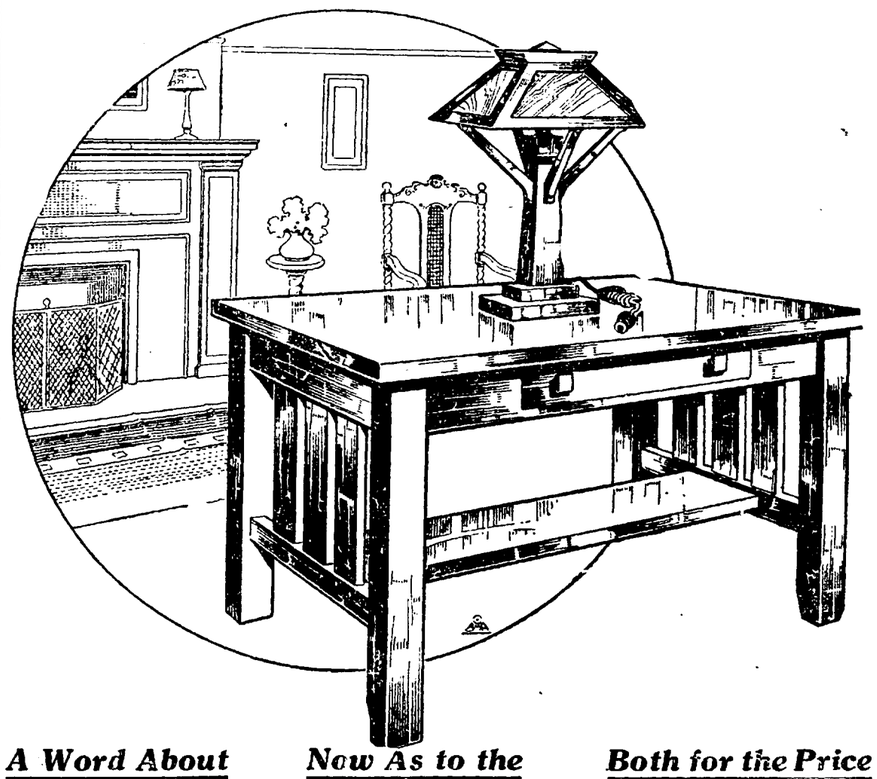
It measures 9¼ inches from handle to handle, so you can see that it is not a small, cheap article. It is brown outside and white within. The holder is plated, of a handsome design, and has wooden handles which eliminate the possibility of burned fingers.



Colonial Cedar Chest $9.85

It is constructed of the very finest Red Tennessee Cedar along handsome Colonial lines, and trimmed with copper bands. It is heavy and massive, and furnishes absolute protection against moths and vermin.

This Fumed Oak Table and Lamp $14.75



A Word About The Lamp

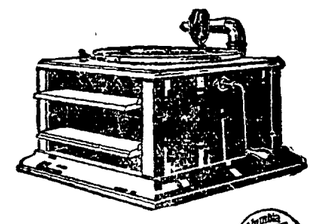
This lamp was as carefully designed and built as any large article of furniture. It is a substantial affair, that, with ordinary care, will last quite as long as the table. It has an art glass shade, and is fitted with silk-covered cord and a plug that may be quickly arranged to any electric socket. In finish, it exactly matches the table.

Now As to the Table

It is built of massive, solid oak, that will last for years and years. The magazine or book shelf is a wide one, and the ends of it are firmly mortised into the crosspieces. It is built on generous proportions, and finished in a fumed stain that is appropriate to this mission style of furniture. Rigidly bolted, and neatly finished in every respect.

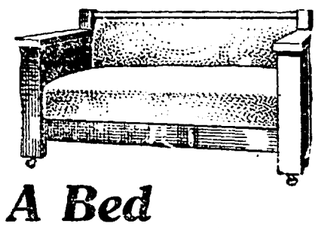
Both for the Price of the Table

The table alone would be a great value at $14.75, so we expect a brisk demand for this combination. We therefore urge you to come in early tomorrow to see this table and lamp. If you need a living room table, here is a chance to get a good one, at a moderate price, and a table lamp free besides. Remember, you need pay only a small cash deposit and the balance may be arranged to suit your convenience.



Columbia Grafonola $15.00

The cabinet is of golden oak, and measures 12⅛ by 13⅝ inches, and 7 inches high. In listening to this machine you become unconscious of the fact that there is a machine there—the beautiful instrument seems to fade and vanish, giving place to the artist who made the record.



A Bed Davenport $29.75

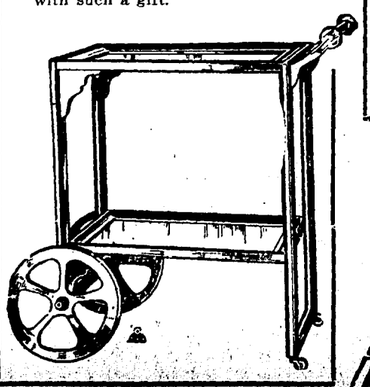
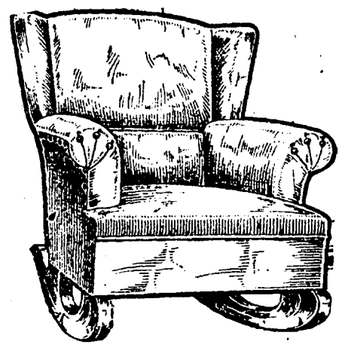
Handsome Tea Cart $9.95

A tea cart is more practical than it is usually given credit of being. You may load it with your vituals in the kitchen and wheel them into the dining room all at one trip, thus saving scores of steps. This particular design will take any woman's eye. You'll delight her with such a gift.



This Lord Chesterfield Rocker Gives Solid Comfort $15.75



This Rocker is one of the largest sizes made, but despite the bigness and roominess, there is no suggestion of clumsiness in its appearance. The upholstering is hung on an unusually long rocker frame, so that when the chair is rocked it swings clear back and forth, without any danger of being tilted over backward, and without that short, jerky motion of some chairs. The upholstering is unusually deep and overstuffed so that comfort is assured.

Ladies' Writing Desk $5.85

Every home needs a desk of some sort. Every woman or girl wants one along these lines. It contains all the items which a woman finds convenient, and eliminates all the faults which a woman is apt to find in a desk. This is but one of the scores of designs in our ladies desk stock. Come in and see them.

GORDON IS SPEAKER BEFORE QUEST CLUB

Vocational Schools Director Tells of Work That is Being Done.

Walter E. Gordon, director of Fort Wayne's vocational education schools, told members of the Quest club at noon luncheon Friday at the Commercial club what these schools were doing for practical education and asked the club to support all legislative measures bearing on the progress of the institutions.

Indiana, he said, was one of seven states which had earnestly taken up the matter of vocational education with a view to making education more than a fad. He declared there was a difference between manual training and vocational education with the springing up of a new industrialism over the country. "There are new demands in education and we have indulged in culture, ignoring the practical," said the speaker.

Put in $240,000.

The state of Indiana during the last year put $240,000 into vocational education, and of this sum Fort Wayne got $8,000 for maintenance of vocational schools. By the present law the state pays two-thirds of the cost of instruction providing the schools getting the state aid abide by the requirements of the state. The Fort Wayne vocational schools are prospering with a night enrollment of 550, although the day enrollment has been somewhat cut down by prosperous times bringing many of the students into daily pursuits.

Placing students in profitable employment for which they were suited would do much to check the social evil, the speaker said, although he added the vocational institutions, now operated for both boys and girls, were not a cure-all for social evils. Mr. Gordon has been at the head of the schools for three years and has had wide experience in his work.

J. A. Underwood of the Favorite Stove company, Piqua, O., will be the pseaker before the Quest club at the Hotel Anthony next Friday night.

MISS TEIPER UNABLE TO APPEAR AT TRIAL

Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 1.—The announcement that Miss Grace Teiper would appear today as a witness in the trial of her brother, John Edward Teiper, alleged murderer of his mother and brother, attracted a large crowd to court.

With the exception of the accused brother, Miss Teiper is the only surviving member of the automobile party murderously attacked on the Orchard Park road on the night of January 30. She was terribly beaten about the head and for several weeks her life hung in the balance. Her injuries, it is said, blotted out memory of the events at the scene of the murder.

Physicians representing the prosecutor reported that they had visited Miss Teiper at her home today and found her in no condition to testify. George L. Lewis, the Teiper family lawyer, said that it was unlikely that Miss Teiper would appear in court in response to the subpoena served on her by the district attorney. "She is anxious to take the stand," said Mr. Lewis. "Her general health is good but the nature and violence of the hysterical attacks to which she is subject make it unlikely that she can go on the witness stand in open court."

Marion, Ind., Dec. 1.—Chiropractors in northern Indiana will meet in Marion Sunday to discuss proposed legislation desired by members of that profession. The meeting was called by L. E. RAILROADS SUM UP THEIR VIEW OF IT

National Public Ownership League Also Out With Statement.

(By Gilson Gardner.)

Washington, Nov. 30.—Representatives of the railways have told the Newlands committee what they would like at the hands of congress. Their presentation sums up about this way:

1. Abolish state control over railroads.
2. Put the federal government behind the credit of the roads, in order that they may borrow more money.
3. Abolish the interstate commerce commission as it is now constituted, and put in its place a federal railroad commission and regional commissions, controlled by the railroads.
4. Give this federal commission power to prescribe minimum rates. This will check competition and help to maintain high freight rates.
5. Curb the power of the I. C. C. to suspend high or unreasonable rates.

The committee will next hear from the state railway commission.

In a statement prepared for the use of the committee investigating the rail road situation, Paul D. Thompson, secretary of the National Public Ownership league, says:

Every important nation in the world with but three or four exceptions, owns and operates all or a very considerable portion of its railway system. Considerably more than one-half of the entire railway mileage of the world is now operated under public ownership. Practically all telegraph and telephone systems outside of the United States are publicly owned and operated. The entire postal systems of the world are publicly owned. The Prussian government owns and operates 245 groups of coal mines; New Zealand produces one-eighth of the entire coal supply of that country; some of the Scandinavian states own silver mines; Dutch East India owns tin mines; South Africa and Australia, gold mines; oil fields are owned and operated by Austria, Hungary, Servia and the Argentine republic.

In the field of municipal utilities public ownership is even more extensive and wide-spread. In England there are 171 municipally owned street car lines, 1,045 waterworks, 334 electric light and power plants, 300 gas plants. In Germany there are 132 municipally owned street car lines, 1,333 waterworks, 434 electric light and power plants, 753 gas plants, and in the United States there are 4 municipally owned street car lines, 3,045 waterworks, 1,562 electric light and power plants, 30 gas plants.

This by no means exhausts the list of municipal enterprise. Municipal ownership of land is becoming quite general in European cities. Berlin owns 39,000 acres or about nine per cent. of the total area of the city; Munich owns 13,000 acres or 23 per cent. of the city's area; Zurich, Paris, Buenos Ayres, Sydney and many other German and English cities own and rent dwelling houses. In this country Boston owns and operates a very successful printing plant. Brookings, South Dakota, owns a telephone system, and Cincinnati owns a railroad three hundred miles in length.

A careful and rather conservative estimate places the total capital invested in public enterprises of all kinds in the world at sixty billions of dollars ($60,000,000,000;) the total number of workers in the public employ at nearly nineteen million, (18,858,600,) and the total annual wages paid at over two bilion dollars, ($2,265,000,000.)

Here then is a world-wide experience in public ownership. And what are the results? The results, we will say, in a sweeping generalization which we are prepared to sustain by abundant evidence from every direction, are that under public ownership wages are higher, cost of service is less and the public earns a profit that goes into the public funds. In other words, public ownership cuts down the property incomes and increases service incomes, and this it does by increasing returns to labor, reducing the cost of service and taking for the community the values which the community creates.

SAVE YOUR HAIR!

25 CENT BOTTLE STOPS DANDRUFF

Every bit of dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application you rhair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance, an incomparable gloss and softness; but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

FIFTY-TWO FIRES DURING THE MONTH

Many Small Blazes With Total Less Than $3,000 Loss.

High cost of fuel served to give Fort Wayne a record for the number of small fires during the month of November. Firemen made fifty-two dashes during the month, the records show. Twenty of these clattering rushes were made during the still hours of night.

But most of the fires were small affairs in which smoke was the main feature. Total loss is but $2,875. Sparks from chimneys, tumbling on parched roofs, was the cause of most calls. There were nine grass fires during the month.

During November, 1915, there were forty-eight calls with fire damage totalling $10,000.

INVITED TO CONFERENCE.

Will Hear President Talk Over Teiephone From Washington.

Mayor Hosey received an invitation to the rail and water conference, to be held in Evansville, on December 13 and 1. Hosey will be unable to attend the meeting and has ordered the invitation to be turned over to the Commercial club in the hope that Fort Wayne may send a representative to the conference.

An address by President Wilson will be a feature. Wilson will talk into a telephone in his office in the national capitol.. A telephone will be set before al idelegates who assemble about the several "round tables" at the Evansville meeting.

Little Sickness.

"The city of few ills," is suggested as another slogan for Fort Wayne, because the disease record of the past year has been almost miraculous. There were but six cases of diphtheria reported in the city during the month past gone. Four of those came from the feeble minded institution on Satate street. This is in the face of diphtheria epidemics in all leading cities surrounding Fort Wayne. During November, a year ago, there was but one case of diphtheria. Four cases of scarlet fever are on the records in the health board office. There were four cases in November last year.

Mayor Out of Danger.

So marked has been the improvement of Mayor Hosey during the past twenty-four hours that physicians at the St. Joseph hospital believe him safe from danger of relapse, from his recent operation. Thursday was considered to be the critical day on which outcome of the operation could be determined. The mayor improved on Thursday and is much better Friday.

TEACHES THE LARGEST SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS

David H. Hogg Leader of Men's Bible Class of First Baptist Church.

The men's Bible class of the First Baptist church proudly calls itself the largest Sunday school class in the city. Last Sunday one hundred and twenty-one men were in this class. For several months the attendance has not once fallen below the hundred mark.

DAVID H. HOGG.

Attorney David H. Hogg, of the firm of Macbeth & Hogg, is the teacher of the class and he seems to be a very popular one. He teaches entirely by the question method and manages to keep the interest intense at all times. A more "live wire" class of men is probably not to be found in this city or any other city near here. The subject for discussion in the class next Sunday is "Reasons for Doubt."

Gen. Gonzales said he was increasing the size of his forces in Juarez and would increase the number of troops in Villa Auhumada, 83 miles south of here, and along the Mexican Central railroad and the overland trails to prevent a surprise attack upon the border town by one bandit force.

An embargo was also expected on the Erie. The New York Central has aready put an embargo into effect.

In the grain trade here the difficulties of the railways was attributed chiefly to the curtailment of export grain shipments and to the consequent cogging of elevators and side track storage.

IN THE CHURCHES

CELEBRATE PAYING OF THE CHURCH DEBT

It was a happy congregation of people that crowded the West Jefferson Street Church of Christ Thursday evening at the reception in celebration of the successful debt-paying campaign. Many members of the West Creighton Avenue and East Creighton Avenue Churches of Christ were in attendance to offer their congratulations. Capt. W. A. Kelsey gave a historical sketch of the church. Rev. M. L. Buckley and Rev. E. H. Clifford spoke briefly.

The occasion was doubly interesting as the date was also that of the eleventh wedding anniversary of Rev. and Mrs. O. E. Tomes. Taking advantage of this fact, those in charge of the program prepared several very happy surprises. Rev. Tomes and his wife upon order of the chairman, were conducted to the front and presented with a set of silver spoons by the Fidelity circle of King's Daughters. They returned to their places only to be called to the front again, when Capt. W. A. Kelsey, acting for the officers of the church and congregation, seriously informed Rev. Tomes that with the close of this year his term as pastor of the church came to an end, but hastened to add that he was instructed to inform the pastor that he was called to another term of service at an increase in salary amounting to $300 a year.

For the third time the pastor and his wife were called before the congregation and informed by Attorney W. N. Ballou that he thought it appropriate that another wedding ceremony should be performed, instructing the pastor and his wife to join hands, he spoke of the appreciation on the part of the congregation of the services rendered by Mr. Tomes and the regard in which the pastor and his wife were held by their large circle of friends. He then presented Rev. Tomes with an envelope and the latter remarked that since it was customary for the minister to give his wife the wedding fee he would follow that precedent. When Mrs. Tomes opened the envelop she found five crisp twenty-dollar bills.

This evening the members of the congregation and their friends will gather at a supper prepared by the Ladies' Aid society. On Sunday evening the mortgage on the church property will be burned at the public services.

ASK POLICE TO FIND LONG LOST BROTHER

He Was Put in County Orphanage Twenty-Three Years Ago.

Porter Ashcraft was twelve years old when his father and mother died and he was put in the Allen county orphans' home. But that was twenty-three years ago.

Thanksgiving day brought tender memories to May Ashcraft, as her name was twenty-three years ago, but now she is Mrs. Charles Irons. She lives, surrounded by a family of children, in Coalmont, a southern Indiana village.

She fell to thinking about her little brother, Porter, on Thanksgiving day. She remembered him in knee pants and with wavy brown hair and the bloom of roses in his cheeks. She wanted to see Porter again. She sat right down and wrote a letter to Fort Wayne.

Police Chief Lenz got the message Friday afternoon. He inquired from the matron of the orphans' home about Porter, who is thirty-five years old now.

The present county home has been built but twenty-one years. Children were taken from the Reformed orphanage at that time and moved to the present county institution. Porter was not moved. He had been taken from the Reformed orphanage at that time.

Lenz was to deliver a letter to Porter. The penciled pages tell of the marriage of sister Lottie, now of Clinton, Iowa, and of the journeys of the other three children.

Lenz will return the letter. He will use the enclosed postage stamps to explain that the Porter, of the wavy brown hair, has long since gone out into the busy world. He is lost to the memory of Fort Wayne.

BLAMES SHORTAGE OF AMMUNITION AND FOOD

Caused Defeat of Trevino at Chihuahua, Says Arredondo.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 1.—Shortage of ammunition and food rather than lack of morale among the Carranza troops at Chihuahua City is held by Ambassador designate Arredondo to be the real cause of the defeat of General Trevino and Carranza forces by Villa bandits.

Mr. Arrenodndo believes the Carranza troops were forced to evacuate, but has no official word of the fight showing definitely that General Trevino had abandoned his position.

Mr. Arredondo called at the state department today and conferred with Secretary Lansing on arrangements for the reconvening of the American-Mexican commission. Beyond expressing the hope that the agreement reached would be approved, Mr. Arredondo said he was unable to speak. He appeared to believe that General Carranza would approve it. At the state and war departs officials had no information on the fighting at Chihuahua City.

SUBMARINE SIGHTED OF CAPE HATTERAS

New York, Dec. 1.—An unidentified vessel, riding low in the water without the usual green and red side lights and believed to be a submarine was sighted forty miles east of Diamond shoals, Cape Hatteras, at 10:30 p. m., November 29, from the bridge of the American steamship Crofton Hall, according to officers of the ship on her arrival here from South American ports. The unknown craft, the officers said, was moving in a southerly direction following a Spanish sailing ship.

Thinking it might be a small boat or barge adrift they started to render assistance, but as they changed their course the unknown drew off and the lights were extinguished.

MONTHLY BANQUET IS SCHEDULED FOR DEC. 11

The monthly meeting and banquet of the Fort Wayne Rotary club will be held on the evening of December 11 instead of December 4, as previously announced. OVER 300 INCREASED THEIR POLICIES

Walters Completes Trip in Interest of Pennsy Relief.

A canvass of the Western and the Chicago Terminal divisions by I. Fred Walters, the representative of those districts on the advisory board of the Pennsylvania Voluntary Relief association, which covered a period of four weeks, resulted in getting 300 members of the department to take advantage of the proposition to increase the amount of the sick and death benefits of their policies and also succeeded in getting a number of men not already in the department to join it. A number of the members informed Mr. Walters that it was their intention to increase the amount of their policies in January or February and before the close of the winter it is quite probable that over 600 members will have increased their benefits at the small additional costs offered by the association. A description of the plan was published by The Sentinel several months ago. Mr. Walters resumed his duties as watchman at the Clinton street entrance to the shops this morning. During his absence that duty was performed by William Sams, who has resumed his work in the machine shop.

TO DAKOTA IN AUTOMOBILE.

W. Miller and C. Craig left this morning in an automobile for South Dakota, where they expect to reside in the future. These young men were formerly farmers residing near Youngstown, O. Two or three months ago they started west in an automobile and when they reached this city it developed that considerable repairs to the machine were needed. They put the automobile in a repair shop and took employment at the Pennsylvania power station with General Foreman W. H. Sherbondy, expecting to resume the journey in a few days. They remained two months, however, and then resigned much to the regret of Mr. Sherbondy ,who says they are exceptionally fine fellows and good employes. They expect to reach their destination before the holidays.

NEW NAMES ON PAY ROLLS.

Foreman Joseph Schwartzkopf, of the punch press department of the General Electric works, made some additions to the working force this morning. Among the new employes are C. J. Noll, former manager of the Hoosier meat market; C. H. Etter, formerly a conductor on the interurban line; Charles Hillman, R. Shaw, Frank Jacobs and L. Horner, all but the last named being punch press operators. Mr. Horner is a grander.

VISITING FRIENDS IN LOGANSPORT

They have made similar visits every year for over a quarter of a century. Mr. Entradacher is a patternmaker at the Pennsylvania shops.

OLD MACHINIST RESUMES WORK.

Martin Nagle, who learned the machinists' trade in the Wabash shops, and worked there over a third of a century, is at his machine again, after an illness of two months, a part of which he spent in the west. Machinist John W. McCoy, who was sick over a week, also reported for duty at the Wabash shops this morning.

STEAM PLANT INSPECTIONS.

Machinist Frank L. Hebert and Boilermaker H. W. G. Heine have just completed the fall inspection of the boiler and steam stationary plants on the Western division of the Pennsylvania, which occupied two weeks. This is a task these gentlemen perform twice each year and they have been at it a dozen or more years.

VISITING IN MICHIGAN.

F. H. Gaylord and family are at Detroit to spend the remainder of the week with relatives and friends and Mr. and Mrs. U. E. Trease are in Flint, and later will visit in Detroit until next Monday. Both gentlemen are employed in the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop.

TO TOLEDO ON BUSINESS.

A. S. Courtney, of the valuation department of the Pennsylvania, went to Toledo this morning on business connected with the department. Mr. Courtney's territory extends over all of the lines of the Northwest system.

FOOT BADLY BRUISED.

J. K. Whitman, employed in the Pennsylvania boiler shop, sustained injuries to one of his feet at 8 o'clock this morning, which will probably disable him a week or two. A heavy piece of metal fell upon the member.

Albert Forest, of the testing department of the General Electric works, is spending several days at his home in Angola.

Yard Engineer A. C. McMillan, of the Pennsylvania, is taking a few days off duty to look after some private business.

V. C. Miller, a painter at the Pennsylvania shops, and his wife and children, have gone to Canton, Ohio, to visit relatives a few days.

Pennsylvania Machinist Fred Romary joined his wife at Bluffton Wednesday night and brought her home last evening. Mrs. Romary was at Bluffton a week visiting relatives.

Machinist C. N. Kickley, of the Pennsylvania erecting shop, was taken ill this morning and had to return to his home. J. J. Ferguson, of the same shop, is also sick and off duty.

A. F. Klein and F. X. Miller, Pennsylvania blacksmiths, and John Moring, helper, are sick and off duty. C. B. Watterson, of the same shop, is off duty on account of the death of his brother.

Miss Elnor Carpenter, stenographer for Foreman Henry Peters, of the tool supply department at the General Electric works, was unable to report for duty this morning on account of sickness.

O. C. Wright, assistant engineer of motive power of the Pennsylvania, who spent a few days at his office this week, has returned to Cleveland to resume the special work he is engaged in at that place.

Mrs. W. F. O'Conner and Mrs. R. W. Shaw, whose husbands are employed in the Pennsylvania shops, left at noon today for Chicago, where they will remain until Sunday afternoon, the guests of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Sheckler have returned from Bucyrus, O., where they spent Thanksgiving with his parents, and he resumed his duties in the piecework department of the Pennsylvania this morning.

Tony Rodney, formerly of the Electric works; Joseph F. Rodney, formerly of the Wagner Manufacturing company, Sidney, O., have taken employment at the Pennsylvania boiler shop.

Joseph Carr, manager of the Columbus Panhandle football team, which played the Friars yesterday, is an old friend of Master Mechanic E. E. Griest, of this city, whom he succeeded as manager of the Columbus team. Mr. Carr was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Griest last evening, leaving at 11 o'clock for Columbus.

William Lepper, of the Pennsylvania planing mills, and his wife, who reside at 1402 Francis street, are entertaining Edward Lagerman, of Dayton, Ohio, who came here to attend the Hartman-Lagerman wedding yesterday, he being a brother to the bride. Mr. Lagerman will remain over Sunday with his Fort Wayne relatives.

One of the happiest Thanksgiving dinner parties in the city yesterday was at the home of G. H. McDowell, of the General Electric works, who resides at 2202 Broadway. His mother, Mrs Sarah McDowell, an invalid who had not left her room for twenty-two months, was in the family circle at the dinner table for the first time since she was taken sick and this added very much to the enjoyment of the occasion.

Frank L. Longsworth, of Van Wert Ohio, an old time railway and shop man in this city, and Mrs. Longsworth, have been the guests of Agent and Mrs. H. E. Allison for two or three days. Mr. Longsworth was employed by the Nickel Plate several years and later at the Electric works, where he was in the shipping department. Health Without Medicine

"Well, well, one learns something new every day. I never knew it was such a luxury to live until a couple of days after I began to eat 'O-Eat-It.' Simply because, like most people, I had been going on for years in the same old way. Thought I was feeling pretty fair, only constipated and bilious once in a while, with headaches and lazy feeling in the morning. Kind of expected it now and then. But, after eating that luscious regulating food, 'O-Eat-It,' I feel such a sense of lightness, well-being, energy and clear-headedness, it seems a new world."

Why? The bran in the various grains that grow is known to be the most effective, easiest, most thorough bowel, body and liver regulator known to man. Heretofore bran has never been used successfully in food. It was always heavy, tasteless. By a remarkable new process, "O-Eat-It," made up of over one-third of grain-bran—a greater quantity than ever used in food—is made extraordinarily luscious and light as a feather. It is a combination of rich grains—nature's greatest builder of tissue, brawn, blood and brain.

"O-Eat-It" takes the place of the white-flour bread and breakfast foods that cause so much constipation, clogging of livers and stagnation of vital organs.

"O-Eat-It" comes in crisp, ready-to-eat slices of nut-brown toast, eaten as it is, or served in a variety of delicious ways.

Stop constipation, biliousness, headache and tiredness. Regulate the liver, feel fine all over all the time. Give it to the children, too.

"O-Eat-It" is sold by grocers, 25c for a large sanitary package, or sent direct on receipt of price by O-Eat-It Company, 264 Studebaker Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

If your grocer does not have it, you will find it on sale and recommended by the following grocers: The Aurentz, A. Hetrick, H. P. Brinkroeger, Central Grocery, H. L. Cline, Coverdale & Archer, F. Dickmeyer & Sons, Wm. Dochman & Sons, Fred Freese, Getz, Sharp & Orr, Frank Heit, Heiny's Grocery, Nick Klug, C. G. Reinkensmeier, F. Shearer, J. Sulzer, Wayne Grocery and White Fruit House. Gay Colors on Coats for Girls

[By Betty Brown.]

In her fuzzy wuzzy coat in green and red and brown and blue our little sister doesn't care how soon Jack Frost comes along.

Many new juvenile coats are in these gay colored mixtures and are trimmed with fur cloth in mole or navy blue or some other dark color. The big patch pockets will keep a small person's hands warm even if she doesn't carry a muff. Anyway they are in good style on school coats.

FINAL RITES VERY SIMPLE

Remains of Emperor Francis Joseph Are Consigned to the Tomb.

CEREMONY LASTS BUT 12 MINUTES

Neither Music Nor Flowers to Mark Disposition of the Dead.

Vienna, Nov. 30.—(Via London, Dec. 1.)—In the presence of Emperor Charles, the young crown prince, Francis Joseph Otto, the kings of Bulgaria, Bavaria and Saxony, the German crown prince and a large number of Teutonic princes and special envoys from neutral governments, the remains of the late emperor, Francis Joseph, were buried this afternoon.

The services were extremely simple and lasted only twelve minutes. Emperor Charles, the German princes and the relatives of the late emperor were grouped about the high altar in the Cathedral at the foot of which the coffin rested on a black catafalqua. The great body of the Cathedral was crowded with government officials, army representatives, members of the court and of the neutral diplomatic corps. The mouring costumes of the many women and neutral officials contrasted sharply with the splendid uniforms which most of the high mourners wore, including the new emperor and other rulers. No flowers were used, everything connected with the ceremony being of severe plainness and simplicity.

The body was conveyed to the Cathedral over a long route through the city, enormous crowds lining the streets as it passed. Emperor Charles and the other high mourners awaited the coffin seated around the catafalque. They rose as it was borne into the Cathedral, carried by eight pall bearers burning tapers, and shortly afterwards Cardinal Piffl began the brief service, which was terminated by the Kyrie Eleison.

The absence of any organ accompaniment gave additional simplicity to the service. After the cardinal had sprinkled the coffin, it was replaced in the hearse by the pall bearers and taken to the capuchin crypt, where it will remain. The mourners followed the hearse on foot to the crypt, where another service terminated the ceremony. Throughout the obsequies the young crown prince, who is four years old, stood close behind his father, dressed in ermine. Close to him were the two sons and daughters of the late archduke and heir apparent, Francis Ferdinand, by his morganatic marriage.

CHRISTMAS BUSINESS WILL MAKE NEW RECORD

Extraordinary Transportation Conditions Necessitates Early Shopping.

Because of the general prosperity it is expected that Christmas will mean more commercially this year than on most other years, and that perhaps an unprecedented volume of business will be done, notwithstanding the advance in prices. This will mean an exceptionally busy holiday season for all store employes, for the postal department and for the express companies.

Express companies are asking their representatives to co-operate in the movement for early shopping, and all express offices have received labels marked "Don't open until Christmas." Patrons are to be asked to send their packages early and will be provided with the labels.

A crisis arises every year, as regular as the holiday season comes around, for the stores, postoffices and express companies. This year, on account of the extraordinary conditions of transportation prevailing at the present time, the need for early shopping is accentuated. The railroads are already working under high pressure. If the holiday buying and shipping season is made to stretch over the entire month of December the services in all lines is much more adequate than if the entire Christmas movement is jammed into the week preceding Christmas.

Eleventh hour shoppers and shippers themselves are the worst sufferers. If the buying is done early, the salesman has more time to give to the customer, he is more courteous and the shopper has a much better line to select from. It is probably safe to say every Fort Wayne merchant at the present time has practically his complete Christmas stock.

NO APPETITE, NO ENERGY, BILIOUS?

Want Quick Relief? Take a Wineglassful of Wonderful Tollo Water

Your liver is fairly begging for help! Too much rich food and not enough exercise upsets the stomach and clogs the bile tubes in the liver, causing constipation, biliousness, bad breath, coated tongue, jumpy nerves, sleeplessness and a general run-down feeling.

Get a 15-cent bottle of Tollo Water from the drug store—drink a third of a tumblerful in a glass of plain water before breakfast. In half an hour it will flush out the bile tubes—really bathe the liver, expel the sour bile and fermenting waste from the system and make you feel fine.

Tollo Water comes from Dawson Springs, the Kentucky health resort. It does not act like drugs and oils, but flushes the stomach, liver and bowels in Nature's way.—Advertisement.

HUMAN BONFIRE IN CHIHUAHUA STREETS

Bodies of Dead Soldiers Burned After Villa Takes City.

Juarez, Mex., Dec. 1.—The remnants of a Carranzista army that fled from Chihuahua City after a battle with Villa troops are in camp today on the plains south of Juarez. They brought with them the story of the evacuation of the city after four days and nights of fighting.

The dead were piled high in the streets when they left, and had been covered with oil and ignited, they said, the light guiding the entry of the Villista force and shadowing the retreat of the de facto troops.

Soon after 1 a. m. yesterday, the first troop train brought the ragged survivors of the de facto force, which had escaped to the north. Accompanying this train was a sanitary section consisting of three second-class coaches and one "White Cross" hospital car.

Wounded Fill Hospitals.

In these cars were more than 100 wounded soldiers of the Carranza command. The hospitals here are filled with wounded and volunteer nurses are working to care for the officers and men who fell in the battle.

The troop trains which brought this surviving force to the border left Chihuahua City at 10:30 Monday morning, proceeding to a point near Terrazaz station, where a burned bridge forced them to transfer to another train Wednesday.

The troops brought back many of their field pieces. These are parked in the custom-house yards with garlands of "jerked beef" hanging from their muzzles. Women camp followers shared in the retreat. Some of them had children, said to have been born on the battlefield.

Dead Cover Streets.

Between the Chihuahua cemetery and Santa Rosa hill the dead covered the streets, refugees said, many having died days before. Along the streets near the railroad station and surrounding the station one refugee said he saw many cavalry horses with carbines and sabers attached to the saddles, the Carranza cavalrymen having abandoned them in order to leave the city on the troop train.

Along Zarco avenue, according to the refugees, the fighting had been fiercest, and many civilians had been killed there and in other parts of the city by shell fire and rifle balls.

The houses lining this street were pitted with bullet marks of the battle, a Syrian refugee said, and many shell holes were to be seen in the houses in the heart of the city.

Retreat Resembles Rout.

All of the refugees agreed that Carranza troops were winning during the first four days of the fighting, but either because of a shortage of ammunition or lack of morale they abandoned the city early on the fifth morning of the battle, seeking safety in flight in all directions.

The taking of Santa Rosa hill, which has always been known as the "Key to Chihuahua," was said by one foreign refugee to have started the retirement of the Carranza forces, which, they say, resembled a rout before the last train left.

DRYS HOPE TO WIN ALL INDIANAPOLIS

Two Wards Without Bars and Temperance Folk Will Attack Others.

Indianapolis, Dec. 1.—Announcement of a victory for the anti-saloon forces in their campaign to make the First ward dry by remonstrance under the Moore law, has been followed by general talk among both the wet and dry elements of the city concerning the proposed campaign of the drys to make the entire city dry territory.

When the last saloon license in the First ward has expired it will be the second time a ward in Indianapolis has become dry under the Moore law. Saloons were driven from the Second ward in the summer of 1905, shortly after the passage of the law. All of the townships of Marion county, except Center, have been dry for a number of years.

The only saloons in the county at the present time outside of Indianapolis are two on the Center township side of the town of Beech Grove. Both of these saloons are in the portion of Center township outside the city limits. E. S. Shumaker, superintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon league, asserted last night in discussing the situation, that under the provisions of the Proctor local option law, a portion of a township outside the city limits is a unit for an option vote.

The county commissioners will begin work at an early date on the remonstrance presented to make the Fourth ward dry. The names of a majority of the voters of the ward have been obtained for the remonstrance.

The dry forces are circulating a petition to make the Ninth ward saloonless. The Ninth ward includes Irvington and a large portion of the territory in the eastern part of the city north of Washington street. Much talk of a remonstrance in the Sixth and the Seventh wards, both downtown, has been heard, but both dry and wet leaders asserted that they did not know of a proposed contest in either ward at the present time.

BELIEVE DISEASE IS NOT CATTLE PLAGUE

Optimism Pervades Stock Yards as Test Result is Awaited.

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 1.—Tests were continued here today in the effort of federal and state authorities to ascertain whether the infection discovered in cattle at the Kansas City stock yards is foot and mouth disease or a milder epidemic. Experts have expressed the opinion that the inoculation tests upon healthy cattle, horses and swine should show a reaction soon and results were looked for today. A general optimism pervaded the stock yards and the veterinarians announced themselves as almost convinced that the infection is not foot and mouth disease. However, no lessening of vigilance is permitted.

ENDS LIFE BECAUSE HE OVERSLEEPS TOO MUCH

Hard to Keep a Job When He Can't Get Up Early in Morning.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—Records of numerous coroner's offices contain verdicts showing persons committed suicide because they couldn't get enough sleep, but it remained for Kalamazoo, Mich., to produce the first man who killed himself because he slept too much.

The body of the man was found in the lake at the foot of Greenleaf avenue yesterday. He had shot himself through the head. At first his identity was a mystery, the only clew being a notebook found on the beach in which was written:

"Give me the blame. I did it with a revolver. W. JANSE."

Later, however, it was learned he was William Van Noordwigh, of Kalamazoo, who came to Chicago ten days ago to look for a job. A telegram received last night from Kalamazoo reads:

"Developments on the Van Noordwigh case show he wrote a postcard several days ago to Peter de Korte, his brother-in-law, saying:

"There are plenty of jobs I can get in Chicago, but I oversleep every morning."

Relatives say he often found it difficult to awaken in the morning, and this caused him to lose jobs.

During the last few years refrigeration has steadily received more and more attention in Russia. A boom in cold storage construction was expected there when the war broke out.

Her Muff is Now on Her Coat, See?

This lady is wearing her muff 'way down at the bottom of her coat!

When she wants to warm her hands she gathers up the floating panels at either side of her coat, and there she finds each fur band is a real muff with a place made for her hands.

The coat-with-the-muff comes from the studio of Mme. Alla Ripley of the Fashion Art League of American and is creating quite a furore in the fashion world. The model shown here is sulphur-tinted velour with blue fox trimmings. The collar is banded with brocade in gorgeous colorings.

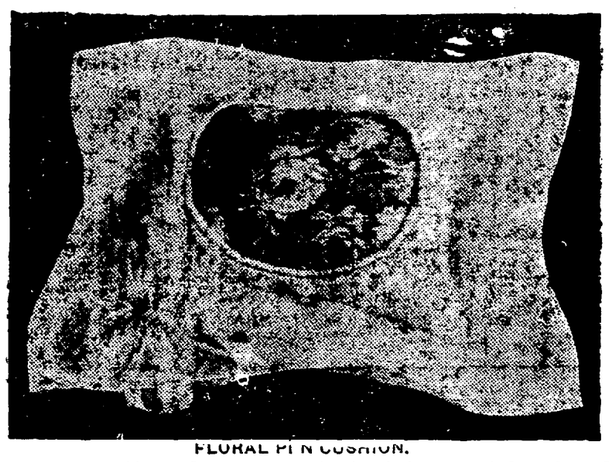
MEDALLION PINCUSHION FOR CHRISTMAS.



FLORAL PIN CUSHION.

[By Biddy Bye.]

The modern pin cushion is sometimes as intricate as a milliner's creation. One of the simple kind which is not too elaborate to be thrown away as soon as it is soiled is shown in the accompanying illustration.

The foundation may be scrim, net, voile, lace, mull or any soft material. In the middle of one-half a medallion of colored flowers cut from brocaded ribbon is appliqued.

Then the edges of the material are turned under in a deep hem, the foundation is basted in place about a small hard cushion and fastened by long stitches of soft baby ribbon, which is knotted into a rosette at one corner.

Any piece bag contains bits of handsome material from which a variety of these cushions could be manufactured.

NOW COMES THE FOUR-PIECE SET.

[By Betty Brown.]

Of course, she's proud of her muff, and she is very proud of her "set" of velvet and fur, for fashion decrees that all our small wrappings and accessories come in "sets" these days. The muff matches cap and cape, of course, and the hand bag matches all three.

The four-piece "set" that I show here is in bronze green velvet trimmed with mole and rabbit skin. The cape may be draped over the shoulder, or if you prefer it it may be tail stole fashion fronting to the waist line.

What is the Cause of Rheumatism, Lumbago and Gout?

(By Valentine Mott Pierce, M. D.)

Ever since Scheele, in 1775, discovered that uric acid was present in the system, scientific men have been making experimental investigations and it is the almost universal opinion of our best medical men that the presence of uric acid in the system in excess is the cause of rheumatism and gout. When the urate salts are precipitated out of the blood into the solid tissue-structure the person suffers from gout or rheumatism in the muscles and joints, or suffers from lumbago and pain in the back muscles. The first aim of the sufferer should be to get rid of the uric acid, which, in excess, is a poison, and to do this it is well to drink a pint of hot water morning and night—get tablets of Anuric at the nearest drug store and take them before meals regularly. Anuric will do no harm to the system and will carry off the uric acid by stimulating the kidneys. Then tincture iodine may be painted over the swellings, or in more severe cases hot linseed poultices may be applied to soothe the local symptoms. But most important is it for the suffer to abstain from red meat, to diet, drink only lemonade or hot water, and take Anuric for a considerable time as it causes a drainage outward of the uric acid and is many times more potent than lithia and usually one finds that it dissolves uric acid as hot water does sugar.—Advertisement.

HOW THE SUSPENDED SENTENCE LAW WORKS

In Nine and One-Half Years 32½ Per Cent. Have Violated Paroles.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 1.—Thirty-two and one-half per cent of the entire number of adults placed on probation under the Indiana suspended sentence law in the nine and one-half years it has been effective, violated their paroles, according to statistics which will be published in the annual report of the State Board of Charities and Corrections, now being compiled. The total number of suspended sentences granted in that time was 2,038.

After giving the citation of the law in the statutes, and saying the act was put into effect under the assumption that it is possible to reclaim law violators without fixing on them the stigma of having served a prison sentence, the report will say:

So far as this law applies to misdemeanants, there are no available statistics of results. When the sentence is to one of the state prisons or the reformatory, however, the probationed offender is thereafter in the legal custody and control of the institution to which he would have been sent, and is subject to the rules and regulations governing paroled prisoners. Of this class the institutions named keep accurate records.

"The law has been in force nine and one-half years. Its results so far as known, are seen in the following statistics. In the time indicated sentence was suspended in the cases of 2,038 men and women, 618 of whom otherwise would have had to go to the state prison, 1,368 to the reformatory, and 57 to the woman's prison.

"The law provides that if these persons on probation violate their parole, the original sentence shall be carried out. This was done in the case of 247 prisoners, while 417 others who were delinquent had not been apprehended up to the close of the fiscal year. These 664 constituted 32.58 per cent of the whole number placed on probation. Of the remaining 1,374, thirteen died, 268 were under supervision, 1,090 had been discharged, and three had been pardoned by the governor.

"The reports of the state prison show that the 618 men whose sentence to that institution was suspended, 66 were reporting at the close of the year, four had died, and 384 had been discharged. There were 164 delinquents, of whom 73 were apprehended and taken to prison.

"The reformatory reports 1,363 men placed under its supervision, 196 of whom were reporting at the close of the year, 6 had died, 676 had been discharged and 482 were delinquent. One hundred and sixty-five of these delinquent men had been sent to the reformatory.

"From the woman's prison the reports indicate 57 women under supervision, of whom 6 were reporting at the close of the year, 30 had been discharged and 18 were delinquent, 9 of the latter having been taken to the prison."

HEALTH FIRST FOR WORKERS OF NATION

Fight for Compulsory Insurance to Be Made in Twenty States.

BY J. B. O'DONNELL.

With this for its slogan the American Association for Labor legislation has assembled its forces for a gigantic campaign in the legislative halls of twenty states where compulsory health insurance bills will be voted on in 1917.

The bills, if made into law, will make health insurance universal for all manual workers and for others earning less than $100 a month.

The benefits to be provided are medical, surgical and nursing attendance; a cash benefit beginning on the fourth day of illness, equal to two-thirds of wages and given for a maximum of 26 weeks in one year; and a funeral benefit of not more than $50.

The cost of these benefits and their administration, amounting to about 3 per cent. of wages, is to be borne two-fifths by the employe, two-fifths by the employer, and one-fifth by the state.

The administration is to be vested in mutual associations of employers and employes organized according to localities and trades, and managed jointly by employers and workers under the general supervision of a state social insurance commission.

Mexico has two official names, "Estados Unidos Mexicanos" and "Republica Mexicano."

WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER

Says inside-bathing makes anyone look and feel clean, sweet and refreshed.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowel pores do.

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

A splendid health measure is to drink, before breakfast each day, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons, gases and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at the drug store but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside-bathing. Men and women who are accustomed to wake up with a dull, aching head or have furred tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, sallow complexion, others who have bilious attacks, acid stomach or constipation are assured of pronounced improvement in both health and appearance shortly.—Advertisement.

A love feast was held here on Monday evening. The Harlan Sheep Skin band, assisted by some at this place made the town ring. Mr. Stump from Garrett, Harry Hilgemann, of Fort Wayne, were the main speakers of the evening. Frank Baltz, of Auburn, was also present. FINDS $150 DIAMOND IN CROP OF GOBBLER

Chicago Man Now Glad He Didn't Switch from Turkey to Goose.

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 1.—Turkey undressed at 35 cents a pound did not deter Frank J. Hardy, 4451 North Racine avenue, from having his favorite bird for Thanksgiving dinner. It was a 16 pounder he bought from a grocer in Wilson avenue. In dressing the turkey Mr. Hardy found a diamond stud in the bird's crop. It was a pure white stone, weighing almost a karat, and valued at $150.

The Hardys had almost given up hope of having a turkey on account of the high cost. They discussed the matter for several days and eagerly watched the quotations on turkey in the newspapers. Thousands of families in Chicago had the same experience.

Cut Out Fancy Dishes.

Mrs. Hardy, who is an economical housewife, said she could get along without the usual fancy dishes, and this would lower the cost of the dinner. In their twenty-five years of married life they always had a turkey on Thanksgiving, and she was going to have one this year, even if they were high.

"'Wifey,'" said the husband, "just forget about that turkey. I'm not going to pay 30 or 35 cents a pound for an undressed bird. You know I always dress 'em myself. We'll have to get along with a goose or a duck."

Mr. Hardy changed his mind after seeing a cartoon of the boy picking pin feathers off a turkey. It reminded him of the old days on the farm at Janesville, Wis., and what if it did cost $5 for a Thanksgiving turkey, he was going to have one.

He Buys the Bird.

So the turkey was bought by Hardy himself, and yesterday morning he put on a long apron and dressed it. In dumping out the contents of the crop he saw something sparkle. He first thought it was a piece of glass. Picking it up, he saw it was a diamond stud.

The Hardys will have turkey on Christmas and New Year's.

YOUTHFUL BANDITS TO JUVENILE COURT

Four Boys Have Been Doing Wholesale Plundering, Say Police.

Four lads who have laughed at locksmiths and disregarded all rights of private ownership were bound over to the juvenile court from police court, Friday morning, when it was learned that they were all under sixteen years of age. The boys have tried all methods of time-tried thieves in carrying out their many petty robberies, police say.

The lads are: Clem Harshberger, 14; Ernest Glass, 13; Meredith Harshburger, 12, and Roy Potter, 15. The police say that the Potter youth is leader of the "gang" and has been taken at least ten times before on charges of petty thieving.

Patrolman Paul stopped the lads on Calhoun street early Thursday evening when he thought they acted strangely. He marched them to the station. There the boys are said to have confessed to many small crimes after stringent questioning by Detective Sergeants Papperi and Brennan.

Under cover of darkness the boys climbed a fire escape and pried open a window of the hall occupied by the Catholic Benevolent League at 209 East Main street, Thursday evening, the boys are said to have admitted. Many shining brass coat checks and ticket punches along with some picture cards were the extent of their loot, police claim. This is the act with which the boys are to be charged before Juvenile Judge John W. Eggeman, who has dealt with the lads several times before, it is said.

Potter is said to have confessed to taking two revolvers from the cash drawer of the Jefferson theater recently. He is also said to have taken $15 from a farmer, after the man had given Potter a "lift" on the highway a few weeks ago.

Fine Two Automobilists.

Everett Miller, jitney driver, charged with driving past a street car while the car was discharging passengers in front of the Orpheum theater, Thursday evening, was fined $5 and costs. He also admitted driving the car without holding a chauffeur's license.

Charles Mumper, son of a Monroeville farmer, drove his father's car to town Thursday evening and allowed the machine to stand on the street without having lights lit, it was charged. He was fined $5 and costs. Mumper claimed the lights were lit when he left the car.

Other Police Court Cases.

Four boys, all under twenty years old, from Cleveland, who are just out on a "trip" and who were arrested in the Wabash yards, Thursday, were released after pleading guilty to loitering charges. The lads gave their names as Joseph Grose, machinist; Otto Blank, pugilist; Albert Hose, printer, and Gerald Copland, clerk.

Not a fine was assessed on charges of public intoxication. Case of Washington Shirey, 68, was continued until December 2. Charles Gerard will be tried December 5. James Hunter was released.

John Koehler, saloonkeeper, charged with assault on a thirteen-year-old girl, will be tried on December 11. He is at liberty under $2,000 bond.

Defense will be presented in the case of Richard Pomper, Lafayette street saloonkeeper, charged with selling liquor to minors and keeping gambling devices in his saloon, on Tuesday morning.

Case of Daniel Long, charged with selling a mortgaged cash register, will be tried on Saturday. James Wilson and James McDonald, charged with vagrancy, were released. Frank Brolen and Adam Copeland, charged with loitering, were allowed to leave town.

AT THE JEFFERSON.

Fannie Ward in "The Years of the Locust" Again Today.

Fannie Ward in "The Years of the Locust" had its premiere showing at the Jefferson yesterday to crowds that fairly tested the capacity of the playhouse afternoon and evening. In this production, Fannie Ward surpasses her previous achievements and receives brilliant support which establishes "The Years of the Locust" one of the foremost Paramount releases of the year.

It has to do with an unhappy marriage to a fake oil field promoter, his exposure, his flight and supposed suicide, the return of an old lover, marriage, home in the African diamond fields and the return of the supposed dead husband, a furious battle with diamond robbers—and, of course, a happy ending.

AN ENGAGING NOVELTY.

Gowns Made While You Wait at the New Palace.

Remember the signs that adorned cobbler shops a few years ago, "Shoes hat soaled wile U wait?" Well at the New Palace in Hugo Jansen's "Fashion Shop" a male designer makes "gowns while you wait," and you don't have to wait long, either. He uses bolts of silks, laces, etc., and creates upon four beautiful girl models gowns of the latest vogue, the while other members of this clever company are diverting the audience with song and comedy. It is the most engaging novelty that Fort Wayne's vaudeville-going world has been afforded in weeks. The company is headed by Corr and Latell and Jimmy O'Burrell.

Joe L. Browning's lugubrious mannerisms and funny grin that occasionally breaks through his gloomy aspect is a fun-maker par excellence. As the long-faced minister talking nonsense to his flock, Browning is great, while his burlesque on grand opera is even funnier. As an evidence of how completely he can capture and hold an audience he closes with a serious recitation that is as enthusiastically greeted as any of his fun-making.

Natalie and Ferrari's dancing revue in which they burlesque the latest nut notion, "Walking the Dog," and introduce an original waltz notion; Murphy, Howard and Rudolph's singing in solo and trio numbers, Warren and Dietrich's comedy and songs, and the Avendo duo in the xylophone and piano are other delights on this splendid program.

There will be but one performance Saturday evening at the New Palace, the show starting at 8:30 o'clock.

Princeton, Ind., Dec. 1.—Competition between two coal companies here reduced the price several cents a bushel today. Coal has been sold at 19 cents a bushel. "It Is About All There is To Store Keeping Anyway"

Was the way one of our famous merchants put his closing remarks about service. He did not mean the kind of service that is detected in brass buttons, big auditoriums, extravagant furnishings.

He was thinking of full stocks, ample selections and certain dependable quality, of having goods when needed, and knowing when they are needed.

He was thinking of kind, painstaking salespeople who reflect the desires of the management to help you.

Store service will soon be put to severe tests—the Holidays are approaching and we shall manfully do our duty to give you, our friends, the kind of service that the great merchant was thinking of when he spoke the words quoted.

CITY WEIGHMASTER HAS A BUSY DAY

Sixty-Four Loads of Grain and Hay Weighed—Wheat Prices to Advance.

B. W. Skelton, the city weighmaster, had a busy day Friday. Thanksgiving day seemed to act as a stimulant. Sixty-four loads was the total number weighed at the city scales Friday morning. Of this number thirty-four were hay, twenty-three of corn and seven of oats. Prices were rather high. Hay sold for $10.00 to $12.00, while the topnotch price on corn was 98 cents a bushel. Oats sold for 54 to 57 cents.

A local miller who has been watching and studying the markets states that the price of wheat will make an advance by Saturday. The price of flour has not been advanced, due to the fact that this raise in the price of wheat has been anticipated.

All other markets were quiet. The receipts were small. The live stock market is also due for a change soon, say local dealers and packers. However, the direction is not quoted.

The price of hen fruit remains above sight. Reports have been received that eggs sold for 50 cents a dozen Wednesday morning.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—Scantiness of deliveries here on December contracts had a bullish influence today on wheat. Prospects of a better distribution of railway cars affording some relief of the wheat congestion between here and the Atlantic seaboard tended also to lift prices. The opening, which ranged from the same as Wednesday's finish to 3c higher, with December at $1.71@1.71¼ and May at $1.77½@1.79½, was followed by moderate further gains and then something of a reaction.

Corn rose with wheat. After opening ½c to ¾c higher the market showed a disposition to sag.

Strength developed in oats as a result of the advance of other cereals.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Dec. 1.—Resumption of trading over the holiday was marked by a continuance of breadth and strength with rails in greater demand. Union Pacific selling ex-dividend soon rose almost 2 points with a point or more for Reading, Rock Island and Missouri Pacific issues. United States Steel led the industrials, regaining over half of its regular and extra dividends of 2¼ per cent. American Car, Crucible Steel, Republic Iron, Pittsburg Coal, United States Rubber, Pacific Mail, Montana Power and active metals were higher by material fractions to 2 points.

Other strong features of the forenoon, some of which receded 1 to 2 points from top levels on extensive gains profit-taking included Utah, Anaconda and Chile Copper, Central Leather, International Paper, American Writing Paper preferred, Colorado Fuel, Philadelphia company, Corn Products and fertilizers and Ohio Gas, the latter rising over 8 points to the new record of 113. A further keen inquiry for rails, which embraced all branches of that division, occurred in the second hour, with increased gains in investment shares and additional advances in minor issues.

vision to which our cavalry gave way was unable to halt, our progress.

"The Danube army has forced its way by fighting across the Niaslov lowlands and is approaching the course of the Argeshu in the direction of Bucharest.

"The Rumanians besides sustaining enormous casualties yesterday lost more than 2,500 men in prioners and 21 cannon, among which were three mortars. The captures reported yesterday are not included in these figures.

"In Dobrudja the enemy attacked the Bulgarian left wing [illegible] to avert a failure. Two of them were destroyed in front of our barricades."

Another attack by entente forces against the German-Bulgarian lines both northwest and east of Monastir has proved futile, the war office announced today.

RUSSIANS CLAIM SUCCESS.

Petrograd, Dec. 1.—The Russian offensive has been successful along the whole Rumanian frontier south of Kirtlibaba, says the official statement issued today by the Russian war department. In spite of violent German counter attacks, the statement adds, the Russians occupied the whole range of heights.

GERMANS IN VIOLENT ATTACKS.

Paris, Dec. 1.—A violent counter attack was made by German and Bulgarian troops yesterday on the Macedonian front near Grunishte, east of the Cerna river bend. The war office announces that the Serbians succeeded in retaining all their positions except one trench.

Today's official report shows there was no change during the night in the situation on the front in France.

WILL DEFEND BUCHAREST.

Rumanians Prepare for Desperate Encounter to Save Capital.

London, Dec. 1.—The Exchange Telegraph company says it has received information from Zurich by way of Rome that the Rumanian military authorities are making preparations for a desperate defense of Bucharest. The civil population is said to have evacuated the city and the government officials have retired to a town on the Russian frontier. This probably refers to the Rumanian town of Jassy, to which the government officials and diplomatic corps was said several days ago to have gone.

"Yesterday evening the enemy attempted to raid our trenches south of Neuve Chappelle but was driven off," says today's official report from the Franco-Belgian front. "South of Armentieres the enemy's line was entered by us in several places during the night.

"Beyond the usual artillery activity there is nothing to report."

render his office, that of suerintendent of public instruction, until March 15, so he has plenty of time in which to plan his future. Mr. Greathouse, however, is not one to worry about the high price of foodstuffs. A sharp decline in prices would worry him more because he has acres and acres of river bottom land in southern Indiana which produces record crops of corn, wheat and oats. Besides his farming interests, he will have other business matters to occupy him at least eight hours each day.

A $361 car, plus $15 freight, plus $100 for electric starter, plus $13.70 for changing from 3-inch to 3½ inch tires, and, if you want demountable rims add about $20 more. Shock absorbers would cost another $10 to $20; a mohair top costs $25 to $30. Oh, yes, a ventilating wind shield is $10. Change your lamps for lamps with dimmers is another outlay of $6 or more. Now you have parted with about $550 and still have a $361 car, without a speedometer. So, why not buy a

O, MAMA! O, MAMA!!

Look! Look! Look!

You know I was over the Rhine last week and I spoke to Old Leikauf, but he talks so fast I could not make out what he told me. I think he told me he would start a shop on Calhoun street. I bet it will be a dandy. Now you and I, grospap and grosma will go and get the meat, dad can stay to home and rock the kiddies to sleep, he doesn't do much anyhow. Now to find the place! It's on Calhoun street; No., well you all know where the Orpheum theater is. Well go there and start right where they sell tickets, then step off 93 steps and you will land right at our door. Now some of you girls that are not up so high will have to take a few more steps and you girls that have hoppel or woppel scirts on will have to still take a few more steps for you know you can step only so far or something may happen when you get thru. Tell (Frank) to play you the Wacht am Rhine or the song composed by J. L. called the Pigs Are in the Clover thru several times. Will soon be over; it's a good one but there is not much of it. Now you all whant to come, if you don't buy any meat it will be just the same. Frank will have a smile for you. All tell him to tell you about Jake and the dog. He is full of the Old Nick. Now we just had to start this shop for we hadn't the room at the packing house; we are so crowded; have all the pens, all the hooks and everything filled with hogs and two carloads on the tracks. Must sell lots of meat to make room and think we will for we are going to make the price so low that you will think some one is trying to cut the high cost of living. I am going to quit. I could write all night thru, not tell you one-half—Oh! yes, we got a sasage maker. He whont tell me where he is from; looks to me like a fellow from Holland, but talk about pork sasage! Just try it and you will always be thinking of, wurst he calls it, some more pork sasage. Just ask by that name. He is a funny fellow; he whont talk. some times I think he is deaf and dum, but seems to be a fellow. Oh! yes, my sweetheart quit her job. Says there is not work enough about. She thinks she is a bucher now. You ought to see her cut pork chops. She has me beat and talk about slicing liver! I whont say much about that. You ought to see her with her little red coat and bucher apron on. She makes a dandy looking bucher. Why she will bucher hogs pretty soon if she keeps on. Next week I am going to tell you how you can make a trip to N. Y. thru to Atlantic City 4 of yous; it will cost you all told about $29.80 or about $7.95 a piece. We are still going to keep our shop open on Wells street, ueber the Rhine. Don't forget to come over and see the kid and bring all the kiddies along. Farmers don't forget us on your stock. Call us up or come over now, our shop is on the same side the Orpheum is on.

Good-bye. Hope to see you all,

Ueber the Rhine.

Now don't forget to count your step or you will miss the place, for I stept it off, I think I am right. I am a little bow legged but made allowance for that.

CHANG HSUN MAN OF THE HOUR IN CHINA

Peking, Oct. 30.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—General Chang Hsun is the man of the hour in China.

Members of all parties and factions are keeping their eyes on the rugged old warrior, who has control of the railway connecting Shanghai with Peking, and holds the most important stragtegic position in China.

Chang Hsun is the military governor of Anhwei province, and is supposed to live in that province together with his powerful army. But Anhwei province is not located along the important north and south railway connecting Peking and Shanghai. Consequently General Chang Hsun has moved his forces to Hsuchowfu, in Kiangsu province, where he commands the railway and holds a powerful club over the head of the Peking government, as well as over the various factions which are endeavoring to upset the present government.

Many prominent Chinese who desire to travel from South China and Shanghai to Peking are compelled to make the trip from Shanghai to Tien-Tsin by sea, as they dare not pass through Hsuchowfu and run the risk of falling into Chang Hsun's hands.

The conference of military leaders, which General Chang Hsun recently held at Hsuchowfu, created a great hubbub in political circles. This meeting was called for the purpose of forestalling action on the part of the parliamentarians unfavorable to the military, and was a vital factor in preventing Tang Shao-yi's acceptance of the ministry of foreign affairs. The conference adopted resolutions against the appointment of Mr. Tang Shao-yi, and also resolved against the endorsement of the present minister of justice, Mr. Chang Yao-tseng. Parliamentarians railed against the Hsuchowfu conference, and have adopted resolutions denunciatory of General Chang Hsun and his associates, but the intrepid old warrior has not been moved by any such action and sternly refused to retire to his post in Anhwei province.

Demands have been made by the press and public for the punishment of General Chang Hsun. He has been denounced as a military tyrant, who is defying all organized authority in China. However, the government is apparently powerless to drive him out of his important position. A policy of reconciliation has been adopted, and he is mentioned as a possible candidate for the vice presidency.

It is unlikely, however, that he would accept the office of vice president, were it offered him on condition that he comes to Peking. He is more powerful at Hsuchowfu than any other man in China, and has shown no disposition to yield this advantage.

General Chang Hsun is an old time Chinese, who has been prominent in military affairs for many years. He first came into prominence in Szechuen province, and was later commander-in-chief of Kansu province. In 1911 he was commander-in-chief of Nanking when that city was attacked by the revolutionary forces, and made a masterly retreat to the northern bank of the Yang-tse river. He then commandeered a large quantity of the rolling stock of the railroad between Nanking and Tien-tsin, and made it a movable camp for his forces. He waged war in a barbarous manner, but won great admiration from military men by the wonderful discipline he maintained among his troops and the effective manner in which he policed the railway. His support of the crumpling Manchu dynasty was very effective, and after the republic was established it was necessary for the Peking government to reconcile him by giving him important posts. He has stoutly refused to accept any appointment which would carry him away from the railway which is the life blood of China, and is building up a great army which is loyal to him rather than to the central government.

General Chang Hsun has stubbornly refused to have his queue cut off and all of his soldiers have followed his example. Chang Hsun's troops are always referred to by the Chinese further north as the pig-tail soldiers. They are notorious for their brutality, and are more feared than any other troops in China.

Danger Signal.

If the fire bell should ring would you run and stop it or go and help to put out the fire? It is much the same way with a cough. A cough is a danger signal as much as a fire bell. You should no more try to suppress it than to stop a fire bell when it is ringing, but should cure the disease that causes the coughing. This can nearly always be done by taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Many have used it with the most beneficial results. It is especially valuable for the persistent cough that so often follows a bad cold or an attack of the grip. Mrs. Thomas Beeching, Andrews, Ind., writes: "During the winter my husband takes cold easily and coughs and coughs. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best medicine for breaking up these attacks and you cannot get him to take any other." Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

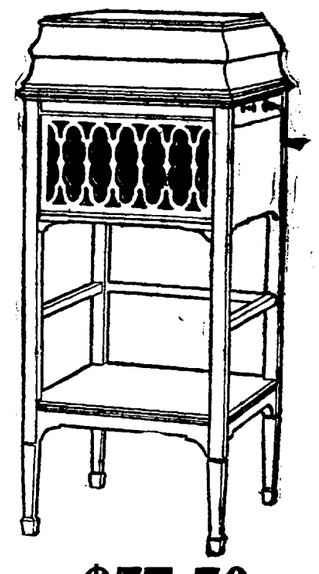
The New Premier Built Like a Violin



A TALKING machine is as much of a necessity in the modern home as any piece of furniture. The usual buyer, however, is not well posted as to the qualities essential in a good talking machine. Nationa ladvertising in magazines does not make for quality in the product; for the buyer must pay the cost and the selling price is therefore raised to meet this additional expense. In a talking machine four features are essential; a quiet, durable, dependable motor, a reproducer or sound box of scientific construction, an amplifying chamber correctly proportioned and built of laminated wood throughout, and the case should be pleasing in design, convenient, well constructed and finished.

In competition with all other makes of phonographs, we have adopted the Premier, as we find the four "quality points" fully carried out. Come in and hear your favorite record.

CHINESE ARE COMING THROUGH AS NATION

National Consciousness Now Being Developed in Republic.

Shanghai, Oct. 30.—(Correspondance of The Associated Press.)—Recent celebrations throughout China of the fifth anniversary of the republic indicate clearly that the Chinese are undoubtedly developing a national consciousness. Lantern parades and patriotic meetings were held even in remote sections. The celebrations were not forced upon the public by official orders, as was the case frequently under Yuan Shi-Kai's regime.

Regret concerning the present troubled political situation characterized general comment of Chinese newspapers and Chinese speakers on the occasion of the anniversary celebration.

During the five years of its life the republic has had two important revolutions in addition to the movement which resulted in the overthrow of the Manchu dynasty. There have also been many local movements of minor importance, which resulted in considerable loss of life and property.

Bandit leaders and unscrupulous politicians have exploited various parts of the country, and there has been corruption to a degree not excelled by the Manchus. However, throughout all this disgle between parliamentarians and the military party, it has been possible to detect a growing love of independence and of country, which has finally resulted in the firm establishment of President Li Yuan-hung in the affections of the public.

Minor politicians, leaders of various political factions are carrying on a bitter struggle, but Li Yuan-hung stands clearly above these factional fights, and is generally regarded by the Chinese of all classes as an absolutely honest and patriotic leader.

NOTRE DAME COPS IN FINAL BATTLE

Bergman Stars for Catholics and Gets Two Markers on Cornhuskers.

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 1.—Nebraska closed the 1916 football season with a 20 to 0 defeat at the hands of Notre Dame here yesterday. The visitors from Indiana thus are fully avenged for the defeat administered them a year ago by the Cornhuskers. Notre Dame's victory was clean cut and decisive, and while it was expected, even the most loyal Nebraska followers were unprepared for so large a score.

Nebraska, save in the second period, generally was on the defensive. On one or two occasions a spirited attack was shown, but it was short-lived. The Hoosiers showed a variety of attacks that at times bewildered the home team.

Game Opens Lively.

Notre Dame started the game with a rush that all but swept Nebraska off its feet. Degree excelled Corey in the initial punts, and with the ball in their possession the visitors scarcely paused until Bergman, in a beautiful dodging sprint through center, carried the ball over for the first touchdown after seven minutes of the play.

Then the Cornhuskers braced and on straight line bucks were marching steadily toward the goal when a fumble by Coley spoiled the chances for a touchdown. Checked for the moment, Notre Dame came back as strong as ever, but found Nebraska a tough proposition. From the first seven minutes of play to the end of the half it was practically an even battle, the visitors excelling in forward passing and punting, and Nebraska having a slight advantage on mass play and short end runs. The score of 6 to 0 at the end of the half accurately measured the strength of the two teams.

Stars Retire Early.

Captain Cofall, Bechman and Coughlan were compelled to retire in the early stages of the game, but their absence did not appreciably weaken the power of attack. Bergman, Phelan, Miller and Degree were the stars of Notre Dame; Corey, Caley and Dobson were Nebraska's chief ground gainers.

Nebraska weakened in the third quarter, when Notre Dame made a second touchdown and goal, and repeated in the first period. Nebraska played with a left fullback and right fullback and no quarterback. The line-up:

Nebraska (0).		Notre Dame (20).
Corey (cap.)	L.E.	Whipple
Kositzsky	L.T.	Philbin
Rhodes	L.G.	Degree
Cameron	C.	Rydzewski

Caley	Q.B.	Phelan
Cook	L.H.B.	Bergman
Otoupalik	R.H.B.	Cofall (cap.)
Dobson	F.B.	Miller

BACHELORS LOSE TO BLUFFTON MAROONS

The Bachelors of this city lost the final game of the season to the fast Bluffton Maroon team at Bluffton yesterday, by a score of 7 to 0. The local eleven played a great game on defense but lacked the punch in carrying the ball.

Centlivre, star end of the Bachelors, was out of the game with a broken rib, and Strodel, the locals' center, was forced to retire at the end of the first quarter with a bum knee.

The touchdown of the Bluffton team was made when Bowers brought down a forward pass and made the marker.

FRIARS TAKE CLOSE GAME FROM COLUMBUS

In a battle that was slowed up considerably by mud the Friars defeated the Columbus Panhandles yesterday by a score of 3 to 0. There was a time about four minutes before the final whistle of the season blew when things looked sort of glum and there were possibilities of a 6 or a 7 going up on the scoreboard under the name "visitors," but Heinie Berger pulled a forward pass out of the clouds and the day was saved.

As it happens the Friars met the Panhandles here last year and defeated them by the same score when Skeets Lambert drop-kicked the pill over. This year Al Feeney did the work and it was a good one, too.

The field was slightly damp and muddy and fast running seemed almost out of the question when things started yesterday and the kicking game was favorite all the way through. Attempts at place kicks and drop kicks were numerous by both sides and punting came in for a big place. Here's where Cap Edwards had some luck. It may have been scientifically planned but it looked a great deal as if luck were with the Friars for once. Cap was doing the punting and nearly every kick rolled to up within the visitors' twenty yard line and then the ball would stop dead.

The Friars had everything their own way in the first three quarters and although they failed to put over a touchdown they were within striking distance nearly all of the time. Much running with the ball was out of the question because of the mud, and an attempt to wade through that line of the visitors was like flirting with destruction. It was foolish. In the second quarter things did look mighty bright for a while and the ball was right up under the Panhandle goal. Here the line tightened and line bucks resulted in losses.

Then our hero steps back and with a look of unconcern lets his toe connect with the oval and the score was 3 to 0. It was a great kick and considering that it had to be done quickly because of the opposing line Al deserves a lot of credit for the work.

Great Kickoff.

On the kickoff Frank Nesser kicked the pigskin back against the south grandstand. The remainder of the half was taken up with punts and one attempt to drop kick by the Panhandles. Ambrose was sent in for Checkeye, who wore himself out trying to buck the heavyweights off the field. Coony had the ambition to do, but lacked a little of the necessary weight. He played a hard game, the same as he has all season whenever he was put in and has shown himself to be one of the scrappiest little players in the game.

The Friars kicked off at the opening of the second half and the Panhandles made one first down. Then the kicking started again and after several punts and an attempt at a drop kick by Ambrose the ball was on the visitors' twenty yard line. Now for the feature. Frank Nesser made a punt which was long and high. His ends were down under it and two of them were in tackling distance of Ambrose when he received the ball, but in some unknown way that speedy little quarter got away and made forty yards right down the east side line in nothing flat. It was about the cleverest bit of running ever seen around these parts. And then the whistle blew for the end of the quarter.

That last quarter was about the best scare that's been thrown into camp this season. The visitors started a drive that looked as if it would never end until the ball was about five yards over the goal line. But Heinie Berger steps in and intercepts a forward pass and things look bright again. Then the Friars line up for the play and the ball goes to Heinie. Talk about a scare. Berger muffed the pill right in a gang of Panhandlers with nobody between them and the ball. One thing saved the day. Hunter, the eagle-eyed end, saw the ball fly and was after it like a shot, and believe us, he got it.

The remainder of the game consisted of punts and line bucks, which failed to gain and Deac Jones made the last play of the season by a tackle which was a darb.

A good-sized honor roll could be made up this year of the men who have worked hard for the Friar team, and it has certainly been a great year for the game. Every man who played yesterday and those who were on the bench would be included in the gang of faithfuls.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM READY FOR OPENER

Students Meet Bluffton High at James Smart Gym Tonight.

The high school basketball team is ready and waiting for the clash with Bluffton high tonight. The Bluffton team is one of the fastest school aggregations in the northern part of the state and a good game is predicted. Coach Wright of Fort Wayne high insists, however, that his charges are equal to the work ahead and will come out with a win.

The probable line-up which will start the game is as follows: Captain Kendricks and Dannecker, forwards; Berghoff, center; Lindemuth and Barnett, guards. The subs are: Wilkens, forward and center; Figel, guard, and Wooding, forward. In spite of the fact that Fort Wayne is generally supposed to have a small and light team, the bunch which now compose the squad is far from diminutive. All of the fellows are at least average size for high school athletes and Berghoff is as large as most college players. This big center is a good jumper, too, and when he leaves his feet can jump to a level with the baskets. His main trouble is that he doesn't jump enough.

Coach Wright will not be present when the game is played this evening, having gone out of town, and the team will be in charge of Professor Northrop. He has quite a "rep" as an athletic director and may continue as assistant coach of the team. Professor Ritter will officiate as referee.

In Russia there are enough people to populate Great Britain, Germany and France, with a considerable number left over.

RAISE YOUR BOY AN ATHLETE!

(This is the first of two articles in which Mrs. Theresa Maglione, mother of an Ohio lightweight boxer, tells why she believes every mother should interest herself in her boy's athletic activities.—Editor.)

BY PAUL PURMAN.

"I wouldn't advise any mother to raise her boy to be a pugilist, because I know the prejudice there is against boxing as a profession. But I do advise mothers to raise their sons to be boxers, to be athletes and to live in the outdoors."

This is a part of the advice given by Mrs. Theresa Maglione, mother of "Chick" Maglione, 18, and one of the most promising young lightweights of the country.

"It is a great relief to a mother's mind to know her boy is athletic, to know he prefers exercises and outdoor activities to many harmful things boys of his age are likely to learn.

"I know 'Chick' is healthy, that he is strong and rugged, that he has developed will power and when he has finished with the ring he will be prepared to go out and fight the battle of life. That is why I never worry about him in the ring.

"And I also know, something too many mothers do not know, where by boy is at night. I know he is not dissipating, that he is not learning things which will be harmful to his physical and moral development."

The average American mother has decided ideas about the ring and its influences both from the standpoint of the boxer and the spectator. She probably knows little about the home life of modern boxers.

What she does not know is that the day of the roughneck in boxing, as in baseball, is passing, that there are professional boxers who spend their spare time in reading, studying, in business and some are even going to college.

For the benefit of the average mother, a few words about the Maglione home:

It's a pretty two-story cottage in one of the best residence districts of Akron, spick and span throughout. (Mrs. Maglione is not afraid to have visitors in her kitchen or back yard.) Well selected books fill the cases and the furniture and furnishings show excellent selection.

There are six children in the family, two older than "Chick" and three younger. All show results of careful home training.

"I always have looked out for my children's welfare," the mother said proudly. "I have to see that they get proper food and take proper exercise. We have little sickness in our family.

"Of course since 'Chick' has taken up boxing he has received special attention. I suppose you might say that I direct his training.

"Every morning he gets up at 6 o'clock and runs several miles. When he comes back he gets a shower and a rub down and is ready for breakfast.

"My children get lots of fruit and milk, roast and broiled meats and good vegetables. I do not believe boys and girls should eat much pork, fried meats or potatoes. There are only two things for them to drink, water and milk.

"'Chick' goes to bed early; he is seldom up after 9:30. Boys of his age, whether they are athletes or not, should be in bed early.

CALIFORNIA AFTER ATHLETIC LAURELS

"More eastern scalps" is the war cry.

A movement is in the beginning to size up champions of the west with champions of the east and let the best men win. The idea that the east is in any way supreme in athletics is to be broken down if men interested in sports out this way succeed in their plans.

Particularly is the University of California forging ahead in a general campaign to build up one of the strongest sport machines in the country. Ranking second in point of attendance among the universities of the United States, California has a wonderful record to its credit.

JOHN STROUD, Athletic Manager.

material to aid her in dream of conquest.

In times past she has taken a goodly share of honors in competitions with eastern cracks. For the future she is developing a regiment of "super athletes," which she will put forward as hardy foes of all champions, no matter where they happen to be champing.

This includes all phases of university sports—football, baseball, basketball, track and field events, rowing and the like. The west doesn't intend to be bashful when it comes time for invading.

"We have the best athletic material in the world right here on the Pacific," declares Graduate Manager John Stroud of California. "In intercollegiate track events we have taught eastern men to respect us. It is our serious plan to build up such a general, effective sports machine that they will not only respect us, but fear us.

"Right now we aren't doing much in football, but when our men grasp the fine points of the American game, we'll take our chances with the best of them."

CARL SUEDHOFF IS THROUGH MANAGING

Carl Suedhoff, president of the Friar club and manager for the football team, announced last night that he was through for all time to come with the latter job. This was the sixth year for Friar football in this city and the third for Suedhoff as manager. He claims that three years of it is enough to make anyone's hair turn gray.

Much credit is due Suedhoff for the most successful season which the Friars have had yet. With the exception of the opening game everyone has been worth seeing and the thanks go to the manager.

He managed the second Friar football team, that of 1911, while he was still in his teens and did a good job of it. Two years later he managed the team and then again this year. There is no doubt that Friars are sorry to hear of "Swede's" decision, but they realize that it is a job and that he has worked very hard at it and deserves a rest.

MACOMBER AND KING STAR FOR VILLAGERS

Indianapolis, Dec. 1.—Pine Village football team defeated the Cincinnati Celts 23 to 3 here Thursday afternoon. Both teams are composed largely of former college stars. The Celts made their score early in the first period, after recovering the ball on a fumble while within striking distance of the Pine Village goal. King, former Harvard fullback, and Macomber, who completed his college career with Illinois last Saturday, were stars for the Pine Village team.

HAMMOND WINNER WITHOUT BLOCKER

Hammond, Ind., Dec. 1.—The Jimmy Clabby football team of Hammond defeated the Harvards of Detroit, 20 to 0, Thursday and cleared the way for the professional championship fray with the Cincinnati Celts at this city next Sunday. Galvin, former Wisconsin university and all-western star, shared chief honors with Talbot of South Dakota and Sellegar of Purdue for the Clabbys.

Hammond scored in the second, third and fourth periods on straight football. The Harvards completed long forward passes, but were prevented from scoring. Captain Frank Blocker of the Clabbys, last year captain of Purdue and an all-western tackle, was on the bench, but will lead his club Sunday. Line-up:

BERNE BOY FALLS FROM MONOPLANE

Body is Found Under Debris of Machine He Had Worked on for Months.

Berne, Ind., Dec. 1.—Paul Rohrer, nineteen-year-old aviator, was instantly killed here late yesterday afternoon when he lost control of the engine of his monoplane, which he had built himself, and fell to the ground, a distance of fifty feet. The body was found under the debris of the machine, his head being crushed against the frozen ground.

The accident was witnessed by almost the entire population of Berne. It was generally known that on Thanksgiving day he would make his first attempt to fly in the machine he had been working on for months. He had been in the air for only a few minutes when the catastrophe occurred, the machine failing in a cornfield on the farm of John Eichers. The monoplane is almost a total wreck.

Rohrer had made other flights, but not in his own machine. While visiting in Chicago some time ago the young man had spent the greater part of the time on the aviation field, and had gone up several times with various Chicago aviators. The boy was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rohrer, the father being former editor of the Berne Witness.

TWO GIRLS SHOT.

Rabbit Hunter Fires Two Charges of Buckshot at Automobile.

Van Wert, Ohio, Dec. 1.—Margaret Morris, 16 years old, and her sister, Gwendyla, 18, were shot by a rabbit hunter while returning to their home at Vendocia, near here, late yesterday afternoon, when the automobile in which the girls were riding with Elliott Morris, their brother, and Albert Uhl, hit and killed a hunting dog.

Wilbur Hiller and Sam Hiller, brothers, were arrested on a charge of attempting to kill. Wilbur Hiller is said to have fired two charges of buckshot at the passing automobile, the girls in the rear seat being hit.

STROH BOY INJURED.

Lowell Rinehart Loses Finger as Result of Hunting Accident.

Stroh, Ind., Dec. 1.—Lowell Rinehart, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Rinehart, of this place, was painfully injured here yesterday afternoon as the result of a hunting accident, two fingers and a thumb being shot off. The accident was caused when the boy caught the trigger of the gun against the bark of the tree, causing it to go off. The lad was injured about the face. The accident occurred about two miles south of here.

NEW MANAGER NAMED.

Warsaw, Ind., Dec. 1.—J. C. Schade, who has been assistant secretary and treasurer, has been named general manager of the Winona Interurban Railway company, the appointment being made by C. J. Munton, of Kendallville, receiver for the road. Mr. Schade will succeed W. D. Frazer, who has acted as vice president and general manager for the past five years. He will be retained as counsel for the receiver. C. F. Franklin has resigned as superintendent of the road, effective January 1. His successor has not been named. H. O. Weimer will continue as auditor. The changes have been made in the interest of economy and for the purpose of reducing the operating expenses. The road operates between Goshen and Peru. H. J. Heinz, the famous pickle manufacturer, is the principal stockholder. J. M. Studebaker is also interested in the road.

YOUTHFUL ROBBER CONFESSES.

Huntington, Ind., Dec. 1.—Jack Lewis, who confessed that he had taken part in the robbery of the Young saloon and the Perfect Wholesale house, Sunday afternoon, has told Huntington officials that his home was in Pittsburg, Pa., in contradiction of his former story that he lived in Los Angeles, Cal., and that he had known the other two thieves but two or three days and thought that they had lived in Akron, O. The authorities will try to get a written confession out of Lewis and also try to write to his parents as well as locate the escaped robbers in Akron.

MEDICINE POISONS CHILD.

Portland, Ind., Dec. 1.—Lena May Hunt, aged two years and only child of Mr. and Mrs. William Hunt, West Main street, had a narrow escape from death Wednesday noon as a result of poisoning from eating medicine. Mrs. Hunt, who had been suffering with her head, secured some tablets from a physician to give her relief. The tablets were left on a table and while the mother was absent from the room the little girl ate several of them. She became seriously ill and lay in spasms for several minutes. Two physicians worked over her for some time before she rallied. Later in the afternoon the baby was better, but not entirely out of danger.

ISSUE 103 HUNTING LICENSES.

Huntington, Ind., Dec. 1.—All records for hunting licenses for the last two years were broken in the county clerk's office when 103 licenses were issued. Two years ago 127 licenses were taken out the day before Thanksgiving which always sees a rush of nimrods to the country for a day's sport. The applications were heavy for several days. Thirty-one licenses were issued Monday the same number and Tuesday forty-two. The ideal hunting weather brought more than the usual number of hunters out for Thursday's annual trek to the country.

How It Helps Coughs and Colds

Buy your bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar now, and quickly stop the coughs and colds of early fall.

It aggravates the distressing cough of weak lungs, and the chronic coughs of elderly people.

It gives "snuffles" to infants and children and provokes adenoids and sore inflamed throats.

Give Foley's Honey and Tar freely. It is so soothing and curative, relieves hoarseness and puts a healing coating on the inflamed mucous lining of the throat. It stops coughing easily and quickly and relieves croup before this dreaded thing has a chance to really harm the children or scare the parents. The last dose is just as good as the first, and a less amount is needed than of any other cough syrup.

So see to it that you get only the original FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR, for it is the only genuine, and contains no opiates.

Now You See Her and Now You Don't—Woman Dodges Cops in Trap-Door House.

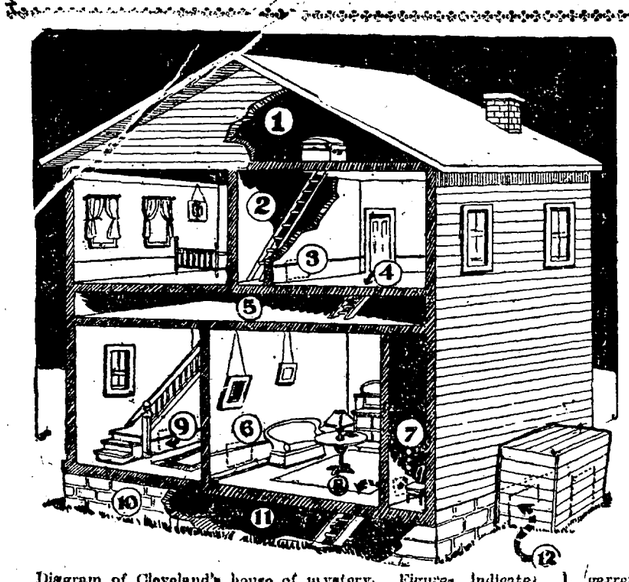

Diagram of Cleveland's house of mystery. Figures indicate: 1, garret, showing entrance through trunk with false bottom; 2, secret room between walls, with ladder to garret; 3, entrance to secret room; 4, trap door leading to space between floors; 5, secret room between floors; 6, secret door through wall; 7, secret room with panel entrance; 8, trap door to basement; 9, panel entrance to secret room under stairs; 10, trap door, exit from basement; 11, basement; 12, box covering side exit from basement.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 29.—Hanlon's "Superba" was recalled by Cleveland policemen when they chased a woman into a house, discovered she wasn't there, and then found scores of trap doors, false floors, sliding panels and secret passageways, the existence of which has not yet been explained.

"Say, Dan, this beats me!" Detective Smetana said to Capt. Dan Stanton, as they stood in an empty room into which they had just pursued a woman after she had held them at bay an instant with a pistol.

They walked about the room puzzled.

He pushed on the wall—and a hidden door opened into a dark passage. They followed this passage. They emerged outdoors—in a drygoods box. After two hours' search they discovered the woman, hiding in a secret cubbyhole under a staircase.

AVOID MEAT, AND SAVE SAYS LONDON

London, Dec. 1.—A million pounds or $5,000,000 could be saved in a fortnight if everyone would agree to go without meat on one day each week, says the newest appeal to the public to cut down their meat consumption made by the national war savings committee. Last September a board of trade committee, making a similar appeal for economy, urged the public to agree to one meatless day each week, but apparently it has fallen on deaf ears.

At present high prices the civilian population of this country now eats about 500,000 pounds worth of meat every day, according to figures compiled by the war savings committee which finds that this is due to the habit of eating meat—beef, mutton, pork or bacon—two or three times a day.

"Excessive meat eating is a bad habit," adds the committee. "Nothing so radical as going without meat of any kind for a whole day is needed. People who eat meat twice a day should cut down the meat eaten, taking more fish, dried beans, peas, etc., and cheese, and those who eat fish and several kinds of meat at lunch and dinner should have only fish or one variety of meat."

Those not engaged in physical toil are especially urged to cut down their consumption of meat.

Besides the beneficial effects to the health, the appeal reasons that the demands upon shipping would be lessened, the supplies could be more evenly distributed, and a further increase in prices could be avoided.

Williams, Independence, Va., te"s of a remarkable cure that was effected in that vicinity. One of his customers was so badly afflicted with stomach trouble that he was sent to a hospital, but received little benefit and came home to die. Mr. Williams suggested that he try Chamberlain's Tablets which he did, and today he is a well man and weighs 175 pounds. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

MAY BAR POSSIBILITY OF FOREIGN PRINCES

The Netherlands Folk Now Agitate Revision of Constitution.

The Hague, Netherlands, Nov. 15.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Only two lives, those of the reigning queen and of her 7-year-old daughter, Princess Juliana, bar the way in the natural order of things to the accession to the throne of the Netherlands of a German prince. It is true that, so far as health and age are concerned, those lives may be described as "first-class," but the potential slenderness of the thread was illustrated not long ago in The Hague woods, where the royal automobile carrying Queen Wilhelmina and the little princess was the victim of a collision that might under less fortunate circumstances have cost the lives of both.

This question of the succession gave Dutchmen some concern before the war, and much more now. Several well known public men have drawn public attention to the matter in the last few days, and what looks like a strong agitation, enjoying widespread sympathy, has been started for a revision of the constitution declaring null and void all potential rights of succession of foreign princes, leaving the choice of a new sovereign, in such an unhoped-for and unexpected circumstance as the failure of all direct heirs to the throne, entirely to the states general or parliament of the country. For every Dutchman, practically without exception, whatever be his sympathies in the present war, would regard the accession of a German prince as a calamity, threatening the so dearly-cherished independence of the nation.

In the House of Orange, Holland is blessed with a dynasty bound to Holland and Holland alone by such strong ties that no one at home or abroad would dream of suggesting that the council chambers of teh crown are accessible to other than purely Dutch interests. But if that house were left without living issue, the next claimants to the throne would be found among the collateral princely houses of Saxe-Weimar and Reuss-Kostritz, followed or accompanied by those of Saxe-Meiningen, Hohenzollern, another branch of Reuss-Kostritz, Schleswig-Holstein, Norway, Sahcumburg-Lippe, Sweden and Wied—one and all equally foreign to the Netherlands.

Prof. J. A. Van Hamel, a distinguished authority on law, declares in the Amsterdammer: "This game of interests with German royal relations on foreign thrones must teach us that small powers should beware if they do not desire to see, in their highest government circles, foreign aims that might be pernicious to them put in place of their national interests.

Bronchitis.

When a severe cold settles on the lungs it is called bronchitis. There is danger of its leading to broncho pneumonia, and for this reason it is always best to go to bed and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as directed until well along towards recovery. Mrs. Charles E. Woodard, Sandy Creek, N. Y., writes: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured me of bronchitis last fall. When I began using it I was so hoarse at times that it was difficult for me to speak above a whisper. I resorted to the use of this valuable medicine and found it very soothing and healing. In a week's time I was well." Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

Don't Spend Your Strength in Saving the Price of a

HOOSIER

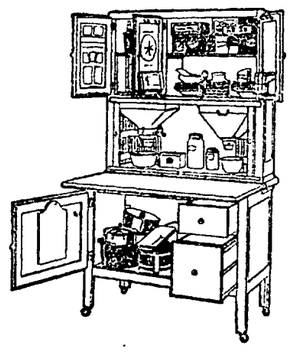
Women so often feel that it is economy to do without labor-saving equipment that they try to save the small price of a Hoosier. When a few dollars thus invested will systemize kitchen work so that it can be done easily and in half the time.

Space for 400 Articles Within Arm's Reach

A Centralized Storehouse

The picture above shows how the scientific arrangement of the Hoosier makes it a real helper. Storage space for 400 articles above and below. There is plenty of unhampered room above and around the aluminum (or porcelain) work-table.

There are no useless little partitions to chop up the space and leave no room for work. Your cabinet must have big table space to work on. The Hoosier gives it.



Special Christmas Terms

1115 Hoosier Cabinets have been put out through this store alone. There are over 1,000,000 in the United States. Only an enormous factory output makes possible the low prices which range from $14.00 to $43.50.

Until Christmas we are offering special terms. One dollar will deliver any cabinet. The balance may be paid at the rate of $1.00 a week, without extra cost or interest.

Come and see these six exclusive Hoosier features:

2—The gear-driven shaker flour sifter which makes flour light and fluffy.

3—Scientific arrangement — articles needed most frequently easiest reached.

4—Revolving caster (shown in center of illustration).

5—The ingenious, big-capacity sugar bin—holds more than twice as much as other bins.

Delightful to Work At the Hoosier

You will find it delightful to sit down at the Hoosier and do your cooking comfortably. It will help you get good meals quickly. It will help you tidy up in just a few moments after meals.

The Hoosier saves countless trips to the cellar, to the sink, pantry and cupboard, and regardless of the size of space of your kitchen you will find a Hoosier model that fits it, at the price you can easily afford.

Have a demonstration. At least come and see the Hoosier and its exclusive work-saving features. No obligation incurred if you don't want to buy now. But at least learn why over a million women can't do without a Hoosier.

ROOSEVELT TELLS WHY HUGHES LOST

Colonel Cites Long List of Cause for Republican Defeat.

New York, Dec. 1.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt gives his post-mortem of the results of the balloting on Nov. 7 in the Christmas issue of the Metropolitan Magazine, out today, in an article entitled "The Election."

In holding "he kept us out of war" cry and the wide prosperity of the nation the decisive factors in the democratic victory, the colonel does not charge the citizenry with "moral obtuseness" but excuses the millions who voted for the president on the ground that they were not shown "in convincing fashion" where their duty lay.

But that part most likely to arouse in republican leaders the liveliest feelings is: "When a public man who for three years praised each of Mr. Wilson's acts separately turned round and during the campaign condemned them all collectively he did not carry conviction."

Wilson Made Right Appeal.

"As in all such cases," Col. Roosevelt said, "the result is more easy to explain than it had been to foretell. The appeal made for Mr. Wilson was one which would tell very strongly with good, honest citizens, whose preoccupation with their own pursuits was such that they would not be expected to look deeply into our international relations and the general world conditions.

"No sensible man wishes to go to war if he can honorably keep out of it; and when to this natural inclination is added the fact that the man is very busy and is puzzled by the issues involved, he is certain to cast his vote on the side that he is told will guarantee peace.

"Evidently, people tend to look at the dreadful crimes committed in Belgium and Armenia, in the sinking of the Lusitania, and in Mexico, as analogous to disasters such as an earthquake or a fire; as properly exciting a discreet sympathy, but not as calling for any action that would jeopardize the comfort and well being of those not immediately concerned.

Tend to Chinese Level.

"I do not approve of this attitude. I am merely stating it. In so far as our people permanently preserve it they will steadily tend to the Chinese level. It may need a serious shock to wake them from it. Yet I am sure it is possible to wake them, and that when thoroughly aroused they have the further possibility of showing the great qualities of the men and women of the revolution and of the civil war.

"We have permitted our politicians, our candidates for public office, to treat the promises made in party platforms and on the stump with a cynical indifference which now reflects itself in a similar indifference on the part of the voters.

"When public men are readily pardoned for making any promise which they think will secure favor before election and for repudiating any promise which they think it inconvenient to keep after election, it is impossible to expect that the voters will not finally grow skeptical about all promises, prophecies, and statements made during the course of a campaign.

Adamson Law Great Help.

"In addition to these counterclaims there was the fact that the Adamson bill unquestionably produced a great effect in Mr. Wilson's favor in all labor circles. It was taken as an indication that in any conflict between capital and labor Mr. Wilson would support labor, without an overnice scrutiny of the merits of the case or of the future effects of his action.

"Moreover, there was a real blurring of the issues, because for the first three years of Mr. Wilson's term the leaders among his nominal party opponents either feared to criticise him at all or else split, half of them assailing him because on some given policy he had gone too far and the other half because he had not gone far enough.

"We who supported Mr. Hughes will always be glad that we supported him. We believe that his triumph and the national welfare were closely interwoven. We now, for the sake of the nation, earnestly hope Mr. Wilson will meet with every success in the task ahead of him."

WEATHER FORECAST FOR FORT WAYNE AND VICINITY

GENERALLY FAIR TONIGHT AND SATURDAY; NO DECIDED CHANGE IN TEMPERATURE.

YEAR BREAKS ALL RECORDS

Fort Wayne Has Already Expended $3,033.556 on Construction.

OVER MILLION MORE THAN IN YEAR 1915

It is a record which, officials say, can not be equaled by any other city of 100,000 population in the United States. Records show that other cities of the middle west of near Fort Wayne's size are spending only half that much for construction work during 1916.

Building records for the first eleven months show that $3,033,556 have already been expended this year for structural improvements. This is over a million dollars more than was spent for building in Fort Wayne last year.

Report of the office building being constructed on East Wayne street by the Mulholland Realty company and a new structure at the Electric works are to be added to the records during December. These additions, along with several smaller building projects which are sure to be placed on the docket, make sure the assertion that building reports for 1916 will total almost $4,000,000 it is given out in the board of works office.

Always Runs Ahead.

"Records show that Fort Wayne has always run ahead of other cities in building work. Andrew App, clerk of the building department of the works board, said Friday. "The phenomenal showing this year is only a display of the city's natural growth. Fort Wayne is a commercial center and constant building is necessary to accommodate the new business concerns."

During the month of November there have been $207,425 expended for erection of new buildings, the report gives. This is considered a great showing for the month when building work generally wanes because of frigid weather. May was the month of most building, according to the record for the first eleven months. During May $608,225 were spent for construction work.

There was $163,525 expended for building during November of 1915. During the eleventh month last year there were fifty building permits recorded compared with sixty permits taken out in November this year.

CALLED MERE BLOOD WASTE

Today's War News Given in Summary

The Teutonic grip on Rumania remains unshaken and at last reports was tightening with three converging forces continuing unchecked their advance toward Bucharest.

Despite tenacious resistance the Rumanians, which appear to have increased as Bucharest, was neared by the armies of Field Marshal von Mackensen and General von Falkenhayn, the invaders are now almost within gunshot of the capital. They are nearest their objective on the southwest, where Tzomna, 16 miles distant, has been reached. From the west they have driven to within forty miles, reaching Glaviatzioults. On the northwest they have broken the Rumanian lines, permitting of a new influx of Austro-German troops by way of Torzburg pass and Campulung.

"The Russians meanwhile have been attacking heavily all along the frontier of Moldavia, the Rumanian province, which borders Bessarabia, between Transylvania and Bessarabia, in an evident attempt to create a diversion in Rumania's favor. Today Petrograd reported a pronounced success in the offensive, declaring the whole range of heights along the frontier south of Kirlibaba has been taken by the Russians.

Further inroads upon Rumanian personnel and equipment are announced by Berlin, the capture of more than 2,800 prisoners, 21 cannon and other material.

Berlin emphasized the extent of the Russo-Rumanian offensive of the Carpathians along the Moldavian frontier, pointing out that it is being violently pressed over a front of more than 180 miles. It is declared, however, that the attacks were very fruitless and extremely costly and the recapture of some German ground previously lost, is claimed. Likewise the defeat of an entente attack on the Bulgarian left wing, in Dobrudja, in which two British armored cars were destroyed, is recorded.

Berlin, Dec. 1.—The Russians and Rumanians made violent attacks yesterday over a front or nearly 200 miles, the war office announces. Their efforts are characterized as a waste of blood and ammunition, and it is said that they gained no important advantages.

The advance on Bucharest continues, notwithstanding the resistance of the Rumanians. Field Marshal von Mackensen's force is approaching the Argeshu river in the direction of Bucharest. Yesterday the Rumanians suffered heavy losses. The Teutonic forces took 2,500 prisoners and twenty-one cannon.

Attacks Break Down.

An offensive movement in Dobrudja was begun yesterday by the Russian and Rumanian forces who made massed attacks on the Bulgarian left wing, the war office announces. The attack broke down under the Bulgarian fire. The statement follows:

"Front of Arch Duke Joseph:—The Russians and on the south wing the Rumanians, continue in the Carpathians their offensive attempts between Jablonica pass and the heights east of the basin of Kedzi Vasarhely, a distance of 300 kilometres (186 miles) on an air line. The enemy made violent attacks yesterday as before his waste of blood and ammunition gained him virtually no advantage at any place on the extended front. Our troops made numerous counter attacks and captured from the enemy ground which he had taken on the proceding day. The Marburg rifles distinguished themselves especially on the Smotrec, attacking and bringing in more than forty prisoners and two machine guns from a hostile position.

Rich Booty Taken.

"Columns advancing by way of Campulung and Piteshti, along the river valleys in Wallachia took rich booty in prisoners, cannon and carts and especially in baggage. The enemy offered resistance in numerous river sectors to our forces that are advancing from the Alt. Here also they were repulsed. An offensive movement by a Rumanian di-

FIRST PICTURE OF BILLIE BURKE AND HER BABY DAUGHTER.

HIGH CHICKEN FEEDS ALSO ADVANCE EGGS

For This Reason Housewives Have Practically Quit Keeping Fowls.

Boycotts may come and boycotts may go, but the cost of chicken feed goes up forever. At least this is the consensus of opinion of many raisers of chickens in Allen county.

"Our sympathy is with the housewife who has to pay the high prices for eggs," said a local dealer Friday. "Those who are trying to buy feed to keep the chickens laying are beginning to feel the pinch in the steadily rising price of 'scratch feed' and other egg marketing requirements. A visit to the poultry houses of the city recently disclosed that they are jammed with chickens brought in by raisers of poultry who have found the high price of chicken feed too great to get around with profit, even with eggs selling at forty-five cents a dozen."

Poultry men who have visited the various sections of the country where poultry generally is raised in quantities, report that the flocks are much smaller than is usually the case; backyard flocks are getting scarcer and the producer of eggs is having the time of his young life in trying to feed the hens the food necessary to manufacture eggs and still come out with a meager profit.

RULES FOR MUSIC.

Bishop H. J. Alerding Has Issued Order for Diocese.

According to a letter that has been sent to the various parishes throughout the diocese of Fort Wayne, Bishop H. J. Alerding defines the rules governing church music.

The order, in short, is that purely choral work is enjoined: solos and duets, except within a choral composition, and then forming but a lesser part, are prohibited. At nuptial and funeral masses nothing shall be sung but what the liturgy calls for. At low masses the organ shall not be played, except when there is singing, and the latter must either be congregational or choral. Singing in the vernacular is forbidden at all high masses.

SOARING PRICES TO BE CONGRESS TOPIC

Members Reaching Capital Outline Remedies They May Propose.

Washington, Dec. 1.—Evidence continued to pile up here today that congress is going to spend considerable of its time in the coming short session looking for a high cost of living panacea.

Here are some of the remedies which early arrivals at the capital have suggested and which they say they will push in resolutions to be introduced:

An embargo on all foodstuffs.

A law compelling those who store foodstuffs for speculative purposes to dispose of 10 per cent of their holdings every thirty days, at prevailing prices.

Investigation of the entire question of high prices either by the federal trade commission or a special joint congressional committee which will recommend legislation suggested by its findings.

Charges Cold Storage Trust.

The existence of an interstate combination of cold storage houses to keep up food prices was charged in New York yesterday by Joseph Hartigan, commissioner of weights and measures, who as secretary of Mayor Mitchel's committee on food supply is investigating the cost of living with a view to effecting relief for consumers.

"There is a so-called storage trust," Mr. Hartigan said. "Its membership comprises seventy-five cold storage warehouses in New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut. It is believed that, to evade the laws of the various states, it is made easy for the owners of goods in one cold storage warehouse to hold goods in one state until just before the time expires for the goods to be released, and then to move them to a warehouse in another state and keep them there as long as the law allows in that other state.

"Although the law in each state permits storage for only a limited time—ten months, I believe, in the case of eggs—it is possible, through the alleged trust, to keep goods in storage three times that period—The laws relating to cold storage houses are a joke from a national standpoint. If the federal government were to make one comprehensive law for all the cold storage houses in the country the evil would be abated.

NEW FACES AT STATE HOUSE

Bittler Among Those Who Has Not Announced His Future Plans.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 1.—Two of the newly elected state republicans took office today. They are Otto Klauss, succeeding Dale Crittenberger as auditor, and Ed Jackson, who defeated Homer L. Cook, incumbent, for secretary of state. Secretary Cook wound up the affairs of his office ready for Mr. Jackson Wednesday morning, yesterday being a legal holiday, and paid into the treasury of the state the sum of $19,834.50 in settlement for the months of October and November. The present forces of the two offices will be retained for a time by the new officials in order to acquaint the new staffs with the work. Both Auditor Klauss and Secretary Jackson have been at the state house for several days, becoming familiar with their duties.

Auditor Klauss has announced the following appointments for his office: John E. Reed, deputy; James H. Tomlin, building and loan clerk; Russell Jewett, securities clerk, and Carl Wilde, Evansville, traveling examiner in the insurance department.

Plans Already Made.

Democratic state officials, in accordance with the decree of fate at the recent election, are being turned out of office in the midst of winter, with the price of cabbage quoted at $75 a ton and with an unprecedented shortage of coal, but most of them already have made plans to return to the duties of private life, which occupied their time and attention before they got their names on the state pay roll.

With their terms expiring little more than three weeks after the election went against them, Secretary of State Homer L. Cook and Auditor of State Dale J. Crittenberger have had little time in which to "look around," but fortunately both have business interests with permanent incomes, so that they need not worry any more than the average citizen about the altitude reached by the prices on everything a fellow needs and wants.

With his state job gone, Mr. Cook will devote all of his time to his Teachers Co-operative Employment bureau, which he has conducted successfully and profitably for several years. He may decide to engage also in the brocekerage business.

Mr. Crittenberger will return to the active editorship of his newspaper, the Anderson Bulletin, of which he has been publisher for several years. Before he became auditor he worked on "the desk" from early morning till late at night, without regard to the Adamson wage law, and he looks forward with pleasure to the responsibility he will again have in getting the sheet out on time.

Writes Editorials aDily.

While Mr. Crittenberger enjoyed being auditor of state for two years, and he was quite willing to have remained for another two years, there never has been a time when he ever had a thought of giving up the newspaper game permanently. Even while he had been auditor Mr. Crittenberger found time to grind out some editorial paragraphs almost every day and of course he has had some worries about the high cost of print paper.

New Year's day will see a republican in the place of Attorney General Evan B. Stotsenberg, Philip Zoercher, reporter of the supreme and appellate courts, and State Statistician Thomas W. Brolley.

Mr. Stotsenberg, it is understood, will return to New Albany to resume his lucrative law practice. He has been the attorney general about a year, having been appointed by the governor to fill the unexpired term of the late Richard M. Milburn. He has maintained his home in New Albany, going there for his week ends, while he has been the attorney general.

Philip Zoercher, who was an attorney at Tell City before he became reporter of the supreme and appellate courts, expects to take up the practice of law in Indianapolis, it is said. He has not made definite announcement, however, of his plans. Will A. Adams, who succeeds Zoercher, already has rented a house and will move here shortly from Wabash. Mr. Brolley, whose home is at North Vernon, has not announced his intentions.

Bittler Silent as to Plans.

George A. Bittler, who retires February 10, as treasurer of state, is another who has not announced his plans. It is not known whether he intend to engage in business in Indianapolis or return to his home town of Fort Wayne. Uz McMurtrie, successor to Mr. Bittler, was here yesterday making preparations to move to Indianapolis. Mrs. McMurtrie was with him to help settle the house or aartment problem.

BRYAN INVITED TO LUNCH WITH WILSON

Washington, D. C., Dec. 1.—President Wilson today invited William J. Bryan to take luncheon with him December 6, at the white house. Mr. Bryan is to attend a dinner here that evening to be given in his honor by democratic members of the senate and house. The president has been invited, but has not yet accepted. Mr. Bryan came here today and attended a luncheon given in his honor by Secretary Daniels. The usual Friday cabinet meeting was cancelled to permit members of the cabinet and Secretary Tumulty to attend.

Invitations have been sent out by the president for a dinner, December 7, at the white house in honor of Vance C. McCormick, chairman of the democratic national committee. To this dinner members of the democratic committee and of the associate campaign committee of progressives have been invited. The dinner will be in the nature of a celebration of the democratic victory at the election.

KING'S DAUGHTERS OPEN A DAY NURSERY

Have Secured Five Rooms in Old Cressler Home from Plymouth Church.

The Opportunity circle of King's Daughters has secured five rooms in the old Cressler home on West Berry street from the Plymouth Congregational church and within a week will open a day nursery. This same circle conducted the day nursery in the Rescue Mission for many months, but due to inadequate room the ladies had to suspend its operation.

Since that time they have been looking for new quarters to conduct the nursery. The new location will be an ideal one and the rooms, which are large, are being made attractive. The rooms are being renovated and redecorated.

It is the plan of the officers of this circle to open the nursery on Monday, December 12. Work has been divided and committees have been selected to accomplish a certain portion of the preparations.

Mrs. Schneider has been chosen by the circle as the matron for the new day nursery. This nursery will be conducted under the same plans as the one previous to this one. A small charge of 10 cents will be asked for the care of a child for one day.

The new quarters will give sufficient room to accommodate at least twenty children. Many new playthings have been secured by the ladies and everything will be done to make the rooms bright, cheery and attractive for the children. Miss Margaret Vesey is president of this circle of King's Daughters.

WILBUR HILLER SAYS HE DID THE SHOOTING

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Van Wert, Ohio, Dec. 1.—Wilbur Hiller, 20, one of three men under arrest for shooting at a passing automobile near here yesterday afternoon, made a full confession this morning. He says that he fired three shots, his anger being aroused when the machine struck a Scotch terrier dog belonging to him. The men were on their way home after spending the day hunting.

The car, which belonged to Elliot Morris, was occupied by Frank Uhl in the front seat and Misses Margaret Morris, 19, school teacher, daughter of David C. Morris, ex-representative from this county; Miss Gwenryla Morris, also a school teacher, and a cousin of Miss Margaret Morris, and Miss Lillian Jones, daughter of J. B. Jones. All live at Venedocia. They had been here to witness the football game and were on their way home. About six miles southwest of here the machine struck a dog and from the darkness three shots were fired. Miss Gwendyla Morris was shot above the right eye and Miss Margaret Morris received five shots in the cheek and neck. Miss Jones escaped unhurt. Fifteen shot holes were made in the hat of the driver, but he also was uninjured.

Immediately after reaching home the sheriff was notified and soon afterward Wilbur Hiller, 20; Sam Hiller, 18, and John Paullis, 24, were placed under arrest. BERLIN ASKS U. S. FOR DATA

Seeks Status of Horse Ship on Which Six Americans Lost Lives.

BERNSTORFF SEES LANSING ABOUT IT

Germany Ready to Offer Amends if Ship Was Entitled to Immunity.

Washington, Dec. 1.—The German submarine commander who sank the British horse ship Marina with the loss of six Americans, has reported to his government that he took the vessel for a transport.

Germany has asked the United States for information of the status of the ship and is ready to offer amends if the Marina was entitled to immunity.

The case was discussed today at a conference between Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, and Secretary Lansing.

Germany in a communication replying to the inquiry of the United States has asked for any information in possession of this government that will lead to a settlement.

Ready to Admit Error.

It is understood that if the United States can inform Germany that the Marina was not in the British transport service and was entitled to the immunity of a neutral merchant ship, the Berlin government is ready to acknowledge an error and make offers of settlement satisfactory to the United States.

President Wilson has been looking after the case personally and will pass upon any understanding reached between the ambassador and the secretary of state.

Did Not Close Door.

In its last note to Germany on the submarine question the United States threatened to break off diplomatic relations unless the campaign of destruction, without warning, was abandoned.

Another note declared that offers of reparation and expressions of regret would not be sufficient, but did not actually close the door to an admission of error and indemnity for damage in any specific case where the American government might choose to deal with it in that way.

The conference between the ambassador and the secretary of state, which was brief, developed that neither seemed to be in possession of such complete information as would be essential to a determination of the case. The conference was asked for by Count Bernstorff.

GROCERS SEEK WAY TO COMBAT HIGH PRICES

New York, Dec. 1.—The campaign against the high cost of living entered another stage today when the presidents of nearly a score of retail grocery associations and representatives of several delicatessen associations met with Joseph Hartigan, commissioner of weights and measures and secretary of Mayor Mitchell's food committee, to consider remedial measures. Mr. Hartigan was prepared to place before the representatives statistics relative to foodstuffs and methods of the so-called storage trust.

The wholesale price of eggs has dropped from 3 to 4 cents a dozen on all grades since the institution of the boycott. Commissioner Hartigan declared that a national cold storage law was needed to protect consumers against abuses in the marketing of perishable foods. Reports from various cities today are to the effect that thousands of turkeys were left on the hands of the dealers Thanksgiving as the result of the refusal of housewives to pay high prices. The surplus stock will be held in cold storage for the Christmas trade and it is predicted that in consequence the price of Christmas turkeys will be greatly reduced. As the result of the high cost of living the Federation of Jewish Farmers of America, in convention here, will extend its principle of co-operative buying. Representatives of the 1,500 members of the federation reported that the expenses have increased rapidly in the last four months.

LEG MAY BE SAVED FOR WOUNDED HUNTER

Surgeons Believe It Will Not Be Necessary to Amputate Limb.

Archie A. Hill, 34, 713 Locust street, is so much improved, after the Thanksgiving day accident, in which he was shot in the right leg, that it may not be necessary to amputate the limb, as was at first planned by physicians. Hill was shot at the top of the leg and several of the scattering bird shot entered his abdomen. All shots, which entered the body, have been removed, physicians say. Hill is gaining strength.

Hill was very weak from loss of blood, when he was located by the police patrol, nearly half an hour after he was accidentally shot by Frank Yager, a barber, 517 Lavina street, a fellow hunter, while the pair were tramping the thick underbrush of a swamp on the McCulloch farm, four miles from town, Thursday morning.

Hill was rushed to the St. Joseph hospital. His condition was pronounced by physicians to be extremely critical, as muscles of the leg were riddled and infection likely to set in. But Hill rested well Thursday night, and is improved to the state that amputation is expected to be spared.

BLOOD TRANSFUSION TO SAVE ARCHBOLD

Tarrytown, N. Y., Dec. 1.—John D. Archbold, president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, who is seriously ill at his home here, following an operation a week ago for appendicitis, passed a comfortable night, it was stated today by a member of the family. It was said that he had a slight rally last night about 11 o'clock and had seemed better since then. The improvement was attributed to the good effects of a blood transfusion operation performed yesterday, blood being given for the purpose by Mr. Archbold's chauffeur, who was chosen after several others who volunteered were eliminated by blood tests.

The Store That Does Things

New Albany, Ind., Dec. 1.—After being out an hour and fifteen minutes the jury in the case of Edward Berry, charged with the murder of Mrs. Mary Frances Brookbank at Jeffersonville, returned a verdict finding the defendant guilty of murder in the first degree and fixing his penalty at imprisonment for life. Berry sprang to his feet and exclaimed: "The verdict is unjust. I never knew anything about the murder."

When Judge John M. Paris asked him if he had anything to say before sentence was passed Berry declared the Jacobses and the Jeffersonville police force were against him; that they differed with him in politics and religion. Mrs. Brookbank was a cousin of the Jacobses.

Berry will be taken to prison tomorrow. It is expected that he will not ask for a new trial.

Closing evidence in the case attacked the character of the defendant, a former employe of Mrs. Brookbank's husband before he died. Mrs. Brookbank, a wealthy widow, was beaten to death in the home where she lived alone and her body was found April 2, several days after the crime.

Berry literally talked himself into jail by pointing out to the police the shop in Louisville, Ky., at which a watch stolen from the Brookbank home had been pawned. He contended that he saw two men depart from the house, followed them to Louisville and saw them pawn the watch, but later lost trace of them. He gave his "tip" to the police in an effort to obtain the reward of $1,000 for the slayer.

BRITISH VICTORS IN GERMAN EAST AFRICA

London Claims War Gain in Region Far from Big Fronts.

London, Dec. 1.—Conspicuous success has been gained by the British in their campaign against the Germans in German East Africa, the war office announced today.

"On October 19, a strong German force, commanded by Major General Wahle, dislodged from Tabora (in the central part of the colony), came in contact with the British, south of Iringa," the statement says. "Simultaneously the enemy in the Mahenge area took the offensive against the British on the Ruhudje river, with the evident intention of assisting the western German force to penetrate the British cordon and form a junction with the main German force. The attempt to break through was repulsed near Aeuiringa and the British gained a conspicuous success on the Ruhudje river, driving the enemy over the river with the loss of 200 killed, 82 prisoners and booty.

"The main body of the western German force divided into two parts. One invested the British post at Luhembe and was driven off. The remaining force was isolated in the Ilembule mission station and forced to surrender, about 500 strong, on November 26. A howitzer, ammunition and three machine guns were included in the booty. The remnants of Major General Wahle's force having lost the bulk of their artillery and machine guns and suffering probably over 50 per cent of casualties, are making eastward for Mahenge."

The total value of the output was $1,688,064.50. In addition to this coinage, 2,000,000 ten-cent pieces were coined for the republic of Ecuador. For the eleven months of 1916 the coinage has aggregated 191,564,926 pieces, all dimes, nickels and pennies. The mint is working double shifts and officials say there is no indication of a letup in the demand for small coins.

PLENTY OF FEATHERS YET.

Federal Agents Seek Source of Millinery Decorations.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—Agents of the United States treasury department have begun an investigation into the source of supply of Chicago dealers in aigrettes and goura feathers, it was learned today. It is charged that although the importation of these decorations for women's head wear has been prohibited for some time, the supply apparently has not diminished. Approximately $25,000 worth of these feathers have been brought into Chicago in the last few months, it is said, most of them from Cuba, by way of Tampa, Florida.

SAYS GERMANY ASKS ONLY FAIR TREATMENT

Christiana, Dec. 1.—The Dagbladet today published an interview with Herr Michaelis, German minister to Norway, outlining Germany's point of view on the submarine controversy with Norway. The minister says in part:

"Germany cannot tolerate any special treatment of war and merchant submarines by neutrals. Norway is the sole neutral which, by special instructions, has conveyed the impression of adopting the view of the entente.

"Germany is permitted by international law to defend herself with all her powers against Norwegian ships carrying contraband, which prolongs the war, and the recent food crisis in Great Britain, France and Russia have shown that Germany is on the right path. Germany will not be deprived of the sharp weapon she possessed in the submarine. On the other hand, Germany will always respect Norway's really difficult position and the most we expect of really independent Norway is that she does not treat German warfare and German economic problems differently than those of the enemy."

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Acting Director of the Sunday School Course in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(Copyright, 1916, Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR DECEMBER 3

JESUS CHRIST THE FIRST AND THE LAST.

LESSON TEXT—Rev. 1.
GOLDEN TEXT—Fear not; I am the first and the last, and the living one: and I was dead, and behold, I am alive for evermore.—Rev. 1:17, 18.

The lesson committee have departed, seemingly, a long way from anything like chronological order. Paul had nothing to do with the writing of the Revelation, yet this lesson illustrates the pre-eminence which Jesus Christ had in the mind and labors of the great apostle (Col. 1:18).

I. Introduction. (vv. 1-3.) We would suggest that all Bible students and teachers, if possible, read the introduction to the Book of Revelation in Scofield's Reference Bible. The book proper is "The Revelation of Jesus Christ." John, the beloved disciple, who wrote the Gospel and Epistles, was the one who saw the visions recorded therein. Many of the things are historical, others are prophetically set forth. The latter are "shortly to come to pass." (See also II Peter 3:8.) John tells not only what God said but what he himself saw. The late Doctor Brooks of St. Louis omitted this book from his study for many years until he saw the comments recorded in verse 3. The time of the writing of this book has variously been stated as from A. D. 60 to A. D. 96; the writer was certainly John the Beloved. The place of writing was the island of Patmos in the Aegean sea, not far from Ephesus. The real author, however, is Jesus Christ, the Son of God.

II. Salutation (vv. 4-8). "The servant of Jesus who records his message was John, and the message was to be to "the seven churches which are in Asia;" that is, the western portion of Asia Minor, of which Ephesus on the Aegean sea was the principal city. These churches are definitely named in verse 11. There is good reason to think that these churches represented the seven successive epochs of church history. If so, no age is exclusively Ephesian, or Philadelphian, or Laodicean. The grace, favor, loving kindness, is a free gift from Christ, who is here giving a threefold title, namely: First begotten from the dead, witness and prince.

III. Vision (vv. 9-18). What John saw on the isle of Patmos he was to write upon a parchment roll and send it to the seven churches, each of which needed a message. Under the figure of seven candlesticks are enumerated seven churches. Into the midst of these churches, actually present in them, is one like unto the Son of Man. (See also Matthew 18:20.) Like a human being, Jesus was, but now clothed with the garment of his eternal glory, girded about with the girdle worn by priests and kings, a symbol of his power and strength (Isaiah 11:5; Eph. 6:14). His head and his hands, his feet and his eyes are all referred to, each having its symbolical significance. In his right hand are the seven stars (v. 16), the angels of the churches, pastors or leaders, possibly guardian angels (v. 20). They are held in his right hand, signifying that they are protected, upheld and controlled by his wisdom and power. (See Jeremiah 22:24). From his mouth goes a sharp, two-edged sword; the spirit of the Word of God sharper than any two-edged sword (Hebrews 4:12). And his countenance was as the sun shining in its strength, the glory, such as was manifested in the transfiguration, such as Paul saw near Damascus, is here referred to.

IV. The Command. John had enjoyed a tender intimacy with the Lord during his earthly life and yet he was stricken down with the overpowering majesty and glory which had been revealed. Now he realized, as perhaps never before, the significance of the ever-living Christ, and he is hereby specifically commanded to record this vision as he had seen it and the messages which the Lord had for the churches. The word mystery (v. 20) has reference to something which has hitherto been hidden to men and which is now about to be revealed. The revelation was to these churches, and it is to us also.

Jesus is not a mere vision but he is a living reality, unveiled for the time from the unseen.

Jesus is a living fact which we are to communicate to men. The seven stars (v. 20) are messages in his own right hand.

The churches are the lamp stands, Christ himself is the light, the sun (v. 16).

The messages John is commanded to deliver have a four-fold application (1) to the churches actually addressed, but which have long since passed away; 2) to all churches in all times, admonishing them to discover their true spiritual state; (3) to individuals, "he that hath an ear," that they shall claim the promises made "to him that overcometh" and (4) they are prophetic of the different phases of spiritual history, following the days of John, the writer, (a) Beginning; (b) persecution; (c) worldliness; (d) priestly formalism; (e) reformation; (f) testimony to the word and the name.

The One He Overlooked.

In a current magazine article Colonel Roosevelt at some length diagnoses the result of the recent election and sets out in considerable detail the reasons as he sees them for the defeat of Mr. Hughes. In this as in pretty much of everything he says or does, the colonel is interesting, whether you chance to agree with him or not. In brief Mr. Roosevelt ascribes the victory of President Wilson not to the slightest merit of the man or his cause, but to the following four chief factors:

1. Prosperity and the "kept us out of war" issue. Inability of the republicans to make their issue clear.

2. Politicians have treated their promises with a cynical indifference that has made the voters skeptical.

3. The Adamson bill and the favor it developed for Wilson.

4. The blurring of the issues because for three years republican leaders either feared to criticize President Wilson or split in their criticism, one element attacking him as too radical, the other as too conservative.

When even so disagreeable task as a post mortem is undertaken, it might as well be made as thorough as possible, and it will occur to a good many thoughtful Americans that in his listing of the reasons for Mr. Hughes' defeat Colonel Roosevelt has overlooked one very important factor, and that factor was Colonel Roosevelt himself. He is apparently unable to see what was clearly apparent to many others during the recent campaign. A very considerable element of the American people were out of patience with Mr. Roosevelt, and his militant espousal of the cause of Mr. Hughes, together with his viciously intemperate criticism of all whose viewpoint was not his own, undoubtedly cost Mr. Hughes many thousands of votes.

With all the admiration commanded by Colonel Roosevelt's force, his natural ability, his long and in many ways distinguished public service and his undoubted desire to typify the finest in American spirit, it was impossible for many people to escape the conviction that the course he advocated for Mr. Hughes meant the carrying of a lighted torch into a powder mill. Nor was it to be doubted, in the close relationship between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Hughes, that the colonel's policies must have been indelibly impressed on any administration which he had contributed so largely to placing in power.

It is characteristic of Colonel Roosevelt to place blame somewhere else rather than assume any scintilla of it himself. It is characteristic that he puts responsibility wholly on weakness and divisions among republicans, and is unable to find justification for the public's preference in any degree of merit or accomplishment or purpose or ideal in President Wilson or his program, either accomplished or in prospect. Whether he realizes it or not, there is a very definite public conviction that none of the reasons he has set forth were more potent in encompassing the defeat of Mr. Hughes than was the sort of campaign the colonel conducted in his behalf. It amounted to a positive asset for President Wilson's cause, because of the voters it estranged from the republican standard-bearer.

The resourceful Mr. Hartigan, commissioner of weights and measures in New York city, who has been in the forefront of the verbal drive on high food prices, believes he has discovered a "trust" composed of cold storage warehouses in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut who are in the league to hold up food products until the prices reach an altitude that will enable them to haul down exceptionally handsome profits. It is to be regretted that Mr. Hartigan's range of vision will not carry as far as Chicago and some other big western cities. One is desperately curious to know what it would believe it had brought to light there.

There is doubtless no occasion for questioning the sincerity of the thanks offered up Thursday by Judge Ed Jackson, newly-elected secretary of state, and Otto L. Klauss, who secured a safe majority for auditor of state in Indiana at the election last month. Each of these assumed the duties of his new office and found his name handsomely engrossed on the Indiana state payroll Friday morning.

Indianapolis politicians are all fussed up in their preparations for the city campaign next year because of uncertainty regarding some provisions of the primary election law with reference to formation of political organizations for the fray. Still, why worry? The old-time crowd will doubtless find a way to put itself in control as usual.

The sentence of hanging pronounced against Lawyer Overton for the murder of Judge Lawler, after trial in the Alabama courts may or may not be carried out ultimately. It at least should be fruitful in suggesting some other method of disposing of political opponents than that introduced by the Alabama politician.

Boiled down, the utterances of each of the European belligerents amounts to positive assurance that each would be delighted to end the war provided the other fellow will admit he is licked.

With Thanksgiving now safely out of the way, there is nothing to prevent you from doing that Christmas shopping early.

Your Family Budget.

What is a budget?

Planning how you will spend your salary—balancing your accounts beforehand, not for the sake of counting your chickens before they are hatched, but in order to divide your wages so that your family will get the most comfort for the least money.

You know what your wages for the next month or the next year will be. You also know what are your necessities and luxuries. According to the budget system you divide your income to cover these needs, and never rob one to increase the other, nor spend more than your appropriation.

Few do this, but those who are thus forehanded generally prosper.

Nobody can tell exactly what another's budget ought to be.

One estimate allows 20 per cent. for rent, 12 per cent. for operating expenses such as light, heat, carfare and laundry; 18 per cent. for clothing; 15 per cent. for incidentals—amusements, education, church, lodge, doctor, dentist, savings and insurance, and 35 per cent. for food.

This may be a proper distribution of a salary, and again it may not. No law of expenditure can possibly be made.

At present high prices, families living on $1,000 a year probably are spending 45 per cent. for food. Families living on $2,500 need spend no more than $450 a year for food; thus as the income increases the percentage required for food becomes smaller.

People who try to practice economy are usually content with a clearing house system of accounting. They balance their books at the end of the month and are satisfied if they have not spent more than they have earned, if there are no unpaid and unpayable bills.

But this method gets them nowhere. It conceals bad management without remedying it.

The budget system is better, for it substitutes sense for chance in spending.

GOBBLE, GOBBLE!

(Chicago Herald.)

Suicide has now become so stable a phenomenon that the number of persons who will die by self-murder during the next year may be predicted with a fair degree of accuracy.

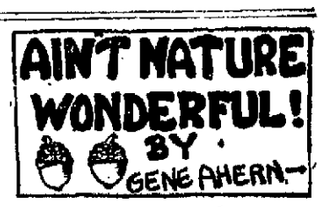
In fact, the suicide rate is so regular that Frederick L. Hoffman, the noted insurance statistician, devotes a considerable analysis to the causes and to the means of prevention. It is a business problem with Mr. Hoffman, who sets forth his conclusions in The Spectator.

One of the surprising results of his investigation is that going westward seems to stimulate the suicidal tendency. The Pacific coast cities have the high record. Next in order come the Rocky Mountain cities, the central west cities, the eastern cities and the south, with the lowest rate of all. The explanation of this distribution of suicide is not apparent. To a certain extent business failures and self-destruction go together, but Mr. Hoffman does not regard this as a sufficient explanation.

Men, however, are very much more apt to commit suicide than are women, and of the four seasons, spring appears to induce the largest number voluntarily to leave life. But no ages are immune. From tender childhood to decrepit old age the impulse expresses itself here and there.

One of the important causes of suicide is the unwillingness of modern men and women to endure hopeless suffering. Cancer in its incurable stages and other such agonizing diseases explain many cases. Heredity appears to account for others. The researches of Charles B. Davenport of the eugenics laboratory indicate this. "Arteriosclerotic depression" is often the basis of a suicidal tendency which runs in families.

Partial remedies are to be found in making self-destruction more difficult. By protecting high buildings, by limiting the sale of firearms, by regulating strictly the marketing of poisons, many people can be deterred from this ultimate surrender to melancholy.



Now is the time for all good janitors to come to the aid of their tenants.

SOUTH BEND WOMAN IS SURPRISED AT RESULT

"I'm Highly Elated Over Relief Tanlac Brought Me," Mrs. Cordray Asserts.

South Bend, Ind., Dec. 1.—"I'm highly elated over the relief this medicine Tanlac brought me. It surely is a wonderful medicine."

This was the tribute paid the Premier Preparation on November 2 by Mrs. E. H. Cordray, a well known South Bend woman of 1509 South Michigan street.

"I was troubled with a catarrhal affection of the throat and my kidneys were out of shape," she continued. "In fact, my system generally was in a run down condition. The constant dripping of mucous into my throat annoyed me greatly and caused my breath to be offensive. My kidneys were weak and irregular and I was very nervous. I didn't eat very much and felt tired and worn out all the time.

"Tanlac was highly recommended and I decided to try the new medicine. After I had finished the first bottle of Tanlac I began to feel better. The dripping of mucus into my throat ceased and I began to eat more heartily. I've finished the second bottle now and feel fine. My kidneys are in good order and the tired, worn out feeling has been banished. Tanlac is certainly a wonderful medicine and I recommend it."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and the like.

Tanlac is now being specially introduced and explained in Fort Wayne at the four Meyer drug stores—Wayne and Calhoun, Calhoun and Columbia, 1420 Calhoun and Broadway and Taylor streets.—Advertisement.

BUSINESS CONTINUES ON ITS UPWARD CLIMB

The business story of the past month is in the main a repetition of that of most other months in 1916," says the monthly letter on general business conditions just issued by the Old National bank. "In other words high record marks in many lines of trade, established several times during the year only to be surpassed the succeeding month, have once more been set up. That business has attained the enormous totals recorded below in spite of the fact that some factors are at present seriously hampering its advance, speaks eloquently of the size and extent of commercial and industrial operations.

"There are both favorable and unfavorable aspects of the present situation," the letter continues. "The longer abnormal conditions last, the more abruptly will the turn toward a smaller volume of business appear, when it does come, and the more quickly will all lines have to adjust themselves to the change. That trade has maintained its unprecedented totals for so long a time, however, provides additional opportunity for the business man to prepare for the future, if he has not already done so.

"Peace talk is rife and, while nothing definite may develop for some months, all business should be shaped to stand the reflex which will naturally follow the close of the European war."

Miss Helen Christen, of Wallace street, entertained on Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Ruth Bourie, a bride-elect of this month. The pretty decorations were carried out in pink and white with pink baskets as favors and pink candles to light the table. A game of bunco was enjoyed and prize winners were Miss Margaret Banse and Miss Eleanor Wuchaker.

Tigar, of Packard avenue, who has been in Washington and other western states for some time, has entered a naval school of wireless telegraphy, near San Francisco, and will take a full course in that line of work. Members of the Monday and the Thursday Afternoon Shakespeare clubs have been invited by the College club to act as patrons at the performance next Monday evening at the Majestic, of the Shakespearian tercentenary. Both of these clubs had planned to make some observance of the tercentenary during the season, anyway, so this courtesy on their part to the College club is much appreciated. A dress rehearsal was held at the theater this afternoon for the performance and Miss Bessie Baldwin, the capable director, was much pleased with the way everything went off.

The San Diego (Cal.) Union of November 26, contains a long account of a novel pageant by school children of that city, which brought out the largest crowd of spectators seen so far in this, the second year of San Diego's great exposition. The interest of the pageant in this city centers in the fact that Miss Hulda Hanker, with her partner, Miss Cornelia Strobhar, trained the children in their dancing and singing parts. The children wore Mother [illegible] that the reason Mother Goose was induced to return to America after an absence of about three hundred years, was that the old lady just couldn't bear to see the exposition close without paying it a visit, and of course, she had to bring along the people of her kingdom.

Hoffmeier—Altekruse.

A pretty wedding of simple appointment was that of Miss Esther Altekruse, daughter of Mrs. Amelia Altekruse, of 706 Runnion avenue, and Mr. Ernest Hoffmeier, a son of the late William Hoffmeier, of Lake township, which took place at St. John's Reformed church on Thanksgiving night at 8 o'clock, the Rev. John H. Rosch officiating at the ceremony. Mr. John Rohlman presided at the organ and played the wedding music from "Lohengrin" as the bride and groom, preceded by the ushers, Messrs. A. Leslie Jacobs and Elmer Baade, entered the church and took their place for the marriage service. Just before the ceremony Miss Pauline Werkman sang "O, Promise Me," and Mrs. Rohlman played softly during the service. After the benediction the wedding party left the church to the strains of the Mendelssohn wedding march. The bride wore a becoming, but not elaborate gown of white crepe de chine and a veil of tulle held to her hair with a wreath of orange blossoms, worn by her mother at her wedding. The bride made her own gown and it was a beautiful piece of work, the trimming being principally of the material corded with white satin. The bridal bouquet was a colonial shower of roses and swansonia. The church was decorated with large palms. From the church the bride and groom drove directly to their own home on a farm in Lake township, which the groom has newly furnished. The bride is a young woman of exceptionally sweet and beautiful character and Christian principles. She is devoted to the work of St. John's Reformed church in every way. Mr. Hoffmeier enjoys, with his bride, the confidence and high esteem of their many friends and associates.

McKellar—Ellenwood.

A simple, but lovely wedding on Thanksgiving day was Miss Mabel Ellenwood's, which took place at the residence of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Ellenwood, in South Clinton street, at 6 o'clock in the evening. Miss Ellenwood and Mr. Hector McKellar, of Jackson, Mich., were married by Rev. D. H. Guild, pastor of the First M. E. church. Only immediate relatives were present. Miss Muriel Baxter played the wedding music. The bride had no attendants and she wore her traveling suit of blue cloth with blouse of white georgette crepe. When she left on her wedding trip the bride wore a hat of taupe velvet and her gloves and shoes matched its color. The wedding dinner was also the Thanksgiving dinner, too, and the table displayed the good things of the season. Pink snapdragon and chrysanthemum blossoms decorated the table and the dining room. Mr. McKellar's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McKellar, of Kendallville, and Mrs. Elizabeth Davis, of Kokomo, were visiting guests at the wedding. Mr. and Mrs. McKellar are to make their home in Jackson, Mich., where Mr. McKellar is a news dealer. They will keep house and are to be at home after the first of January at 103 Woodbridge street. The bride is a cultured and charming young woman, whose many friends regret to have her leave the city. The groom formerly lived in Kendallville, where he had no end of friends. He has made a success of his business in his new home.

Fenker—Beerman.

Miss Helen Marie Beerman and Mr. Raymond J. Fenker were married on Thursday morning at 9 o'clock at the Church of the Precious Blood by Rev. Father Hummer, who celebrated the nuptial mass. The bride, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Beerman, was attended by her sister, Miss Mildred, and the groom's sister, Miss Rosella Fenker, and the groom had his brother, Andrew Fenker, as best man. The bride were a beautiful gown of white taffeta combined with net and lace while her long tulle veil was fashioned into a frill for her hair and fell to the bottom of her dress. The bride carried a white prayerbook with bookmark of ribbon and clusters of swansonia blossoms. The bridesmaids wore gowns of delicate coloring, one pink and the other yellow, and their hats and bouquets corresponded. Miss Fenker wore the yellow and Miss Beerman the pink. Following the marriage service the bridal party were entertained at the bride's home at breakfast. Relatives and a few friends were present. The bride's table was trimmed with smilax and pink and white roses and the wedding cake, while flowers and smilax decorated the rooms. After a wedding trip to Michigan points Mr. and Mrs. Fenker will return and go to housekeeping at 1647 Richardson street. The groom is employed at the Wayne Knitting Mills and with his bride have the respect and good wishes of all who know them.

Hormann, were married at the Cathedral on Thursday morning at 7 o'clock by Rev. John R. Quinlan. Miss Lettie Huttinger, a sister of the bride, was her attendant, and Mr. Charles Fry was groomsman. The bride presented a beautiful appearance in a suit of taupe velvet, with pink georgette crepe blouse and a pink velvet hat trimmed with silver lace. The bride wore a corsage of pink roses. The bridesmaid wore a dark blue cloth suit with velvet hat to correspond and wore

Just Suppose—

Suppose that you were at a musicale in a private home or in a public concert room.

Suppose that a great singer whom you had been invited to hear, or had paid an admittance fee to hear, got up before you and sang in such a way that his voice sounded like a talking machine.

What would you think, and what would you do?

You would think that the singer was trying to play a joke on you and you would be offended, and if you had paid money at the door, you would demand its return.

You do not expect a singer's real voice to sound like his talking machine records, and of course you don't expect his talking machine records to sound like his voice.

When you hear a great artist in concert work or upon the stage, that artist's voice sounds exactly as it would sound when re-created by the New Edison. In other words, there is absolutely no difference between an artist's real voice and Edison's re-creation of his voice.

A picture of ARTHUR MIDDLETON, great bass of the Metropolitan Opera Company, as he has appeared in public, singing in direct comparison with Edison's Re-Creation of his voice to prove that one is indistinguishable from the other.

Proved 300 Times

The fact that Edison's new invention, the New Edison, re-creates the human voice with such literal fidelity that the living voice cannot be distinguished from the re-creation of it has been demonstrated in public more than 300 times.

Great artists, such as Marie Rappold, Anna Case, Alice Verlet, Christine Miller, Arthur Middleton and Thomas Chalmers, standing beside the New Edison, have sung alternately with it, and it is a fact, which can be proved by accounts of these astounding tests in more than two hundred of America's leading newspapers, that it was impossible for the audience to distinguish the artists' living voices from Edison's re-creation of them on his latest and greatest invention, the New Edison.

The New Edison will bring into your home the literal re-creation of the voices—and instrumental performances—of the world's great artists.

When you hear Zenatello's magnicent tenor, or the wonderful voices of Matzenauer and Destinn, as re-created by the New Edison, you are hearing those voices exactly as they sound upon the opera stage.

If you have the New Edison in your home, you don't have to imagine how a great artist's voice really sounds. You know how it sounds when you have heard it re-created by the New Edison.

Come to our store and hear

The New Edison

Before you decide what is to be the principal gift this year to your family, come to our store and hear the New Edison. Come at any hour. You will be welcome, and you will not be urged to buy.

OLD FOLKS NEED "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER, BOWELS

Get a 10-cent box now.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.—Advertisement.

Mother Love About Law, Judge Asserts

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 30.—"Mother love is above law," says Judge J. M. Johnson, who has returned little Waneta Penny to her mother, Mrs. Jewell Clark, of Richmond, Mo.

Two couples fought for the child. Robert and Mrs. Murray, an aged couple of Holden, Mo., claimed the little girl because she had been legally adopted by them from the Children's Home society.

Clark began a court battle to win the child for his bride although he is not the child's father. His wife told him the child was born to her before her marriage, that the father of the baby disappeared and she placed the little girl with the Children's society.

DRINK WATER TO AVOID SICKNESS SAYS AUTHORITY

Sanitary science has of late made rapid strides with results that are of untold blessing to humanity. The latest application of its untiring research is the recommendation that it is as necessary to attend to internal sanitation of the drainage system of the human body as it is to the drains of the house.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the phosphated hot water is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatic stiffness; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.—Advertisement.

SIMPLY COULDN'T FORGET THE LOOP

Chicago, Nov. 30.—Mary Alice Smith is back!

Out on a quiet, dreary farm in Amboy, Ill., where she thought she could find love, a real home and a fortune, Mary has heard the tempting call of the big city and answered.

A little over a year ago Mary drew her $12 a week as stenographer in a Chicago real estate office and sighed.

There would be hardly enough for a "movie" show after she paid for room rent, meals and laundry.

Oh, for a real, quiet home where she could have someone to love and laugh with. Anywhere, to get away from the crushing, pushing city of unsympathetic crowds.

James Pankhurst, Amboy farmer, advertised for a "daughter" who would inherit $10,000 if she would remain with him and his wife during their life and remain unmarried.

Mary was chosen from among 2,000 applicants.

Could she forget Chicago's loop for $10,000?

She said she could. And just two months ago she said she was satisfied with farm life—she would never again return to the heartless, friendless city.

But now she is back in Chicago.

"Chickens and pigs and cows are nice in their way," she says, "but they are not so nice as the city.

"Oh, the city is so big and friendly and home-like. And it grows so dull and frozen and bleak in the open.

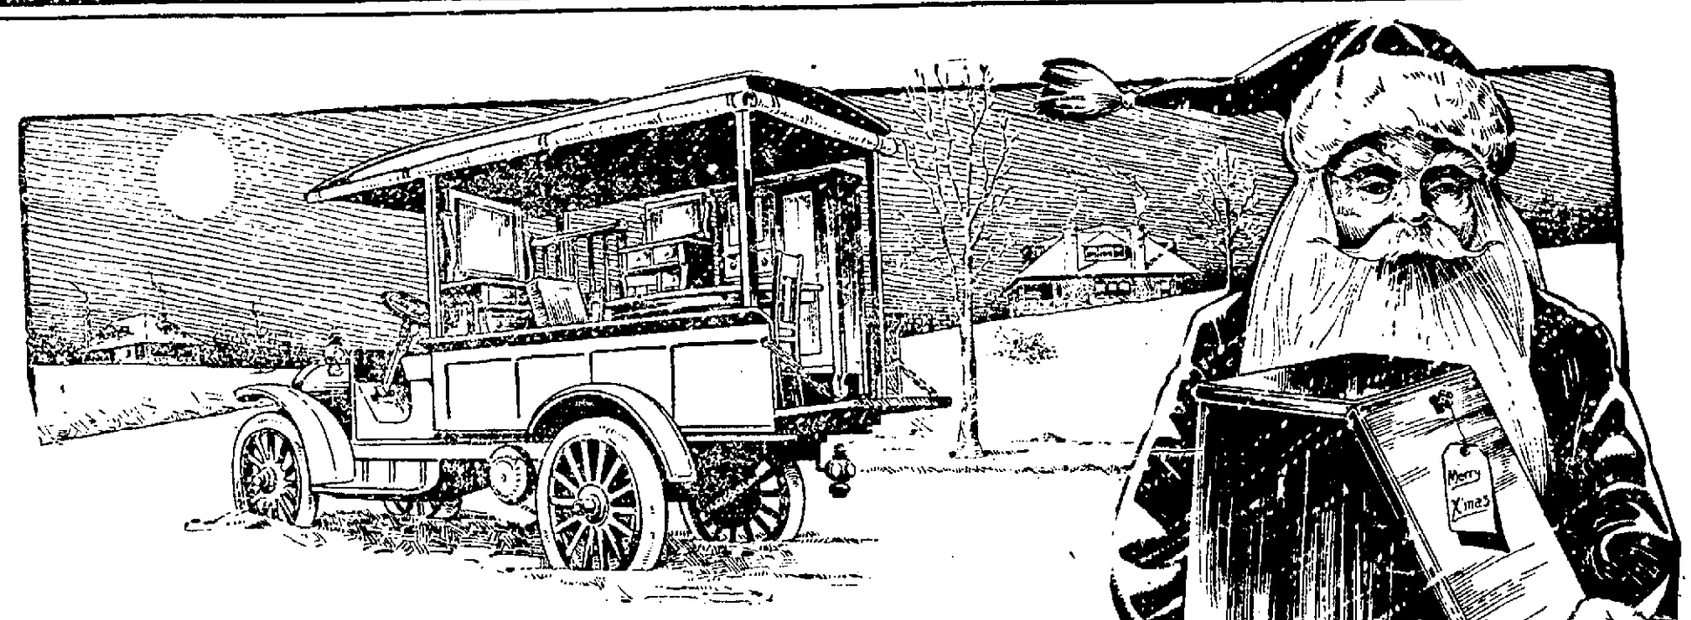
"I never had a caller down on the farm. It was part of the agreement that I was not to marry. I am not crazy for the company of young men, but I DO like to meet them."

Mary has tried the quiet, romantic, $10,000 life on the farm with the hustling, bustling, $12 life in the city and picked the latter.

Massive Statue is Work of a Woman

This bronze statue, representing electricity, weighs sixteen tons and is the work of Miss Evelyn Beatrice Longman, a recognized leader in sculpture. It is twenty-four feet high and will be placed 436 feet above the street level atop the new twenty-seven-story Telephone building in New York.

A diaphragm and horn resembling a phonograph's have been invented to make telegraph relay instruments audible and save the use of additional sounders.

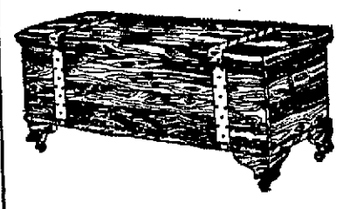


Give Her Furniture!

Next to the children, the biggest thing in a woman's life is her home, and anything that makes the home brighter, more attractive, more liveable and loveable, has a sentimental value that cannot be figured in dollars and cents. So why not be governed accordingly, and this year present your loved ones with some pretty, artistic and useful piece—something that all can enjoy! And why not buy it where you can arrange to pay for it without making the entire out-lay all in one sum—where you can divide the total up into small sums which you will be able to pay without missing it as you can at Hadley's.

This Casserol Only 98c

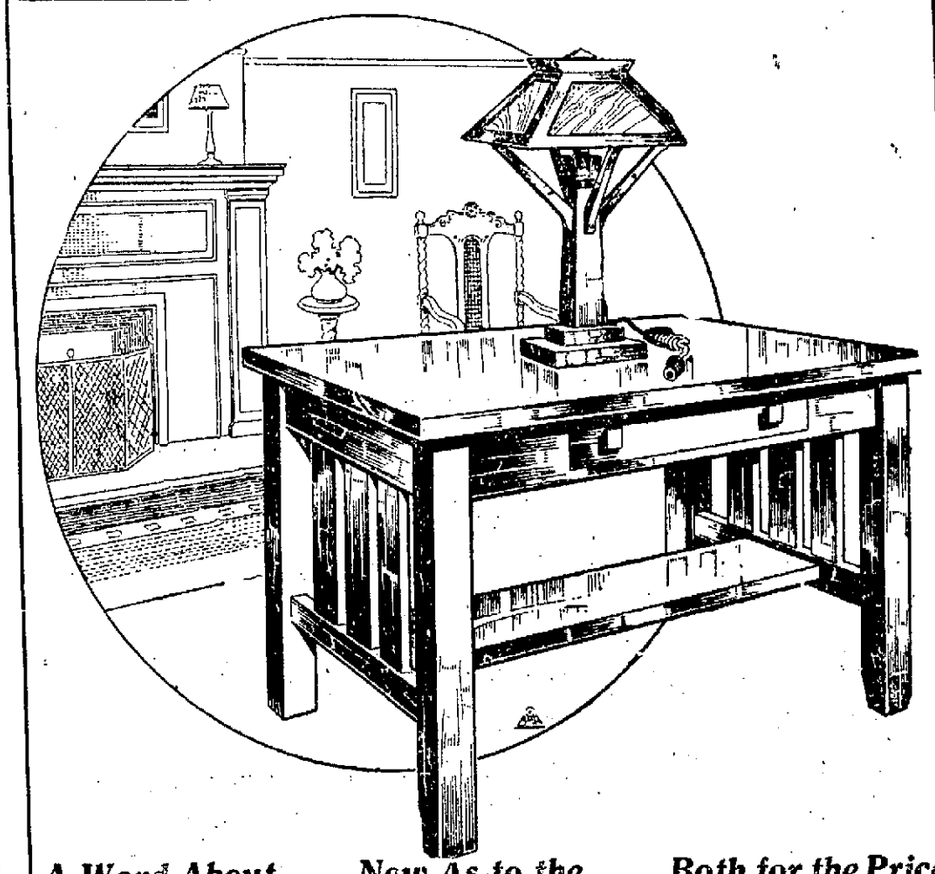
It measures 9¼ inches from handle to handle, so you can see that it is not a small, cheap article. It is brown outside and white within. The holder is plated, of a handsome design, and has wooden handles which eliminate the possibility of burned fingers.



Colonial Cedar Chest $9.85

It is constructed of the very finest Red Tennessee Cedar along handsome Colonial lines, and trimmed with copper bands. It is heavy and massive, and furnishes absolute protection against moths and vermin.

This Fumed Oak Table and Lamp $14.75



A Word About The Lamp

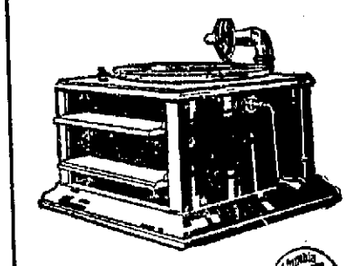
This lamp was as carefully designed and built as any large article of furniture. It is a substantial affair, that, with ordinary care, will last quite as long as the table. It has an art glass shade, and is fitted with silk-covered cord and a plug that may be quickly arranged to any electric socket. In finish, it exactly matches the table.

Now As to the Table

It is built of massive, solid oak, that will last for years and years. The magazine or book shelf is a wide one, and the ends of it are firmly mortised into the crosspieces. It is built on generous proportions, and finished in a fumed stain that is appropriate to this mission style of furniture. Rigidly bolted, and neatly finished in every respect.

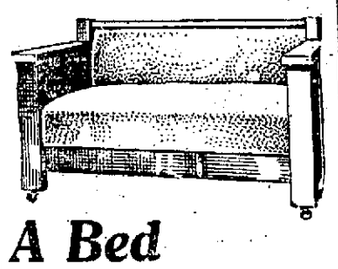
Both for the Price of the Table

The table alone would be a great value at $14.75, so we expect a brisk demand for this combination. We therefore urge you to come in early tomorrow to see this table and lamp. If you need a living room table, here is a chance to get a good one, at a moderate price, and a table lamp free besides. Remember, you need pay only a small cash deposit and the balance may be arranged to suit your convenience.



Columbia Grafonola $15.00

The cabinet is of golden oak, and measures 13½ by 13¾ inches, and 7 inches high. In listening to this machine you become unconscious of the fact that there is a machine there—the beautiful instrument seems to fade and vanish, giving place to the artist who made the record.



A Bed Davenport $29.75

Handsome Tea Cart $9.95

A tea cart is more practical than it is usually given credit of being. You may load it with your vituals in the kitchen and wheel them into the dining room all at one trip, thus saving scores of steps. This particular design will take any woman's eye. You'll delight her with such a gift.

This Rocker is one of the largest sizes made, but despite the bigness and roominess, there is no suggestion of clumsiness in its appearance. The upholstering is hung on an unusually long rocker frame, so that when the chair is rocked it swings clear back and forth, without any danger of being tilted over backward, and without that short, jerky motion of some chairs. The upholstering is unusually deep and overstuffed so that comfort is assured.

Ladies' Writing Desk $5.85

Every home needs a desk of some sort. Every woman or girl wants one along these lines. GORDON IS SPEAKER BEFORE QUEST CLUB

Vocational Schools Director Tells of Work That is Being Done.

Walter E. Gordon, director of Fort Wayne's vocational education schools, told members of the Quest club at noon luncheon Friday at the Commercial club what these schools were doing for practical education and asked the club to support all legislative measures bearing on the progress of the institutions.

Indiana, he said, was one of seven states which had earnestly taken up the matter of vocational education with a view to making education more than a fad. He declared there was a difference between manual training and vocational education with the springing up of a new industrialism over the country. "There are new demands in education and we have indulged in culture, ignoring the practical," said the speaker.

Put in $240,000.

The state of Indiana during the last year put $240,000 into vocational education, and of this sum Fort Wayne got $8,000 for maintenance of vocational schools. By the present law the state pays two-thirds of the cost of instruction providing the schools getting the state aid abide by the requirements of the state. The Fort Wayne vocational schools are prospering with a night enrollment of 550, although the day enrollment has been somewhat cut down by prosperous times bringing many of the students into daily pursuits.

Placing students in profitable employment for which they were suited would do much to check the social evil, the speaker said, although he added the vocational institutions, now operated for both boys and girls, were not a cure-all for social evils. Mr. Gordon has been at the head of the schools for three years and has had wide experience in his work.

J. A. Underwood of the Favorite Stove company, Piqua, O., will be the speaker before the Quest club at the Hotel Anthony next Friday night.

MISS TEIPER UNABLE TO APPEAR AT TRIAL

Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 1.—The announcement that Miss Grace Teiper would appear today as a witness in the trial of her brother, John Edward Teiper, alleged murderer of his mother and brother, attracted a large crowd to court.

With the exception of the accused brother, Miss Teiper is the only surviving member of the automobile party murderously attacked on the Orchard Park road on the night of January 30. She was terribly beaten about the head and for several weeks her life hung in the balance. Her injuries, it is said, blotted out memory of the events at the scene of the murder.

Physicians representing the prosecutor reported that they had visited Miss Teiper at her home today and found her in no condition to testify. George L. Lewis, the Teiper family lawyer, said that it was unlikely that Miss Teiper would appear in court in response to the subpoena served on her by the district attorney. "She is anxious to take the stand," said Mr. Lewis. "Her general health is good but the nature and violence of the hysterical attacks to which she is subject make it unlikely that she can go on the witness stand in open court."

WLL DISCUSS LEGISLATION.

Chiropractors to Hold Meeting at Marion on Sunday.

Marion, Ind., Dec. 1.—Chiropractors in northern Indiana will meet in Marion Sunday to discuss proposed legislation desired by members of that profession. The meeting was called by L. E. Fuller, of Indianapolis, president of the Indiana Chiropractors' association. The chiropractors wish a separate board of registration and examination for their business.

RAILROADS SUM UP THEIR VIEW OF IT

National Public Ownership League Also Out With Statement.

(By Gilson Gardner.)

Washington, Nov. 30.—Representatives of the railways have told the Newlands committee what they would like at the hands of congress. Their presentation sums up about this way:

1. Abolish state control over railroads.
2. Put the federal government behind the credit of the roads, in order that they may borrow more money.
3. Abolish the interstate commerce commission as it is now constituted, and put in its place a federal railroad commission and regional commissions, controlled by the railroads.
4. Give this federal commission power to prescribe minimum rates. This will check competition and help to maintain high freight rates.
5. Curb the power of the I. C. C. to suspend high or unreasonable rates.

The committee will next hear from the state railway commission.

In a statement prepared for the use of the committee investigating the railroad situation, Paul D. Thompson, secretary of the National Public Ownership league, says:

Every important nation in the world with but three or four exceptions, owns and operates all or a very considerable portion of its railway system. Considerably more than one-half of the entire railway mileage of the world is now operated under public ownership. Practically all telegraph and telephone systems outside of the United States are publicly owned and operated. The entire postal systems of the world are publicly owned. The Prussian government owns and operates 245 groups of coal mines; New Zealand produces one-eighth of the entire coal supply of that country; some of the Scandinavian states own silver mines; Dutch East India owns tin mines; South Africa and Australia, gold mines; oil fields are owned and operated by Austria, Hungary, Servia and the Argentine republic.

In the field of municipal utilities public ownership is even more extensive and wide-spread. In England there are 171 municipally owned street car lines, 1,045 waterworks, 334 electric light and power plants, 300 gas plants. In Germany there are 132 municipally owned street car lines, 1,333 waterworks, 434 electric light and power plants, 753 gas plants, and in the United States there are 4 municipally owned street car lines, 3,045 waterworks, 1,582 electric light and power plants, 30 gas plants.

This by no means exhausts the list of municipal enterprise. Municipal ownership of land is becoming quite general in European cities. Berlin owns 39,000 acres or about nine per cent. of the total area of the city; Munich owns 13,000 acres or 23 per cent. of the city's area; Zurich, Paris, Buenos Ayres, Sydney and many other German and English cities own and rent dwelling houses. In this country Boston owns and operates a very successful printing plant. Brookings, South Dakota, owns a telephone system, and Cincinnati owns a railroad three hundred miles in length.

A careful and rather conservative estimate places the total capital invested in public enterprises of all kinds in the world at sixty billions of dollars ($60,000,000,000;) the total number of workers in the public employ at nearly nineteen million, (18,858,600,) and the total annual wages paid at over two billion dollars, ($2,265,000,000.)

Here then is a world-wide experience in public ownership. And what are the results? The results, we will say, in a sweeping generalization which we are prepared to sustain by abundant evidence from every direction, are that under public ownership wages are higher, cost of service is less and the public earns a profit that goes into the public funds. In other words, public ownership cuts down the property incomes and increases service incomes, and this it does by increasing returns to labor, reducing the cost of service and taking for the community the values which the community creates.

SAVE YOUR HAIR!

25 CENT BOTTLE STOPS DANDRUFF

Every bit of dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application you rhair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance, an incomparable gloss and softness; but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.—Advertisement.

FIFTY-TWO FIRES DURING THE MONTH

High cost of fuel served to give Fort Wayne a record for the number of small fires during the month of November. Firemen made fifty-two dashes during the month, the records show. Twenty of these clattering rushes were made during the still hours of night.

But most of the fires were small affairs in which smoke was the main feature. Total loss is but $2,875. Sparks from chimneys, tumbling on parched roofs, was the cause of most calls. There were nine grass fires during the month.

During November, 1915, there were forty-eight calls with fire damage totalling $10,000.

INVITED TO CONFERENCE.

Will Hear President Talk Over Telephone From Washington.

Mayor Hosey received an invitation to the rail and water conference, to be held in Evansville, on December 13 and 1. Hosey will be unable to attend the meeting and has ordered the invitation to be turned over to the Commercial club in the hope that Fort Wayne may send a representative to the conference.

An address by President Wilson will be a feature. Wilson will talk into a telephone in his office in the national capitol.. A telephone will be set before al ldelegates who assemble about the several "round tables" at the Evansville meeting.

Little Sickness.

"The city of few ills," is suggested as another slogan for Fort Wayne, because the disease record of the past year has been almost miraculous. There were but six cases of diphtheria reported in the city during the month just gone. Four of those came from the feeble minded institution on Satate street. This is in the face of diphtheria epidemics in all leading cities surrounding Fort Wayne. During November, a year ago, there was but one case of diphtheria. Four cases of scarlet fever are on the records in the health board office. There were four cases in November last year.

Mayor Out of Danger.

So marked has been the improvement of Mayor Hosey during the past twenty-four hours that physicians at the St. Joseph hospital believe him safe from danger of relapse, from his recent operation. Thursday was considered to be the critical day on which outcome of the operation could be determined. The mayor improved on Thursday and is much better Friday.

TEACHES THE LARGEST SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS

David H. Hogg Leader of Men's Bible Class of First Baptist Church.

The men's Bible class of the First Baptist church proudly calls itself the largest Sunday school class in the city. Last Sunday one hundred and twenty-one men were in this class. For several months the attendance has not once fallen below the hundred mark.

DAVID H. HOGG.

Attorney David H. Hogg, of the firm of Macbeth & Hogg, is the teacher of the class and he seems to be a very popular one. He teaches entirely by the question method and manages to keep the interest intense at all times. A more "live wire" class of men is probably not to be found in this city or any other city near here. The subject for discussion in the class next Sunday is "Reasons for Doubt."

GONZALES INCREASES HIS FORCE AT JUAREZ

Prepares for Possible Attack by Bandits on Border Town.

Juarez, Mex., Dec. 1.—Gen. Francisco Gonzales announced today he had received a report that Gen. Carlos Ozuna's cavalry met a band of Villa troops south of Terraszas yesterday morning and routed them, driving the bandits back into the city of Chihuahua. Gen. Gonzales said Gen. Ozuna's command numbered approximately 3,000 men.

Gen. Gonzales said he was increasing the size of his forces in Juarez and would increase the number of troops in Villa Auhumada, 83 miles south of here, and along the Mexican Central railroad and the overland trails to prevent a surprise attack upon the border town by one bandit force.

RAILWAY CONGESTION BECOMES MORE ACUTE

Chicago, Dec. 1.—Congestion of railway facilities between Chicago and the Atantic seaboard became more acute today. The Baltimore & Ohio was expected to give notice within 48 hours of an embargo on all grain shipments both domestic and export.

An embargo was also expected on the Erie. The New York Central has aready put an embargo into effect.

In the grain trade here the difficulties of the railways was attributed chiefly to the curtailment of export grain shipments and to the consequent cogging of elevators and side track storage.

FINDS BOERGER NOT GUILTY OF ASSAULT

Judge O'Rourke, Sitting as Special Judge, Gives Finding in Case.

Alfred Boerger, charged with assault and battery on Fred Laggeman on July 10, 1915, in front of a barber shop on South Hanna street, was found not guilty by Judge Edward O'Rourke, sitting as special judge Friday in circuit court in the case. The finding was given Friday afternoon.

There was conflicting evidence, Deputy Prosecutor Hayes says, as to whether Laggeman was struck or fell to the sidewalk, striking his head, fracturing his skull and sustaining a lapse of memory, being unable to relate clearly the details of the injury.

Will is Filed.

Bennajah C. Skinner's will has been filed for probate in circuit court by which all of the property is given to the widow, Olivia J. S. Skinner, to dispose of as she thinks best. The will is dated March 19, 1915.

IN THE CHURCHES

It was a happy congregation of people that crowded the West Jefferson Street Church of Christ Thursday evening at the reception in celebration of the successful debt-paying campaign. Many members of the West Creighton Avenue and East Creighton Avenue Churches of Christ were in attendance to offer their congratulations. Capt. W. A. Kelsey gave a historical sketch of the church. Rev. M. L. Buckley and Rev. E. H. Clifford spoke briefly.

The occasion was doubly interesting as the date was also that of the eleventh wedding anniversary of Rev. and Mrs. O. E. Tomes. Taking advantage of this fact, those in charge of the program prepared several very happy surprises. Rev. Tomes and his wife upon order of the chairman, were conducted to the front and presented with a set of silver spoons by the Fidelity circle of King's Daughters. They returned to their places only to be called to the front again, when Capt. W. A. Kelsey, acting for the officers of the church and congregation, seriously informed Rev. Tomes that with the close of this year his term as pastor of the church came to an end, but hastened to add that he was instructed to inform the pastor that he was called to another term of service at an increase in salary amounting to $300 a year.

For the third time the pastor and his wife were called before the congregation and informed by Attorney W. N. Ballou that he thought it appropriate that another wedding ceremony should be performed, instructing the pastor and his wife to join hands, he spoke of the appreciation on the part of the congregation of the services rendered by Mr. Tomes and the regard in which the pastor and his wife were held by their large circle of friends. He then presented Rev. Tomes with an envelope and the latter remarked that since it was customary for the minister to give his wife the wedding fee he would follow that precedent. When Mrs. Tomes opened the envelop she found five crisp twenty-dollar bills.

This evening the members of the congregation and their friends will gather at a supper prepared by the Ladies' Aid society. On Sunday evening the mortgage on the church property will be burned at the public services.

ASK POLICE TO FIND LONG LOST BROTHER

He Was Put in County Orphanage Twenty-Three Years Ago.

Porter Ashcraft was twelve years old when his father and mother died and he was put in the Allen county orphans' home. But that was twenty-three years ago.

Thanksgiving day brought tender memories to May Ashcraft, as her name was twenty-three years ago, but now she is Mrs. Charles Irons. She lives, surrounded by a family of children, in Coalmont, a southern Indiana village.

She fell to thinking about her little brother, Porter, on Thanksgiving day. She remembered him in knee pants and with wavy brown hair and the bloom of roses in his cheeks. She wanted to see Porter again. She sat right down and wrote a letter to Fort Wayne.

Police Chief Lenz got the message Friday afternoon. He inquired from the matron of the orphans' home about Porter, who is thirty-five years old now.

The present county home has been built but twenty-one years. Children were taken from the Reformed orphanage at that time and moved to the present county institution. Porter was not moved. He had been taken from the Reformed orphanage at that time.

Lenz was to deliver a letter to Porter. The penciled pages tell of the marriage of sister Lottie, now of Clinton, Iowa, and of the journeys of the other three children.

Lenz will return the letter. He will use the enclosed postage stamps to explain that the Porter, of the wavy brown hair, has long since gone out into the busy world. He is lost to the memory of Fort Wayne.

BLAMES SHORTAGE OF AMMUNITION AND FOOD

Washington, D. C., Dec. 1.—Shortage of ammunition and food rather than lack of morale among the Carranza troops at Chihuahua City is held by Ambassador designate Arredondo to be the real cause of the defeat of General Trevino and Carranza forces by Villa bandits.

Mr. Arrenodndo believes the Carranza troops were forced to evacuate, but has no official word of the fight showing definitely that General Trevino had abandoned his position.

Mr. Arredondo called at the state department today and conferred with Secretary Lansing on arrangements for the reconvening of the American-Mexican commission. Beyond expressing the hope that the agreement reached would be approved, Mr. Arredondo said he was unable to speak. He appeared to believe that General Carranza would approve it. At the state and war departs officials had no information on the fighting at Chihuahua City.

SUBMARINE SIGHTED OF CAPE HATTERAS

New York, Dec. 1.—An unidentified vessel, riding low in the water without the usual green and red side lights and believed to be a submarine was sighted forty miles east of Diamond shoals, Cape Hatteras, at 10:30 p. m., November 29, from the bridge of the American steamship Crofton Hall, according to officers of the ship on her arrival here from South American ports. The unknown craft, the officers said, was moving in a southerly direction following a Spanish sailing ship.

Thinking it might be a small boat or barge adrift they started to render assistance, but as they changed their course the unknown drew off and the lights were extinguished.

He told Mr. Leonard it would be safe to bring the prize cattle from the states to the International Live Stock exposition, which opens here December 4.

NEWS PICTURE BY DURBOROUGH SHOWS ONE REASON WHY PRICES ARE SOARING.

Scarcity of food and coal on the market is sending prices sky-high while tons of both commodities are held up.

A canvass of the Western and the Chicago Terminal divisions by I. Fred Walters, the representative of those districts on the advisory board of the Pennsylvania Voluntary Relief association, which covered a period of four weeks, resulted in getting 300 members of the department to take advantage of the proposition to increase the amount of the sick and death benefits of their policies and also succeeded in getting a number of men not already in the department to join it. A number of the members informed Mr. Walters that it was their intention to increase the amount of their policies in January or February and before the close of the winter it is quite probable that over 600 members will have increased their benefits at the small additional costs offered by the association. A description of the plan was published by The Sentinel several months ago. Mr. Walters resumed his duties as watchman at the Clinton street entrance to the shops this morning. They put the automobile in a repair shop and took employment at the Pennsylvania power station with General Foreman W. H. Sherbondy, expecting to resume the journey in a few days. "Well, well, one learns something new every day. I never knew it was such a luxury to live until a couple of days after I began to eat 'O-Eat-It.' Simply because, like most people, I had been going on for years in the same old way. Thought I was feeling pretty fair, only constipated and bilious once in a while, with headaches and lazy feeling in the morning. Kind of expected it now and then. But, after eating that luscious regulating food, 'O-Eat-It,' I feel such a sense of lightness, well-being, energy and clear-headedness, it seems a new world."

Why? The bran in the various grains that grow is known to be the most effective, easiest, most thorough bowel, body and liver regulator known to man. Heretofore bran has never been used successfully in food. It was always heavy, tasteless. By a remarkable new process, "O-Eat-It," made up of over one-third of grain-bran—a greater quantity than ever used in food—is made extraordinarily luscious and light as a feather. It is a combination of rich grains—nature's greatest builder of tissue, brawn, blood and brain.

"O-Eat-It" takes the place of the white-flour bread and breakfast foods that cause so much constipation, clogging of livers and stagnation of vital organs.

"O-Eat-It" comes in crisp, ready-to-eat slices of nut-brown toast, eaten as it is, or served in a variety of delicious ways.

Stop constipation, biliousness, headache and tiredness. Regulate the liver, feel fine all over all the time. Give it to the children, too.

"O-Eat-It" is sold by grocers, 25c for a large sanitary package, or sent direct on receipt of price by O-Eat-It Company, 264 Studebaker Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

If your grocer does not have it, you will find it on sale and recommended by the following grocers: The Aurentz, J. A. Hetrick, H. P. Brinkroeger, Central Grocery, H. L. Cline, Coverdale & Archer, F. Dickmeyer & Sons, Wm. Doehrman & Sons, Fred Freese, Getz, Sharn & Orr, Frank Heit, Heiny's Grocery, Nick Klug, C. G. Reinkensmeier, F. Shearer, J. Gay Colors on Coats for Girls

[By Betty Brown.]

Many new juvenile coats are in these gay colored mixtures and are trimmed with fur cloth in mole or navy blue or some other dark color. The big patch pockets will keep a small person's hands warm even if she doesn't carry a muff. Anyway they are in good style on school coats.

FINAL RITES VERY SIMPLE

Neither Music Nor Flowers to Mark Disposition of the Dead.

Vienna, Nov. 30.—(Via London, Dec. 1.)—In the presence of Emperor Charles, the young crown prince, Francis Joseph Otto, the kings of Bulgaria, Bavaria and Saxony, the German crown prince and a large number of Teutonic princes and special envoys from neutral governments, the remains of the late emperor, Francis Joseph, were buried this afternoon.

The services were extremely simple and lasted only twelve minutes. Emperor Charles, the German princes and the relatives of the late emperor were grouped about the high altar in the Cathedral at the foot of which the coffin rested on a black catafalqua. The great body of the Cathedral was crowded with government officials, army representatives, members of the court and of the neutral diplomatic corps. The mouring costumes of the many women and neutral officials contrasted sharply with the splendid uniforms which most of the high mourners wore, including the new emperor and other rulers. No flowers were used, everything connected with the ceremony being of severe plainness and simplicity.

The body was conveyed to the Cathedral over a long route through the city, enormous crowds lining the streets as it passed. Emperor Charles and the other high mourners awaited the coffin seated around the catafalque. They rose as it was borne into the Cathedral, carried by eight pall bearers burning tapers, and shortly afterwards Cardinal Piffl began the brief service, which was terminated by the Kyrie Eleison.

The absence of any organ accompaniment gave additional simplicity to the service. After the cardinal had sprinkled the coffin, it was replaced in the hearse by the pall bearers and taken to the capuchin crypt, where it will remain. The mourners followed the hearse on foot to the crypt, where another service terminated the ceremony. Throughout the obsequies the young crown prince, who is four years old, stood close behind his father, dressed in ermine. Close to him were the two sons and daughters of the late archduke and heir apparent, Francis Ferdinand, by his morganatic marriage.

CHRISTMAS BUSINESS WILL MAKE NEW RECORD

Extraordinary Transportation Conditions Necessitates Early Shopping.

Because of the general prosperity it is expected that Christmas will mean more commercially this year than on most other years, and that perhaps an unprecedented volume of business will be done, notwithstanding the advance in prices. This will mean an exceptionally busy holiday season for all store employes, for the postal department and for the express companies.

Express companies are asking their representatives to co-operate in the movement for early shopping, and all express offices have received labels marked "Don't open until Christmas." Patrons are to be asked to send their packages early and will be provided with the labels.

A crisis arises every year, as regular as the holiday season comes around, for the stores, postoffices and express companies. This year, on account of the extraordinary conditions of transportation prevailing at the present time, the need for early shopping is accentuated. The railroads are already working under high pressure. If the holiday buying and shipping season is made to stretch over the entire month of December the services in all lines is much more adequate than if the entire Christmas movement is jammed into the week preceding Christmas.

Eleventh hour shoppers and shippers themselves are the worst sufferers. If the buying is done early, the salesman has more time to give to the customer, he is more courteous and the shopper has a much better line to select from. It is probably safe to say every Fort Wayne merchant at the present time has practically his complate Christmas stock.

NO APPETITE, NO ENERGY, BILIOUS?

Your liver is fairly begging for help! Too much rich food and not enough exercise upsets the stomach and clogs the bile tubes in the liver, causing constipation, biliousness, bad breath, coated tongue, jumpy nerves, sleeplessness and a general run-down feeling.

Get a 15-cent bottle of Tollo Water from the drug store—drink a third of a tumblerful in a glass of plain water before breakfast. In half an hour it will flush out the bile tubes—really bathe the liver, expel the sour bile and fermenting waste from the system and make you feel fine.

Tollo Water comes from Dawson Springs, the Kentucky health resort. It does not act like drugs and oils, but flushes the stomach, liver and bowels in Nature's way.—Advertisement.

HUMAN BONFIRE IN CHIHUAHUA STREETS

Juarez, Mex., Dec. 1.—The remnants of a Carranzista army that fled from Chihuahua City after a battle with Villa troops are in camp today on the plains south of Juarez. They brought with them the story of the evacuation of the city after four days and nights of fighting.

The dead were piled high in the streets when they left, and had been covered with oil and ignited, they said, the light guiding the entry of the Villista force and shadowing the retreat of the de facto troops.

Soon after 1 a. m. yesterday, the first troop train brought the ragged survivors of the de facto force, which had escaped to the north. Accompanying this train was a sanitary section consisting of three second-class coaches and one "White Cross" hospital car.

Wounded Fill Hospitals.

In these cars were more than 100 wounded soldiers of the Carranza command. The hospitals here are filled with wounded and volunteer nurses are working to care for the officers and men who fell in the battle.

The troop trains which brought this surviving force to the border left Chihuahua City at 10:30 Monday morning, proceeding to a point near Terrazaz station, where a burned bridge forced them to transfer to another train Wednesday.

The troops brought back many of their field pieces. These are parked in the custom-house yards with garlands of "jerked beef" hanging from their muzzles. Women camp followers shared in the retreat. Some of them had children, said to have been born on the battlefield.

Dead Cover Streets.

Between the Chihuahua cemetery and Santa Rosa hill the dead covered the streets, refugees said, many having died days before. Along the streets near the railroad station and surrounding the station one refugee said he saw many cavalry horses with carbines and sabers attached to the saddles, the Carranza cavalrymen having abandoned them in order to leave the city on the troop train.

Along Zarco avenue, according to the refugees, the fighting had been fiercest, and many civilians had been killed there and in other parts of the city by shell fire and rifle balls.

The houses lining this street were pitted with bullet marks of the battle, a Syrian refugee said, and many shell holes were to be seen in the houses in the heart of the city.

Retreat Resembles Rout.

All of the refugees agreed that Carranza troops were winning during the first four days of the fighting, but either because of a shortage of ammunition or lack of morale they abandoned the city early on the fifth morning of the battle, seeking safety in flight in all directions.

The taking of Santa Rosa hill, which has always been known as the "Key to Chihuahua," was said by one foreign refugee to have started the retirement of the Carranza forces, which, they say, resembled a rout before the last train left.

DRYS HOPE TO WIN ALL INDIANAPOLIS

Two Wards Without Bars and Temperance Folk Will Attack Others.

Indianapolis, Dec. 1.—Announcement of a victory for the anti-saloon forces in their campaign to make the First ward dry by remonstrance under the Moore law, has been followed by general talk among both the wet and dry elements of the city concerning the proposed campaign of the drys to make the entire city dry territory.

When the last saloon license in the First ward has expired it will be the second time a ward in Indianapolis has become dry under the Moore law. Saloons were driven from the Second ward in the summer of 1905, shortly after the passage of the law. All of the townships of Marion county, except Center, have been dry for a number of years.

The only saloons in the county at the present time outside of Indianapolis are two on the Center township side of the town of Beech Grove. Both of these saloons are in the portion of Center township outside the city limits. E. S. Shumaker, superintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon league, asserted last night in discussing the situation, that under the provisions of the Proctor local option law, a portion of a township outside the city limits is a unit for an option vote.

The county commissioners will begin work at an early date on the remonstrance presented to make the Fourth ward dry. The names of a majority of the voters of the ward have been obtained for the remonstrance.

The dry forces are circulating a petition to make the Ninth ward saloonless. The Ninth ward includes Irvington and a large portion of the territory in the eastern part of the city north of Washington street. Much talk of a remonstrance in the Sixth and the Seventh wards, both downtown, has been heard, but both dry and wet leaders asserted that they did not know of a proposed contest in either ward at the present time.

BELIEVE DISEASE IS NOT CATTLE PLAGUE

Optimism Pervades Stock Yards as Test Result is Awaited.

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 1.—Tests were continued here today in the effort of federal and state authorities to ascertain whether the infection discovered in cattle at the Kansas City stock yards is foot and mouth disease or a milder epidemic. Experts have expressed the opinion that the inoculation tests upon healthy cattle, horses and swine should show a reaction soon and results were looked for today. A general optimism pervaded the stock yards and the veterinarians announced themselves as almost convinced that the infection is not foot and mouth disease. However, no lessening of vigilance is permitted.

ENDS LIFE BECAUSE HE OVERSLEEPS TOO MUCH

Hard to Keep a Job When He Can't Get Up Early in Morning.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—Records of numerous coroner's offices contain verdicts showing persons committed suicide because they couldn't get enough sleep, but it remained for Kalamazoo, Mich., to produce the first man who killed himself because he slept too much.

The body of the man was found in the lake at the foot of Greenleaf avenue yesterday. He had shot himself through the head. At first his identity was a mystery, the only clew being a notebook found on the beach in which was written:

"Give me the blame. I did it with a revolver. W. JANSE."

Later, however, it was learned he was William Van Noordwigh, of Kalamazoo, who came to Chicago ten days ago to look for a job. A telegram received last night from Kalamazoo reads:

"Developments on the Van Noordwigh case show he wrote a postcard several days ago to Peter de Korte, his brother-in-law, saying:

"There are plenty of jobs I can get in Chicago, but I oversleep every morning."

Relatives say he often found it difficult to awaken in the morning, and this caused him to lose jobs.

During the last few years refrigeration has steadily received more and more attention in Russia. A boom in cold storage construction was expected there when the war broke out.

Her Muff is Now on Her Coat, See?

[By Betty Brown.]

This lady is wearing her muff 'way down at the bottom of her coat!

When she wants to warm her hands she gathers up the floating panels at either side of her coat, and there she finds each fur band is a real muff with a place made for her hands.

The coat-with-the-muff comes from the studio of Mme. Alla Ripley of the Fashion Art League of American and is creating quite a furore in the fashion world. The model shown here is sulphur-tinted velour with blue fox trimmings. The collar is banded with brocade in gorgeous colorings.

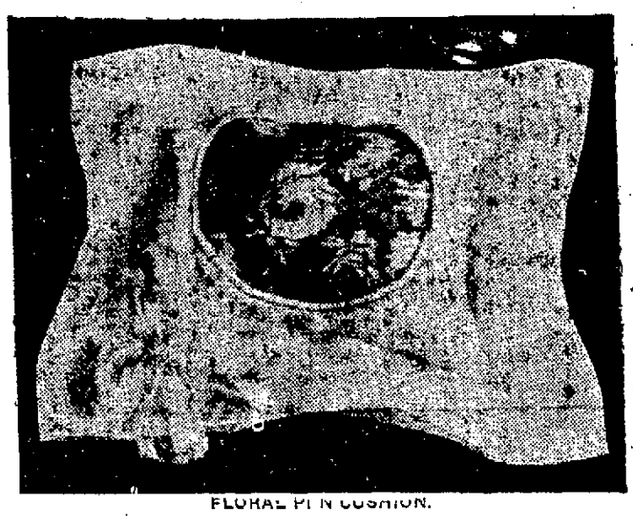
MEDALLION PINCUSHION FOR CHRISTMAS.



FLORAL PIN CUSHION.

[By Biddy Bye.]

The modern pin cushion is sometimes as intricate as a milliner's creation. One of the simple kind which is not too elaborate to be thrown away as soon as it is soiled is shown in the accompanying illustration.

The foundation may be scrim, net, voile, lace, mull or any soft material. In the middle of one-half a medallion of colored flowers cut from brocaded ribbon is appliqued.

Then the edges of the material are turned under in a deep hem, the foundation is basted in place about a small hard cushion and fastened by long stitches of soft baby ribbon, which is knotted into a rosette at one corner.

Any piece bag contains bits of handsome material from which a variety of these cushions could be manufactured.

NOW COMES THE FOUR-PIECE SET.

[By Betty Brown.]

Of course, she's proud of her muff, and she is very proud of her "set" of velvet and fur, for fashion decrees that all our small wrappings and accessories come in "sets" these days. The muff matches cap and cape, of course, and the hand bag matches all three.

The four-piece "set" that I show here is in bronze green velvet trimmed with mole and rabbit skin. The cape may be draped over the shoulder, or if you prefer it, it may be fall stole fashion frontward to the waist line.

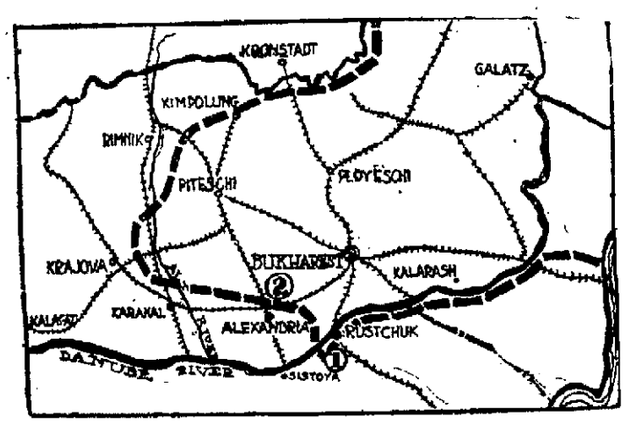
HOW THE TEUTONS ARE CLOSING IN ON BUCHAREST.



This map shows graphically how the Teuton armies are threatening Bucharest, the Rumanian capital. At (1) German forces from Bulgaria crossed the Danube, and at (3) met Mackensen's armies who had advanced along the railroad from Krajova (Craiova.) There are still Rumanian forces beleaguered behind the new German lines.

What is the Cause of Rheumatism, Lumbago and Gout?

(By Valentine Mott Pierce, M. D.)

Ever since Scheele, in 1775, discovered that uric acid was present in the system, scientific men have been making experimental investigations and it is the almost universal opinion of our best medical men that the presence of uric acid in the system in excess is the cause of rheumatism and gout. When the urate salts are precipitated out of the blood into the solid tissue-structure the person suffers from gout or rheumatism in the muscles and joints, or suffers from lumbago and pain in the back muscles. The first aim of the sufferer should be to get rid of the uric acid, which, in excess, is a poison, and to do this it is well to drink a pint of hot water morning and night—get tablets of Anuric at the nearest drug store and take them before meals regularly. Anuric will do no harm to the system and will carry off the uric acid by stimulating the kidneys. Then tincture iodine may be painted over the swellings, or in more severe cases hot linseed poultices may be applied to soothe the local symptoms. But most important is it for the sufer to abstain from red meat, to diet, drink only lemonade or hot water, and take Anuric for a considerable time as it causes a drainage outward of the uric acid and is many times more potent than lithia and usually one finds that it dissolves uric acid as hot water does sugar.—Advertisement.

HOW THE SUSPENDED SENTENCE LAW WORKS

In Nine and One-Half Years 32½ Per Cent. Have Violated Paroles.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 1.—Thirty-two and one-half per cent of the entire number of adults placed on probation under the Indiana suspended sentence law in the nine and one-half years it has been effective, violated their paroles, according to statistics which will be published in the annual report of the State Board of Charities and Corrections, now being compiled. The total number of suspended sentences granted in that time was 2,038.

After giving the citation of the law in the statutes, and saying the act was put into effect under the assumption that it is possible to reclaim law violators without fixing on them the stigma of having served a prison sentence, the report will say:

So far as this law applies to misdemeanants, there are no available statistics of results. When the sentence is to one of the state prisons or the reformatory, however, the probationed offender is thereafter in the legal custody and control of the institution to which he would have been sent, and is subject to the rules and regulations governing paroled prisoners. Of this class the institution; named keep accurate records.

"The law has been in force nine and one-half years. Its results so far as known, are seen in the following statistics. In the time indicated sentence was suspended in the cases of 2,038 men and women, 618 of whom otherwise would have had to go to the state prison, 1,368 to the reformatory, and 57 to the woman's prison.

"The law provides that if these persons on probation violate their parole, the original sentence shall be carried out. This was done in the case of 247 prisoners, while 417 others who were delinquent had not been apprehended up to the close of the fiscal year. These 664 constituted 32.58 per cent of the whole number placed on probation. Of the remaining 1,374, thirteen died, 268 were under supervision, 1,090 had been discharged, and three had been pardoned by the governor.

"The reports of the state prison show that the 618 men whose sentence to that institution was suspended, 66 were reporting at the close of the year, four had died, and 384 had been discharged. There were 164 delinquents, of whom 72 were apprehended and taken to prison.

"The reformatory reports 1,363 men placed under its supervision, 196 of whom were reporting at the close of the year, 6 had died, 676 had been discharged and 482 were delinquent. One hundred and sixty-five of these delinquent men had been sent to the reformatory.

"From the woman's prison the reports indicate 57 women under supervision, of whom 6 were reporting at the close of the year, 30 had been discharged and 18 were delinquent, 9 of the latter having been taken to the prison."

HEALTH FIRST FOR WORKERS OF NATION

Fight for Compulsory Insurance to Be Made in Twenty States.

BY J. B. O'DONNELL.

With this for its slogan the American Association for Labor legislation has assembled its forces for a gigantic campaign in the legislative halls of twenty states where compulsory health insurance bills will be voted on in 1917.

The bills, if made into law, will make health insurance universal for all manual workers and for others earning less than $100 a month.

The benefits to be provided are medical, surgical and nursing attendance; a cash benefit beginning on the fourth day of illness, equal to two-thirds of wages and given for a maximum of 26 weeks in one year; and a funeral benefit of not more than $50.

The cost of these benefits and their administration, amounting to about 3 per cent. of wages, is to be borne two-fifths by the employe, two-fifths by the employer, and one-fifth by the state.

The administration is to be vested in mutual associations of employers and employes organized according to localities and trades, and managed jointly by employers and workers under the general supervision of a state social insurance commission.

Says inside-bathing makes anyone look and feel clean, sweet and refreshed.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowel pores do.

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

A splendid health measure is to drink, before breakfast each day, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless way to wash these poisons, gases and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels; thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs but very little at the drug store but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside-bathing. Men and women who are accustomed to wake up with a dull, aching head or have furred tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, sallow complexion, others who have bilious attacks, acid stomach or constipation are assured of pronounced improvement in both health and appearance shortly.—Advertisement.

FINDS $150 DIAMOND IN CROP OF GOBBLER

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 1.—Turkey undressed at 35 cents a pound did not deter Frank J. Hardy, 4451 North Racine avenue, from having his favorite bird for Thanksgiving dinner. It was a 16 pounder he bought from a grocer in Wilson avenue. In dressing the turkey Mr. Hardy found a diamond stud in the bird's crop. It was a pure white stone, weighing almost a karat, and valued at $150.

The Hardys had almost given up hope of having a turkey on account of the high cost. They discussed the matter for several days and eagerly watched the quotations on turkey in the newspapers. Thousands of families in Chicago had the same experience.

Cut Out Fancy Dishes.

Mrs. Hardy, who is an economical housewife, said she could get along without the usual fancy dishes, and this would lower the cost of the dinner. In their twenty-five years of married life they always had a turkey on Thanksgiving, and she was going to have one this year, even if they were high.

"'Wifey,'" said the husband, "just forget about that turkey. I'm not going to pay 30 or 35 cents a pound for an undressed bird. You know I always dress 'em myself. We'll have to get along with a goose or a duck."

Mr. Hardy changed his mind after seeing a cartoon of the boy picking pin feathers off a turkey. It reminded him of the old days on the farm at Janesville, Wis., and what if it did cost $5 for a Thanksgiving turkey, he was going to have one.

He Buys the Bird.

So the turkey was bought by Hardy himself, and yesterday morning he put on a long apron and dressed it. In dumping out the contents of the crop he saw something sparkle. He first thought it was a piece of glass. Picking it up, he saw it was a diamond stud.

The Hardys will have turkey on Christmas and New Year's.

YOUTHFUL BANDITS TO JUVENILE COURT

Four Boys Have Been Doing Wholesale Plundering, Say Police.

Four lads who have laughed at locksmiths and disregarded all rights of private ownership were bound over to the juvenile court from police court, Friday morning, when it was learned that they were all under sixteen years of age. The boys have tried all methods of time-tried thieves in carrying out their many petty robberies, police say.

The lads are: Clem Harshberger, 14; Ernest Glass, 13; Meredith Harahburger, 12, and Roy Potter, 15. The police say that the Potter youth is leader of the "gang" and has been taken at least ten times before on charges of petty thieving.

Patrolman Paul stopped the lads on Calhoun street early Thursday evening when he thought they acted strangely. He marched them to the station. There the boys are said to have confessed to many small crimes after stringent questioning by Detective Sergeants Pappert and Brennan.

Under cover of darkness the boys climbed a fire escape and pried open a window of the hall occupied by the Catholic Benevolent League at 209 East Main street, Thursday evening, the boys are said to have admitted. Many shining brass coat checks and ticket punches along with some picture cards were the extent of their loot, police claim. This is the act with which the boys are to be charged before Juvenile Judge John W. Eggeman, who has dealt with the lads several times before, it is said.

Potter is said to have confessed to taking two revolvers from the cash drawer of the Jefferson theater recently. He is also said to have taken $15 from a farmer, after the man had given Potter a "lift" on the highway a few weeks ago.

Fine Two Automobilists.

Everett Miller, jitney driver, charged with driving past a street car while the car was discharging passengers in front of the Orpheum theater; Thursday evening, was fined $5 and costs. He also admitted driving the car without holding a chauffeur's license.

Charles Mumper, son of a Monroeville farmer, drove his father's car to town Thursday evening and allowed the machine to stand on the street without having lights lit, it was charged. He was fined $5 and costs. Mumper claimed the lights were lit when he left the car.

Other Police Court Cases.

Four boys, all under twenty years old, from Cleveland, who are just out on a "trip" and who were arrested in the Wabash yards, Thursday, were released after pleading guilty to loitering charges. The lads gave their names as Joseph Grose, machinist; Otto Blank, pugilist; Albert Hose, printer, and Gerald Copland, clerk.

Not a fine was assessed on charges of public intoxication. Case of Washington Shirey, 68, was continued until December 2. Charles Gerard will be tried December 5. James Hunter was released.

John Koehler, saloonkeeper, charged with assault on a thirteen-year-old girl, will be tried on December 11. He is at liberty under $2,000 bond.

Defense will be presented in the case of Richard Pomper, Lafayette street saloonkeeper, charged with selling liquor to minors and keeping gambling devices in his saloon, on Tuesday morning.

Case of Daniel Long, charged with selling a mortgaged cash register, will be tried on Saturday. James Wilson and James McDonald, charged with vagrancy, were released. Frank Brolen and Adam Copeland, charged with loitering, were allowed to leave town.

Fannie Ward in "The Years of the Locust" Again Today.

Fannie Ward in "The Years of the Locust" had its premiere showing at the Jefferson yesterday to crowds that fairly tested the capacity of the playhouse afternoon and evening. In this production, Fannie Ward surpasses her previous achievements and receives brilliant support which establishes "The Years of the Locust" one of the foremost Paramount releases of the year.

It has to do with an unhappy marriage to a fake oil field promoter, his exposure, his flight and supposed suicide, the return of an old lover, marriage, home in the African diamond fields and the return of the supposed dead husband, a furious battle with diamond robbers—and, of course, a happy ending.

AN ENGAGING NOVELTY.

Remember the signs that adorned cobbler shops a few years ago, "Shoes half soled while U wait?" Well at the New Palace in Hugo Jansen's "Fashion Shop" a male designer makes "gowns while you wait," and you don't have to wait long, either. He uses bolts of silks, laces, etc., and creates upon four beautiful girl models gowns of the latest vogue, the while other members of this clever company are diverting the audience with song and comedy. It is the most engaging novelty that Fort Wayne's vaudeville-going world has been afforded in weeks. The company is headed by Corr and Latell and Jimmy O'Burrell.

Joe L. Browning's lugubrious mannerisms and funny grin that occasionally breaks through his gloomy aspect is a fun-maker par excellence. As the long-faced minister talking nonsense to his flock, Browning is great, while his burlesque on grand opera is even funnier. As an evidence of how completely he can capture and hold an audience he closes with a serious recitation that is as enthusiastically greeted as any of his fun-making.

Natalie and Ferrari's dancing revue in which they burlesque the latest nut notion, "Walking the Dog," and introduce an original waltz notion; Murphy, Howard and Rudolph's singing in solo and trio numbers, Warren and Dietrich's comedy and songs, and the Avondo duo in the xylophone and piano are other delights on this splendid program.

There will be but one performance Saturday evening at the New Palace, the show starting at 7:30 o'clock.

"It Is About All There is To Store Keeping Anyway"

Was the way one of our famous merchants put his closing remarks about service. He did not mean the kind of service that is detected in brass buttons, big auditoriums, extravagant furnishings.

He was thinking of full stocks, ample selections and certain dependable quality, of having goods when needed, and knowing when they are needed.

He was thinking of kind, painstaking salespeople who reflect the desires of the management to help you.

Store service will soon be put to severe tests—the Holidays are approaching and we shall manfully do our duty to give you, our friends, the kind of service that the great merchant was thinking of when he spoke the words quoted.

CITY WEIGHMASTER HAS A BUSY DAY

Sixty-Four Loads of Grain and Hay Weighed—Wheat Prices to Advance.

B. W. Skelton, the city weighmaster, had a busy day Friday. Thanksgiving day seemed to act as a stimulant. Sixty-four loads was the total number weighed at the city scales Friday morning. Of this number thirty-four were hay, twenty-three of corn and seven of oats. Prices were rather high. Hay sold for $10.00 to $12.00, while the topnotch price on corn was 98 cents a bushel. Oats sold for 54 to 57 cents.

A local miller who has been watching and studying the markets states that the price of wheat will make an advance by Saturday. The price of flour has not been advanced, due to the fact that this raise in the price of wheat has been anticipated.

All other markets were quiet. The receipts were small. The live stock market is also due for a change soon, say local dealers and packers. However, the direction is not quoted.

The price of hen fruit remains above sight. Reports have been received that eggs sold for 50 cents a dozen Wednesday morning.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—Scantiness of deliveries here on December contracts had a bullish influence today on wheat. Prospects of a better distribution of railway cars affording some relief of the wheat congestion between here and the Atlantic seaboard tended also to lift prices. The opening, which ranged from the same as Wednesday's finish to 3c higher, with December at $1.71@1.71¼ and May at $1.77½@1.79½, was followed by moderate further gains and then something of a reaction.

Corn rose with wheat. After opening ⅛c to ¾c higher the market showed a disposition to sag.

Strength developed in oats as a result of the advance of other cereals.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Dec. 1.—Resumption of trading over the holiday was marked by a continuance of breadth and strength with rails in greater demand. Union Pacific selling ex-dividend soon rose almost 2 points with a point or more for Reading, Rock Island and Missouri Pacific issues. United States Steel led the industrials, regaining over half of its regular and extra dividends of 2¼ per cent. American Car, Crucible Steel, Republic Iron, Pittsburg Coal, United States Rubber, Pacific Mail, Montana Power and active metals were higher by material fractions to 2 points.

Other strong features of the forenoon, some of which receded 1 to 2 points from top levels on extensive gains profit-taking included Utah, Anaconda and Chile Copper, Central Leather, International Paper, American Writing Paper preferred, Colorado Fuel, Philadelphia company, Corn Products and fertilizers and Ohio Gas, the latter rising over 8 points to the new record of 113. A further keen inquiry for rails, which embraced all branches of that division, occurred in the second hour, with increased gains in investment shares and additional advances in minor issues.

CALLED MERE BLOOD WASTE

vision to which our cavalry gave way was unable to halt our progress.

"The Danube army has forced its way by fighting across the Niaslov lowlands and is approaching the course of the Argeshu in the direction of Bucharest.

"The Rumanians besides sustaining enormous casualties yesterday lost more than 2,500 men in prioners and 21 cannon, among which were three mortars. The captures reported yesterday are not included in these figures.

"In Dobrudja the enemy attacked the Bulgarian left wing. The massed attack broke down under the defensive fire. British armored cars were unable to avert a failure. Two of them were destroyed in front of our barricades."

Another attack by entente forces against the German-Bulgarian lines both northwest and east of Monastir has proved futile, the war office announced today.

RUSSIANS CLAIM SUCCESS.

Petrograd, Dec. 1.—The Russian offensive has been successful along the whole Rumanian frontier south of Kirtlibaba, says the official statement issued today by the Russian war department. In spite of violent German counter attacks, the statement adds, the Russians occupied the whole range of heights.

GERMANS IN VIOLENT ATTACKS.

Paris, Dec. 1.—A violent counter attack was made by German and Bulgarian troops yesterday on the Macedonian front near Grunishte, east of the Cerna river bend. The war office announces that the Serbians succeeded in retaining all their positions except one trench.

Today's official report shows there was no change during the night in the situation on the front in France.

London, Dec. 1.—The Exchange Telegraph company says it has received information from Zurich by way of Rome that the Rumanian military authorities are making preparations for a desperate defense of Bucharest. The civil population is said to have evacuated the city and the government officials have retired to a town on the Russian frontier. This probably refers to the Rumanian town of Jassy, to which the government officials and diplomatic corps was said several days ago to have gone.

"Yesterday evening the enemy attempted to raid our trenches south of Neuve Chappelle but was driven off," says today's official report from the Franco-Belgian front. "South of Armentieres the enemy's line was entered by us in several places during the night. "Beyond the usual artillery activity there is nothing to report."

render his office, that of superintendent of public instruction, until March 15, so he has plenty of time in which to plan his future. Mr. Greathouse, however, is not one to worry about the high price of foodstuffs. A sharp decline in prices would worry him more because he has acres and acres of river bottom land in southern Indiana which produces record crops of corn, wheat and oats. Besides his farming interests, he will have other business matters to occupy him at least eight hours each day.

A $361 car, plus $15 freight, plus $100 for electric starter, plus $13.70 for changing from 3-inch to 3½ inch tires, and, if you want demountable rims add about $20 more. Shock absorbers would cost another $10 to $20; a mohair top costs $25 to $30. Oh, yes, a ventilating wind shield is $10. Change your lamps for lamps with dimmers is another outlay of $6 or more. Now you have parted with about $550 and still have a $361 car, without a speedometer. So, why not buy a

O, MAMA! O, MAMA!!

Look! Look! Look!

You know I was over the Rhine last week and I spoke to Old Leikauf, but he talks so fast I could not make out what he told me. I think he told me he would start a shop on Calhoun street. I bet it will be a dandy. Now you and I, grospap and grosma will go and get the meat, dad can stay to home and rock the kiddies to sleep, he doesn't do much anyhow. Now to find the place! It's on Calhoun street; No., well you all know where the Orpheum theater is. Well go there and start right where they sell tickets, then step off 93 steps and you will land right at our door. Now some of you girls that are not up so high will have to take a few more steps and you girls that have hoppel or woppel scirts on will have to still take a few more steps for you know you can step only so far or something may happen when you get thru. Tell (Frank) to play you the Wacht am Rhine or the song composed by J. L. called the Pigs Are in the Clover thru several times. Will soon be over; it's a good one but there is not much of it. Now you all whant to come, if you don't buy any meat it will be just the same. Frank will have a smile for you. All tell him to tell you about Jake and the dog. He is full of the Old Nick. Now we just had to start this shop for we hadn't the room at the packing house; we are so crowded; have all the pens, all the hooks and everything filled with hogs and two carloads on the tracks. Must sell lots of meat to make room and think we will for we are going to make the price so low that you will think some one is trying to cut the high cost of living. I am going to quit. I could write all night thru, not tell you one-half—Oh! yes, we got a sasage maker. He whont tell me where he is from; looks to me like a fellow from Holland, but talk about pork sasage! Just try it and you will always be thinking of, wurst he calls it, some more pork sasage. Just ask by that name. He is a funny fellow; he whont talk. some times I think he is deaf and dum, but seems to be a fellow. Oh! yes, my sweetheart quit her job. Says there is not work enough about. She thinks she is a bucher now. You ought to see her cut pork chops. She has me beat and talk about slicing liver! I whont say much about that. You ought to see her with her little red coat and bucher apron on. She makes a dandy looking bucher. Why she will bucher hogs pretty soon if she keeps on. Next week I am going to tell you how you can make a trip to N. Y. thru to Atlantic City 4 of yous; it will cost you all told about $29.80 or about $7.95 a piece. We are still going to keep our shop open on Wells street, ueber the Rhine. Don't forget to come over and see the kid and bring all the kiddies along. Farmers don't forget us on your stock. Call us up or come over now, our shop is on the same side the Orpheum is on.

Good-bye. Hope to see you all,

Ueber the Rhine.

Now don't forget to count your step or you will miss the place, for I stept it off. I think I am right. I am a little bow legged but made allowance for that.

CHANG HSUN MAN OF THE HOUR IN CHINA

Peking, Oct. 30.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—General Chang Hsun is the man of the hour in China.

Members of all parties and factions are keeping their eyes on the rugged old warrior, who has control of the railway connecting Shanghai with Peking, and holds the most important strategic position in China.

Chang Hsun is the military governor of Anhwei province, and is supposed to live in that province together with his powerful army. But Anhwei province is not located along the important north and south railway connecting Peking and Shanghai. Consequently General Chang Hsun has moved his forces to Hsuchowfu, in Kiangsu province, where he commands the railway and holds a powerful club over the head of the Peking government, as well as over the various factions which are endeavoring to upset the present government.

Many prominent Chinese who desire to travel from South China and Shanghai to Peking are compelled to make the trip from Shanghai to Tien-Tsin by sea, as they dare not pass through Hsuchowfu and run the risk of falling into Chang Hsun's hands.

The conference of military leaders, which General Chang Hsun recently held at Hsuchowfu, created a great hubbub in political circles. This meeting was called for the purpose of forestalling action on the part of the parliamentarians unfavorable to the military, and was a vital factor in preventing Tang Shao-yi's acceptance of the ministry of foreign affairs. The conference adopted resolutions against the appointment of Mr. Tang Shao-yi, and also resolved against the endorsement of the present minister of justice, Mr. Chang Yao-tseng. Parliamentarians railed against the Hsuchowfu conference, and have adopted resolutions denunciatory of General Chang Hsun and his associates, but the intrepid old warrior has not been moved by any such action and sternly refused to retire to his post in Anhwei province.

Demands have been made by the press and public for the punishment of General Chang Hsun. He has been denounced as a military tyrant, who is defying all organized authority in China. However, the government is apparently powerless to drive him out of his important position. A policy of reconciliation has been adopted, and he is mentioned as a possible candidate for the vice presidency.

It is unlikely, however, that he would accept the office of vice president, were it offered him on condition that he comes to Peking. He is more powerful at Hsuchowfu than any other man in China, and has shown no disposition to yield this advantage.

General Chang Hsun is an old time Chinese, who has been prominent in military affairs for many years. He first came into prominence in Szechuen province, and was later commander-in-chief of Kansu province. In 1911 he was commander-in-chief of Nanking when that city was attacked by the revolutionary forces, and made a masterly retreat to the northern bank of the Yang-tse river. He then commandeered a large quantity of the rolling stock of the railroad between Nanking and Tien-tsin, and made it a movable camp for his forces. He waged war in a barbarous manner, but won great admiration from military men by the wonderful discipline he maintained among his troops and the effective manner in which he policed the railway. His support of the crumpling Manchu dynasty was very effective, and after the republic was established it was necessary for the Peking government to reconcile him by giving him important posts. He has stoutly refused to accept any appointment which would carry him away from the railway which is the life blood of China, and is building up a great army which is loyal to him rather than to the central government.

General Chang Hsun has stubbornly refused to have his queue cut off and all of his soldiers have followed his example. Chang Hsun's troops are always referred to by the Chinese further north as the pig-tail soldiers. They are notorious for their brutality, and are more feared than any other troops in China.

Danger Signal.

If the fire bell should ring would you run and stop it or go and help to put out the fire? It is much the same way with a cough. A cough is a danger signal as much as a fire bell. You should no more try to suppress it than to stop a fire bell when it is ringing, but should cure the disease that causes the coughing. This can nearly always be done by taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Many have used it with the most beneficial results. It is especially valuable for the persistent cough that so often follows a bad cold or an attack of the grip. Mrs. Thomas Beeching, Andrews, Ind., writes: "During the winter my husband takes cold easily and coughs and coughs. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best medicine for breaking up these attacks and you cannot get him to take any other." Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

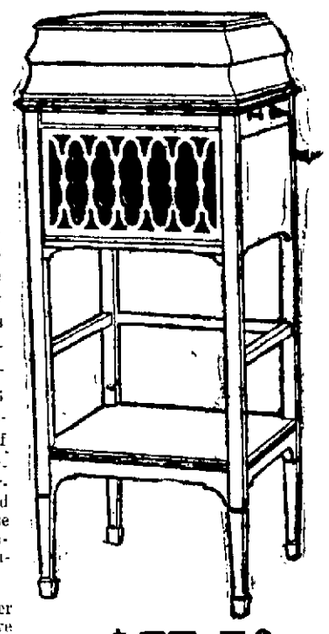
The New Premier Built Like a Violin



A TALKING machine is as much of a necessity in the modern home as any piece of furniture. The usual buyer, however, is not well posted as to the qualities essential in a good talking machine. National advertising in magazines does not make for quality in the product; for the buyer must pay the cost and the selling price is therefore raised to meet this additional expense. In a talking machine four features are essential; a quiet, durable, dependable motor, a reproducer or sound box of scientific construction, an amplifying chamber correctly proportioned and built of laminated wood throughout, and the case should be pleasing in design, convenient, well constructed and finished.

In competition with all other makes of phonographs, we have adopted the Premier, as we find the four "quality points" fully carried out. Come in and hear your favorite record.

CHINESE ARE COMING THROUGH AS NATION

National Consciousness Now Being Developed in Republic.

Shanghai, Oct. 30.—(Correspondance of The Associated Press.)—Recent celebrations throughout China of the fifth anniversary of the republic indicate clearly that the Chinese are undoubtedly developing a national consciousness. Lantern parades and patriotic meetings were held even in remote sections. The celebrations were not forced upon the public by official orders, as was the case frequently under Yuan Shi-Kai's regime.

Regret concerning the present troubled political situation characterized general comment of Chinese newspapers and Chinese speakers on the occasion of the anniversary celebration.

During the five years of its life the republic has had two important revolutions in addition to the movement which resulted in the overthrow of the Manchu dynasty. There have also been many local movements of minor importance, which resulted in considerable loss of life and property.

Bandit leaders and unscrupulous politicians have exploited various parts of the country, and there has been corruption to a degree not excelled by the Manchus. However, throughout all this disorder and throughout the present struggle between parliamentarians and the military party, it has been possible to detect a growing love of independence and of country, which has finally resulted in the firm establishment of President Li Yuan-hung in the affections of the public.

Minor politicians, leaders of various political factions are carrying on a bitter struggle, but Li Yuan-hung stands clearly above these factional fights, and is generally regarded by the Chinese of all classes as an absolutely honest and patriotic leader.

NOTRE DAME COPS IN FINAL BATTLE

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 1.—Nebraska closed the 1916 football season with a 20 to 0 defeat at the hands of Notre Dame here yesterday. The visitors from Indiana thus are fully avenged for the defeat administered them a year ago by the Cornhuskers. Notre Dame's victory was clean cut and decisive, and while it was expected, even the most loyal Nebraska followers were unprepared for so large a score.

Nebraska, save in the second period, generally was on the defensive. On one or two occasions a spirited attack was shown, but it was short-lived. The Hoosiers showed a variety of attacks that at times bewildered the home team.

Game Opens Lively.

Notre Dame started the game with a rush that all but swept Nebraska off its feet. Degree excelled Corey in the initial punts, and with the ball in their possession the visitors scarcely paused until Bergman, in a beautiful dodging sprint through center, carried the ball over for the first touchdown after seven minutes of the play.

Then the Cornhuskers braced and on straight line bucks were marching steadily toward the goal when a fumble by Coley spoiled the chances for a touchdown. Checked for the moment, Notre Dame came back as strong as ever, but found Nebraska a tough proposition. From the first seven minutes of play to the end of the half it was practically an even battle, the visitors excelling in forward passing and punting, and Nebraska having a slight advantage on mass play and short end runs. The score of 6 to 0 at the end of the half accurately measured the strength of the two teams.

Stars Retire Early.

Captain Cofall, Bechman and Coughwere compelled to retire in the early ges of the game, but their absence not appreciably weaken the power attack. Bergman, Phelan, Miller and Degree were the stars of Notre Dame; Corey, Caley and Dobson were Nebraska's chief ground gainers.

Nebraska weakened in the third quarter, when Notre Dame made a second touchdown and goal, and repeated in the first period. Nebraska played with a left fullback and right fullback and no quarterback. The line-up:

Nebraska (0).		Notre Dame (20).
Corey (cap.)	L.E.	Whipple
Kositzsky	L.T.	Philbin
Rhodes	L.G.	Degree
Cameron	C.	Rydzewski

Caley	Q.B.	Phelan
Cook	L.H.B.	Bergman

Dobson	F.B.	Miller

BACHELORS LOSE TO BLUFFTON MAROONS

The Bachelors of this city lost the final game of the season to the fast Bluffton Maroon team at Bluffton yesterday, by a score of 7 to 0. The local eleven played a great game on defense but lacked the punch in carrying the ball.

Centilvre, star end of the Bachelors, was out of the game with a broken rib, and Strodel, the locals' center, was forced to retire at the end of the first quarter with a bum knee.

The touchdown of the Bluffton team was made when Bowers brought down a forward pass and made the marker.

FRIARS TAKE CLOSE GAME FROM COLUMBUS

In a battle that was slowed up considerably by mud the Friars defeated the Columbus Panhandles yesterday by a score of 3 to 0. There was a time about four minutes before the final whistle of the season blew when things looked sort of glum and there were possibilities of a 6 or a 7 going up on the scoreboard under the name "visitors," but Heinie Berger pulled a forward pass out of the clouds and the day was saved.

As it happens the Friars met the Panhandles here last year and defeated them by the same score when Skeets Lambert drop-kicked the pill over. This year Al Feeney did the work and it was a good one, too.

The field was slightly damp and muddy and fast running seemed almost out of the question when things started yesterday and the kicking game was favorite all the way through. Attempts at place kicks and drop kicks were numerous by both sides and punting came in for a big place. Here's where Cap Edwards had some luck. It may have been scientifically planned but it looked a great deal as if luck were with the Friars for once. Cap was doing the punting and nearly every kick rolled to up within the visitors' twenty yard line and then the ball would stop dead.

The Friars had everything their own way in the first three quarters and, although they failed to put over a touchdown they were within striking distance nearly all of the time. Much running with the ball was out of the question because of the mud, and an attempt to wade through that line of the visitors was like flirting with destruction. It was foolish. In the second quarter things did look mighty bright for a while and the ball was right up under the Panhandle goal. Here the line tightened and line bucks resulted in losses.

Then our hero steps back and with a look of unconcern lets his toe connect with the oval and the score was 3 to 0. It was a great kick and considering that it had to be done quickly because of the opposing line Al deserves a lot of credit for the work.

Great Kickoff.

On the kickoff Frank Nesser kicked the pigskin back against the south grandstand. The remainder of the half was taken up with punts and one attempt to drop kick by the Panhandles. Ambrose was sent in for Checkeye, who were himself out trying to buck the heavyweights off the field. Coony had the ambition to do, but lacked a little of the necessary weight. He played a hard game, the same as he has all season whenever he was put in and has shown himself to be one of the scrappiest littie players in the game.

The Friars kicked off at the opening of the second half and the Panhandles made one first down. Then the kicking started again and after several punts and an attempt at a drop kick by Ambrose the ball was on the visitors' twenty yard line. Now for the feature. Frank Nesser made a punt which was long and high. His ends were down under it and two of them were in tackling distance of Ambrose when he received the ball, but in some unknown way that speedy little quarter got away and made forty yards right down the east side line in nothing flat. It was about the cleverest bit of running ever seen around these parts. And then the whistle blew for the end of the quarter.

That last quarter was about the best scare that's been thrown into camp this season. The visitors started a drive that looked as if it would never end until the ball was about five yards over the goal line. But Heinie Berger steps in and intercepts a forward pass and things look bright again. Then the Friars line up for the play and the ball goes to Heinie. Talk about a scare. Berger muffed the pill right in a gang of Panhandlers with nobody between them and the ball. One thing saved the day. Hunter, the eagle-eyed end, saw the ball fly and was after it like a shot, and believe us, he got it.

The remainder of the game consisted of punts and line bucks, which failed to gain and Deac Jones made the last play of the season by a tackle which was a darb.

A good-sized honor roll could be made up this year of the men who have worked hard for the Friar team, and it has certainly been a great year for the game. Every man who played yesterday and those who were on the bench would be included in the gang of faithfuls.

The line-ups and scoring yesterday:

Students Meet Bluffton High at James Smart Gym Tonight.

The high school basketball team is ready and waiting for the clash with Bluffton high tonight. The Bluffton team is one of the fastest school aggregations in the northern part of the state and a good game is predicted. Coach Wright of Fort Wayne high insists, however, that his charges are equal to the work ahead and will come out with a win.

The probable line-up which will start the game is as follows: Captain Kendricks and Dannecker, forwards; Berghoff, center; Lindemuth and Barnett, guards. The subs are: Wilkens, forward and center; Figel, guard, and Wooding, forward. In spite of the fact that Fort Wayne is generally supposed to have a small and light team, the bunch which now compose the squad is far from diminutive. All of the fellows are at least average size for high school athletes and Berghoff is as large as most college players. This big center is a good jumper, too, and when he leaves his feet can jump to a level with the baskets. His main trouble is that he doesn't jump enough.

Coach Wright will not be present when the game is played this evening, having gone out of town, and the team will be in charge of Professor Northrop. He has quite a "rep" as an athletic director and may continue as assistant coach of the team. Professor Ritter will officiate as referee.

In Russia there are enough people to populate Great Britain, Germany and France, with a considerable number left over.

RAISE YOUR BOY AN ATHLETE!

(This is the first of two articles in which Mrs. Theresa Maglione, mother of an Ohio lightweight boxer, tells why she believes every mother should interest herself in her boy's athletic activities.—Editor.)

BY PAUL PURMAN.

"I wouldn't advise any mother to raise her boy to be a pugilist, because I know the prejudice there is against boxing as a profession. But I do advise mothers to raise their sons to be boxers, to be athletes and to live in the outdoors."

This is a part of the advice given by Mrs. Theresa Maglione, mother of "Chick" Maglione, 18, and one of the most promising young lightweights of the country.

"It is a great relief to a mother's mind to know her boy is athletic, to know he prefers exercises and outdoor activities to many harmful things boys of his age are likely to learn.

"I know 'Chick' is healthy, that he is strong and rugged, that he has developed will power and when he has finished with the ring he will be prepared to go out and fight the battle of life. That is why I never worry about him in the ring.

"And I also know, something too many mothers do not know, where by boy is at night. I know he is not dissipating, that he is not learning things which will be harmful to his physical and moral development."

The average American mother has decided ideas about the ring and its influences both from the standpoint of the boxer and the spectator. She probably knows little about the home life of modern boxers.

What she does not know is that the day of the roughneck in boxing, as in baseball, is passing, that there are professional boxers who spend their spare time in reading, studying, in business and some are even going to college.

For the benefit of the average mother, a few words about the Maglione home:

It's a pretty two-story cottage in one of the best residence districts of Akron, spick and span throughout. (Mrs. Maglione is not afraid to have visitors in her kitchen or back yard.) Well selected books fill the cases and the furniture and furnishings show excellent selection.

There are six children in the family, two older than "Chick" and three younger. All show results of careful home training.

"I always have looked out for my children's welfare," the mother said proudly. "I have to see that they get proper food and take proper exercise. We have little sickness in our family.

"Of course since 'Chick' has taken up boxing he has received special attention. I suppose you might say that I direct his training.

"Every morning he gets up at 6 o'clock and runs several miles. When he comes back he gets a shower and a rub down and is ready for breakfast.

"My children get lots of fruit and milk, roast and broiled meats and good vegetables. I do not believe boys and girls should eat much pork, fried meats or potatoes. There are only two things for them to drink, water and milk.

"'Chick' goes to bed early; he is seldom up after 9:30. Boys of his age, whether they are athletes or not, should be in bed early.

"More eastern scalps" is the war cry.

A movement is in the beginning to size up champions of the west with champions of the east and let the best men win. The idea that the east is in any way supreme in athletics is to be broken down if men interested in sports out this way succeed in their plans.

Particularly is the University of California forging ahead in a general campaign to build up one of the strongest sport machines in the country. Ranking second in point of attendance among the universities of the United States, California has a wonderful lot of fit man material to aid her in dream of conquest.

In times past she has taken a goodly share of honors in competitions with eastern cracks. For the future she is developing a regiment of "super athletes," which she will put forward as hardy foes of all champions, no matter where they happen to be champing.

This includes all phases of university sports—football, baseball, basketball, track and field events, rowing and the like. The west doesn't intend to be bashful when it comes time for invading.

"We have the best athletic material in the world right here on the Pacific," declares Graduate Manager John Stroud of California. "In intercollegiate track events we have taught eastern men to respect us. It is our serious plan to build up such a general, effective sports machine that they will not only respect us, but fear us.

"Right now we aren't doing much in football, but when our men grasp the fine points of the American game, we'll take our chances with the best of them."

JOHN STROUD, Athletic Manager.

CARL SUEDHOFF IS THROUGH MANAGING

Carl Suedhoff, president of the Friar club and manager for the football team, announced last night that he was through for all time to come with the latter job. This was the sixth year for Friar football in this city and the third for Suedhoff as manager. He claims that three years of it is enough to make anyone's hair turn gray.

Much credit is due Suedhoff for the most successful season which the Friars have had yet. With the exception of the opening game everyone has been worth seeing and the thanks go to the manager.

He managed the second Friar football team, that of 1911, while he was still in his teens and did a good job of it. Two years later he managed the team and then again this year. There is no doubt that Friars are sorry to hear of "Swede's" decision, but they realize that it is a job and that he has worked very hard at it and deserves a rest.

MACOMBER AND KING STAR FOR VILLAGERS

Indianapolis, Dec. 1.—Pine Village football team defeated the Cincinnati Celts 23 to 3 here Thursday afternoon. Both teams are composed largely of former college stars. The Celts made their score early in the first period, after recovering the ball on a fumble while within striking distance of the Pine Village goal. King, former Harvard fullback, and Macomber, who completed his college career with Illinois last Saturday, were stars for the Pine Village team.

HAMMOND WINNER WITHOUT BLOCKER

Hammond, Ind., Dec. 1.—The Jimmy Clabby football team of Hammond defeated the Harvards of Detroit, 20 to 0, Thursday and cleared the way for the professional championship fray with the Cincinnati Celts at this city next Sunday. Galvin, former Wisconsin university and all-western star, shared chief honors with Talbot of South Dakota and Sellegar of Purdue for the Clabbys.

Hammond scored in the second, third and fourth periods on straight football. The Harvards completed long forward passes, but were prevented from scoring. Captain Frank Blocker of the Clabbys, last year captain of Purdue and an all-western tackle, was on the bench, but will lead his club Sunday. Line-up:

Hammond (20).		Detroit (0).

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

Body is Found Under Debris of Machine He Had Worked on for Months.

Berne, Ind., Dec. 1.—Paul Rohrer, nineteen-year-old aviator, was instantly killed here late yesterday afternoon when he lost control of the engine of his monoplane, which he had built himself, and fell to the ground, a distance of fifty feet. The body was found under the debris of the machine, his head being crushed against the frozen ground.

The accident was witnessed by almost the entire population of Berne. It was generally known that on Thanksgiving day he would make his first attempt to fly in the machine he had been working on for months. He had been in the air for only a few minutes when the catastrophe occurred, the machine falling in a cornfield on the farm of John Ehebers. The monoplane is almost a total wreck.

Rohrer had made other flights, but not in his own machine. While visiting in Chicago some time ago the young man had spent the greater part of the time on the aviation field, and had gone up several times with various Chicago aviators. The boy was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rohrer, the father being former editor of the Berne Witness.

TWO GIRLS SHOT.

Van Wert, Ohio, Dec. 1.—Margaret Morris, 16 years old, and her sister, Gwendyla, 18, were shot by a rabbit hunter while returning to their home at Vendocia, near here, late yesterday afternoon, when the automobile in which the girls were riding with Elliott Morris, their brother, and Albert Uhl, hit and killed a hunting dog.

Wilbur Hiller and Sam Hiller, brothers, were arrested on a charge of attempting to kill. Wilbur Hiller is said to have fired two charges of buckshot at the passing automobile, the girls in the rear seat being hit.

STROH BOY INJURED.

Lowell Rinehart Loses Finger as Result of Hunting Accident.

Stroh, Ind., Dec. 1.—Lowell Rinehart, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Rinehart, of this place, was painfully injured here yesterday afternoon as the result of a hunting accident, two fingers and a thumb being shot off. The accident was caused when the boy caught the trigger of the gun against the bark of the tree, causing it to go off. The lad was injured about the face. The accident occurred about two miles south of here.

NEW MANAGER NAMED.

Warsaw, Ind., Dec. 1.—J. C. Schade, who has been assistant secretary and treasurer, has been named general manager of the Winona Interurban Railway company, the appointment being made by C. J. Munton, of Kendallville, receiver for the road. Mr. Schade will succeed W. D. Frazer, who has acted as vice president and general manager for the past five years. He will be retained as counsel for the receiver. C. F. Franklin has resigned as superintendent of the road, effective January 1. His successor has not been named. H. O. Weimer will continue as auditor. The changes have been made in the interest of economy and for the purpose of reducing the operating expenses. The road operates between Goshen and Peru. H. J. Heinz, the famous pickle manufacturer, is the principal stockholder. J. M. Studebaker is also interested in the road.

YOUTHFUL ROBBER CONFESSES.

Huntington, Ind., Dec. 1.—Jack Lewis, who confessed that he had taken part in the robbery of the Young saloon and the Perfect Wholesale house, Sunday afternoon, has told Huntington officials that his home was in Pittsburg, Pa., in contradiction of his former story that he lived in Los Angeles, Cal., and that he had known the other two thieves but two or three days and thought that they had lived in Akron, O. The authorities will try to get a written confession out of Lewis and also try to write to his parents as well as locate the escaped robbers in Akron.

MEDICINE POISONS CHILD.

Portland, Ind., Dec. 1.—Lena May Hunt, aged two years and only child of Mr. and Mrs. William Hunt, West Main street, had a narrow escape from death Wednesday noon as a result of poisoning from eating medicine. Mrs. Hunt, who had been suffering with her head, secured some tablets from a physician to give her relief. The tablets were left on a table and while the mother was absent from the room the little girl ate several of them. She became seriously ill and lay in spasms for several minutes. Two physicians worked over her for some time before she rallied. Later in the afternoon the baby was better, but not entirely out of danger.

ISSUE 103 HUNTING LICENSES.

Huntington, Ind., Dec. 1.—All records for hunting licenses for the last two years were broken in the county clerk's office when 103 licenses were issued. Two years ago 127 licenses were taken out the day before Thanksgiving, which always sees a rush of nimrods to the country for a day's sport. The applications were heavy for several days. Thirty-one licenses were issued Monday the same number and Tuesday forty-two. The ideal hunting weather brought more than the usual number of hunters out for Thursday's annual trek to the country.

PREPAREDNESS
How It Helps Coughs and Colds

Buy your bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar now, and quickly stop the coughs and colds of early fall.

It aggravates the distressing cough of weak lungs, and the chronic coughs of elderly people.

It gives "snuffles" to infants and children and provokes adenoids and sore inflamed throats.

Give Foley's Honey and Tar freely. It is so soothing and curative, relieves hoarseness and puts a healing coating on the inflamed mucous lining of the throat. It stops coughing easily and quickly and relieves croup before this dreaded thing has a chance to really harm the children or scare the parents. The last dose is just as good as the first, and a less amount is needed than of any other cough syrup.

So see to it that you get only the original FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR, for it is the only genuine, and contains no opiates.

Now You See Her and Now You Don't—Woman Dodges Cops in Trap-Door House.

Figures indicate: 1, garret, showing entrance through trunk with false bottom; 2, secret room between walls, with ladder to garret; 3, entrance to secret room; 4, trap door leading to space between floors; 5, secret room between floors; 6, secret door through wall; 7, secret room with panel entrance; 8, trap door to basement; 9, panel entrance to secret room under stairs; 10, trap door, exit from basement; 11, basement; 12, box covering slide, exit from basement.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 29.—Hanlon's "Superba" was recalled by Cleveland policemen when they chased a woman into a house, discovered she wasn't there, and then found scores of trap doors, false floors, sliding panels and secret passageways, the existence of which has not yet been explained.

"Say, Dan, this beats me!" Detective Smetana said to Capt. Dan Stanton, as they stood in an empty room into which they had just pursued a woman after she had held them at bay an instant with a pistol.

They walked about the room puzzled. Stanton tapped on a wall. He tapped a little to the right; then a little to the left. A hollow "tunk" repaid him.

He pushed on the wall—and a hidden door opened into a dark passage. They followed this passage. They emerged outdoors—in a drygoods box. After two hours' search they discovered the woman, hiding in a secret cubbyhole under a staircase.

AVOID MEAT, AND SAVE SAYS LONDON

London, Dec. 1.—A million pounds or $5,000,000 could be saved in a fortnight if everyone would agree to go without meat on one day each week, says the newest appeal to the public to cut down their meat consumption made by the national war savings committee. Last September a board of trade committee, making a similar appeal for economy, urged the public to agree to one meatless day each week, but apparently it has fallen on deaf ears.

At present high prices the civilian population of this country now eats about 500,000 pounds worth of meat every day, according to figures compiled by the war savings committee which finds that this is due to the habit of eating meat—beef, mutton, pork or bacon—two or three times a day.

"Excessive meat eating is a bad habit," adds the committee. "Nothing so radical as going without meat of any kind for a whole day is needed. People who eat meat twice a day should cut down the meat eaten, taking more fish, dried beans, peas, etc., and cheese, and those who eat fish and several kinds of meat at lunch and dinner should have only fish or one variety of meat."

Those not engaged in physical toil are especially urged to cut down their consumption of meat.

Besides the beneficial effects to the health, the appeal reasons that the demands upon shipping would be lessened, the supplies could be more evenly distributed, and a further increase in prices could be avoided.

Stomach Troubles.

Persons who have stomach trouble are apt to become discouraged. They will see by the following that their chances of recovery are excellent. A. K. Williams, Independence, Va., tells of a remarkable cure that was effected in that vicinity. One of his customers was so badly afflicted with stomach trouble that he was sent to a hospital, but received little benefit and came home to die. Mr. Williams suggested that he try Chamberlain's Tablets which he did, and today he is a well man and weighs 175 pounds. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

MAY BAR POSSIBILITY OF FOREIGN PRINCES

The Hague, Netherlands, Nov. 15.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Only two lives, those of the reigning queen and of her 7-year-old daughter, Princess Juliana, bar the way in the natural order of things to the accession to the throne of the Netherlands of a German prince. It is true that, so far as health and age are concerned, those lives may be described as "first-class," but the potential slenderness of the thread was illustrated not long ago in The Hague woods, where the royal automobile carrying Queen Wilhelmina and the little princess was the victim of a collision that might under less fortunate circumstances have cost the lives of both.

This question of the succession gave Dutchmen some concern before the war, and much more now. Several well known public men have drawn public attention to the matter in the last few days, and what looks like a strong agitation, enjoying widespread sympathy, has been started for a revision of the constitution declaring null and void all potential rights of succession of foreign princes, leaving the choice of a new sovereign, in such an unhoped-for and unexpected circumstance as the failure of all direct heirs to the throne, entirely to the states general or parliament of the country. For every Dutchman, practically without exception, whatever be his sympathies in the present war, would regard the accession of a German prince as a calamity, threatening the so dearly-cherished independence of the nation.

In the House of Orange, Holland is blessed with a dynasty bound to Holland and Holland alone by such strong ties that no one at home or abroad would dream of suggesting that the council chambers of teh crown are accessible to other than purely Dutch interests. But if that house were left without living issue, the next claimants to the throne would be found among the collateral princely houses of Saxe-Weimar and Reuss-Kostritz, followed or accompanied by those of Saxe-Mainingen, Hohenzollern, another branch of Reuss-Kostritz, Schleswig-Holstein, Norway, Saheumburg-Lippe, Sweden and Wied—one and all equally foreign to the Netherlands.

Prof. J. A. Van Hamel, a distinguished authority on law, declares in the Amsterdammer: "This game of interests with German royal relations on foreign thrones must teach us that small powers should beware if they do not desire to see, in their highest government circles, foreign aims that might be pernicious to them put in place of their national interests.

Bronchitis.

When a severe cold settles on the lungs it is called bronchitis. There is danger of its leading to broncho pneumonia, and for this reason it is always best to go to bed and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as directed until well along towards recovery. Mrs. Charles E. Woodard, Sandy Creek, N. Y., writes: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured me of bronchitis last fall. When I began using it I was so hoarse at times that it was difficult for me to speak above a whisper. I resorted to the use of this valuable medicine and found it very soothing and healing. In a week's time I was well." Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

Women so often feel that it is economy to do without labor-saving equipment that they try to save the small price of a Hoosier. When a few dollars thus invested will systemize kitchen work so that it can be done easily and in half the time.

Space for 400 Articles Within Arm's Reach

A Centralized Storehouse Special Christmas Terms

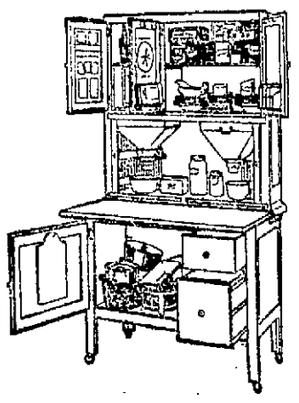
There are no useless little partitions to chop up the space and leave no room for work. Your cabinet must have big table space to work on. The Hoosier gives it.



1115 Hoosier Cabinets have been put out through this store alone. There are over 1,000,000 in the United States. Only an enormous factory output makes possible the low prices which range from $14.00 to $43.50.

Until Christmas we are offering special terms. One dollar will deliver any cabinet. The balance may be paid at the rate of $1.00 a week, without extra cost or interest.

Come and see these six exclusive Hoosier features:

2—The gear-driven shaker flour sifter which makes flour light and fluffy.

3—Scientific arrangement — articles needed most frequently easiest reached.

4—Revolving caster (shown in center of illustration).

5—The ingenious, big-capacity sugar bin—holds more than twice as much as other bins.

Delightful to Work At the Hoosier

You will find it delightful to sit down at the Hoosier and do your cooking comfortably. It will help you get good meals quickly. It will help you tidy up in just a few moments after meals.

The Hoosier saves countless trips to the cellar, to the sink, pantry and cupboard, and regardless of the size of space of your kitchen you will find a Hoosier model that fits it, at the price you can easily afford.

Have a demonstration. At least come and see the Hoosier and its exclusive work-saving features. No obligation incurred if you don't want to buy now. But at least learn why over a million women can't do without a Hoosier.

ROOSEVELT TELLS WHY HUGHES LOST

Colonel Cites Long List of Cause for Republican Defeat.

New York, Dec. 1. Col. Theodore Roosevelt gives his post-mortem of the results of the balloting on Nov. 7 in the Christmas issue of the Metropolitan Magazine, out today, in an article entitled "The Election."

In holding "he kept us out of war" cry and the wide prosperity of the nation the decisive factors in the democratic victory, the colonel does not charge the citizenry with "moral obtuseness" but excuses the millions who voted for the president on the ground that they were not shown "in convincing fashion" where their duty lay.

But that part most likely to arouse in republican leaders the liveliest feelings is: "When a public man who for three years praised each of Mr. Wilson's acts separately turned round and during the campaign condemned them all collectively he did not carry conviction."

Wilson Made Right Appeal.

"As in all such cases," Col. Roosevelt said, "the result is more easy to explain than it had been to foretell. The appeal made for Mr. Wilson was one which would tell very strongly with good, honest citizens, whose preoccupation with their own pursuits was such that they would not be expected to look deeply into our international relations and the general world conditions.

"No sensible man wishes to go to war if he can honorably keep out of it; and when to this natural inclination is added the fact that the man is very busy and is puzzled by the issues involved, he is certain to cast his vote on the side that he is told will guarantee peace.

"Evidently, people tend to look at the dreadful crimes committed in Belgium and Armenia, in the sinking of the Lusitania, and in Mexico, as analogous to disasters such as an earthquake or a fire; as properly exciting a discreet sympathy, but not as calling for any action that would jeopardize the comfort and well being of those not immediately concerned.

Tend to Chinese Level.

"I do not approve of this attitude. I am merely stating it. In so far as our people permanently preserve it they will steadily tend to the Chinese level. It may need a serious shock to wake them from it. Yet I am sure it is possible to wake them, and that when thoroughly aroused they have the further possibility of showing the great qualities of the men and women of the revolution and of the civil war.

"We have permitted our politicians, our candidates for public office, to treat the promises made in party platforms and on the stump with a cynical indifference which now reflects itself in a similar indifference on the part of the voters.

"When public men are readily pardoned for making any promise which they think will secure favor before election and for repudiating any promise which they think it inconvenient to keep after election, it is impossible to expect that the voters will not finally grow skeptical about all promises, prophecies, and statements made during the course of a campaign.

Adamson Law Great Help.

"In addition to these counterclaims there was the fact that the Adamson bill unquestionably produced a great effect in Mr. Wilson's favor in all labor circles. It was taken as an indication that in any conflict between capital and labor Mr. Wilson would support labor, without an overnice scrutiny of the merits of the case or of the future effects of his action.

"Moreover, there was a real blurring of the issues, because for the first three years of Mr. Wilson's term the leaders among his nominal party opponents either feared to criticise him at all or else split, half of them assailing him because on some given policy he had gone too far and the other half because he had not gone far enough.

"We who supported Mr. Hughes will always be glad that we supported him. We believe that his triumph and the national welfare were closely interwoven. We now, for the sake of the nation, earnestly hope Mr. Wilson will meet with every success in the task ahead of him."
